VALENTI SANITY JURY STILL OUT

Trial of Baby Slayer Falls of Quick Verdict

Six Hours of Debate Leaves Fate in Doubt

Woman Stands Convicted of Murdering Child

More than six hours' deliberation yesterday by a jury in Superior Judge McComb's court failed dio bring a verdict on the question of the sanity of Mrs. Josephine Valenti, 19-year-old wife convicted last week of first-degree murder in connection with the burning to death July 4, last, of her 6-months-old son Dominick.

The jury retired at 11 a.m., but up to the hour for taking recess at 5 p.m. the court remained unadvised as to how the jurors stood on the question of Mrs. Valenti's sanity. Judge McComb arranged to have the jurors return after dinner to resume their deliberations.

Mrs. Valenti was convicted of the first-degree murder charge on Friday and twenty minutes after the jury retired. The verdict upon which she was committed by a recommendation for life imprisonment.

Deputies Attorneys William Ghidotti and William Cox had asked for a separate trial on the additional plea of not guilty by reason of insanity. A number of witnesses were called as witnesses and their opinion was about equally divided on the question of the woman's sanity.

If found sane Mrs. Valenti will face a life sentence in San Quentin; if insane she will be committed to one of the State asylums.

Mrs. Valenti is asserted to have set fire to her baby's carriage in the rear seat of the vehicle in the yard of the Valenti home at 1221 Hamilton street. The State contends she did so just to get rid of the child.

At her sanity hearing Mrs. Valenti testified that she had undergone an operation and often had suffered "dizzy spells," during which periods she frequently did things without reason, and of which she could not later remember. She was corroborated in this respect by her husband, Salvatore Valenti.

Dep. Dist.-Attys. Fredericks and Dunlavy prosecuted the case.

Walnut Group Rejects Teague Offer to Resign

C. C. Teague's fellow-directors of the California Walnut Growers Association yesterday refused to accept his resignation as president of the organization and chairman of the board, offered because Herbert Hoover has drafted him to the Federal Farm Board. At a special meeting in the offices of the association, 1765 East Seventh street, Mr. Teague's resignation was rejected and declined.

A. J. McFadden, vice-president of the board, who presided, will serve as chairman of the board during the absence of Mr. Teague's duties as the chairman completes his term with the Farm Board. When Mr. Teague yielded to President Hoover's request he stipulated that he will serve for one year only, that the work of the Farm Board is now established.

Schoolgirl Seized With Red Handbills

Charged with distributing literature of Communistic nature, Jean Brooks, 14-year-old student of 2697 Sheridan street, was arrested at her home yesterday by Policewoman Buttz of the crime prevention bureau and was being held overnight at Juvenile Hall on a delinquency charge.

The arrest of the young miss came about when police of Lincoln Heights Division charged that she was distributing handbills among children in the vicinity of her home. These bills, police said, were issued by the Young Communist League of the United States and contained an invitation to young workers people to join a demonstration to be held at the Plaza against what it was asserted as "imperialist war."

Accused Slayer Enters Plea to Charge Tuesday

Joseph B. McCarthy, accused of the murder of Edward J. Powell, 35-year-old barber, was arraigned before Superior Judge Allen yesterday. The court fixed Tuesday as the date for the defendant to enter his plea.

It is charged that McCarthy, who operated a cigar stand in Powell's barber shop at 3734 Whittier boulevard, shot Powell in the abdomen four times as the climax to a quarrel. Arresting officers assert that McCarthy admitted the shooting, declaring that Powell had ridiculed him before his customers and made him beyond human endurance.

Funster's Wife Seeks Divorce

Nell Guard, wife of Ed Guard, film comedian, yesterday filed a complaint for divorce, which contained charges that Guard's treatment of his wife was not at all comic.

Mrs. Guard asserts her husband became intoxicated, and struck her and put her out of her home. The couple were married October 1, 1924, and separated October 1, 1928.

TRAFFIC CHECK MADE

The Police Commission yesterday notified the City Council that a traffic check is being made at the intersection of Selma avenue and Wilcox avenue, Cahuenga pass, and Vine street, and if the movement of vehicles justifies it new locations will be placed on the list of traffic signals.

Shearer Charges Evoke Tirade

President Denounces Scheme of Propaganda Revealed in Lobbyist's Suit

Washington Electrified by Revelation of Asserted Antipeace Activity

By LAWRENCE N. BENEDICT
Times Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6. (Exclusive)—With a flash of steel in his eyes and a fighting slant to his jaw, President Hoover, at today's White House conference, vigorously assailed W. B. Shearer and three shipbuilding corporations which Shearer charged in a suit recently filed in New York have been using his security to carry on propaganda in this country and for increased naval armaments.

Strongly aroused over the assertions of selfish interests against his efforts for world peace and indications the President is said to hold terms his determination to cut the country of such activities and announced that he had directed the Department of Justice to consider possible action.

Hoover said he could not believe that the directors of the shipbuilding corporations involved could have any part of the undercover work and activities asserted by Shearer, but declared that it is up to them to make an explanation to the country. All three shipbuilding corporations—the largest in the world—are enjoying government contracts. They are the Bethlehem Shipbuilding Corporation, which built the Lexington and only recently launched the new Northampton; the Newport News Shipbuilding Company, which will send the Houston down the ways today, and the American Brown Boveri Corporation, builder of the

PEACE BANK SELECTED

Morgan's House Geneva Choice

Reparations Depository Also Would Finance Powers Periled by War

Root Protocol Soon Will Go to President Hoover for Signing

[Copyright, 1929, by the Chicago Tribune]

GENEVA, Sept. 6. (Exclusive)—The Young proposed international bank for reparations payments will enter the political world as well as the financial field if it is created.

J. P. Morgan's projected superbank will be the institution the League of Nations will refer to for financing with huge international loans any nation forced into war by a wanton aggressor or even threatened with war.

The powers' international bank, with ramifications and connections extending throughout the world's money market and controlling the world's gold reserves, will possess the last word in stating to what countries fiscal aid will be given in case of national emergencies and what states it will help financially in case of another armed crisis.

This is what precipitated the series of speeches by the delegates of various countries before the League of Nations Assembly this week, all urging the necessity for receiving material help in the form of cash loans in case hostilities are threatened.

BRITAIN INDORSES PLAN

Arthur Henderson, the Labor government's Foreign Secretary, today added Great Britain's indorsement to the scheme, referring to the speech of Paul Hymans, Belgian Finance Minister, who demanded assurances of financial aid.

"We wholeheartedly agree with the view that Mr. Hymans put forward for need of a treaty for financial assistance as a powerful instrument in the hands of the League Council for restraining any state contemplating criminal recourse to war," said Mr. Henderson.

"We hope the Assembly committee, aided by technical experts, will be able to turn the existing draft of a treaty into a general convention open to the signature of members of the League and nonmembers."

The danger of the United States becoming involved in European disputes over financial aid to belligerents or prospective belligerents is what induced Washington to announce that the Federal Reserve Bank would not accept a membership in the superbank when the Young commission announced its establishment, it is learned.

Washington was aware of the League's preparations for aiding war-threatened powers financially and the Young commission dele-

SINCLAIR'S HOPES FROSTED

Trial Justice and Prosecutor Oppose Leniency; Oil Man's Plea May Not Reach Hoover

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6. (Exclusive)—Harry F. Sinclair's appeal for commutation of the sentence imposed on him for contempt of court will be denied, it was indicated today. The oil millionaire, who had already served a three months' sentence for contempt of the Senate, still has nearly ten weeks of a six-month term for contempt of court before him.

Current reports are that Justice Siddons of the District Supreme Court, who presided over Sinclair's trial for contempt based on an asserted attempt to "fix" the Teapot Dome conspiracy case jury, and Justice Gordon, who, as United States Attorney prosecuted the oil man, have both disapproved the plea for commutation.

In addition it is reported that James A. Finch, assistant Attorney-General in charge of pardons, has recommended to Atty.-Gen. Mitchell that the application be denied and it is possible, it is said, that the appeal will not even be submitted to President Hoover.

Similar recommendations have been made by Justice Siddons and Mr. Finch on the plea of Henry M. Day, Sinclair's aide, who, as a result of his part in the jury tampering scandal, also was convicted of contempt of court and sentenced to jail with his employer.

Day at the instance of Sinclair, it was charged, retained the Burns Detective Agency to shadow members of the jury impaneled to try Sinclair on the conspiracy charge. The asserted plot was disclosed by a talkative juror and the indictment of Sinclair and Day, with a number of others, including William J. Burns, head of the detective agency, followed.

GAZA FIGHT NOW DENIED BY BRITISH

[Copyright, 1929, by Chicago Tribune.]

LONDON, Sept. 6. (Exclusive)—An official statement from Colonial Offices here tonight runs as follows:

"The situation in Palestine is reported to be quiet in all districts. Our forces are actively employed in searching for hidden arms and in apprehending suspected persons. In the Safed and Haifa districts the Jewish colonies are being reoccupied. There is no confirmation of unofficial reports to the effect that an engagement has taken place at Gaza, wherein the British forces are said to have been in action against Bedouins from the Sinai Peninsula and to have suffered heavy losses. On the contrary, official reports from this same area indicate that all is quiet."

WAILING WALL MASKED WITH STONE BY ARABS

JERUSALEM, Sept. 6. (AP)—Apprehensions of new Arab attack after the Friday prayers in the Mosque of Omar here proved as groundless today as a week ago. Jerusalem was quiet throughout the day, few villagers and still fewer Arabs of the city attending the mosque. Troops with machine guns were posted at the Jaffa and Damascus gates, but their services were not required.

The Jewish Telegraphic Agency reported today that the Arabs continued their construction on the Wailing Wall, which has been strenuously opposed by the Jews. Six tiers of stone were said to have been added on the right of the wall. The agency also reported that colonists in the Gan Chaim orange grove, owned by an American-Jewish company, had decided to remain there, although the district officers had advised them it was impossible to guarantee their security.

San Juan Dead Should Rise to Surface Soon

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 6 (Exclusive)—Advices to Coast Guard headquarters today from the cutters McLane and Smith were that bodies and wreckage of the sunken San Juan should be appearing on the surface of the Pacific within the next forty-eight hours.

The cutters are cruising in a wide area centering about 120 miles south of the scene of the San Juan-S. C. T. Dodd collision off Pigeon Point. Recoveries are expected there because of the drift of ocean waters.

SYNDICATE PLANS HUGE HOTEL HERE

Ritz-Carlton Executive Announces Plan to Build Los Angeles Hostelry

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 6. (Exclusive)—The Ritz-Carlton Hotel Syndicate, which several times was reported as about to close negotiations for the purchase of the Hotel St. Francis, soon will enter the California territory by buying or erecting a large hotel in Los Angeles.

Plans to this end were admitted today by George McAneny, president of the Ritz-Carlton system, upon his arrival from New York. With his brother, L. G. McAneny, he will depart tomorrow for Del Monte and Los Angeles.

"I am eager to extend our chain to California," said McAneny, "and I hope some day to have a hotel in San Francisco. The Pacific Coast has a golden future before it and the hotel men who are entrenched here are going to share in that future.

"Our Los Angeles plans are pretty well worked out but I do not wish to make a definite statement as to location and extent of the enterprise until I get to that city and personally look over the situation. Suffice it to say if nothing ulterior develops we will have a hotel on the type of our other first-class hostelries in California in the near future."

PAIR KILLED JUST AS THEIR "SHIP COMES IN"

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 6. (AP)—The bodies of Robert Sawyer, 58 years of age, and his wife Edith, 45, were found in their apartment here today. The couple, who had just inherited a large sum of money and planned after a life of hard work to "take things easy," are believed to have been the victims of fumes from a water heater.

OAKLAND, Sept. 6. (AP)—Miss Helen Wills, international tennis queen, successfully underwent an operation for removal of her tonsils at a hospital here today.

INTUITION PUTS ON PANTS

One-Time Beskirted Feminine Prerogative Now Aids Big Business Men, Says Psychologist

NEW HAVEN (Ct.) Sept. 6. (AP)—Intuition, once considered a feminine prerogative, is listed as part of the success of big business executives by Henry Binns, psychologist, of Bradford, Eng.

He has been studying the psychology of industry in the British textile business for several years and reported his conclusions to the International Congress of Psychology at Yale University today.

DEFINITION GIVEN

There is no deep mystery about intuition as he finds it. His definition is that it arises "out of subconscious memory in which is stored a much wider experience than that covered by the actual facts under review."

Other qualities considered by Mr. Binns as essential for industrial leadership are: Capacity, natural and acquired, for dealing with a new situation; specific ability to concentrate on and co-ordinate numerous complex factors quickly in one decision; knowledge, confidence, impartiality and stability. The latter is good health combined with freedom from anxiety and from depressing emotions.

SAFETY FIRST

Methods whereby the psychologist is promoting safety first were described by W. V. Bingham, the Personnel Research Federation, New York.

In a city which he did not name, street-car motormen were studied from an unusual angle, "proneness to accidents." The psychologists

LINDBERGHS FLY WEST

He'll Aid Search in Arizona

Pair Stop in St. Louis for Night on Way to Hunt Missing Airliner

Fastest Cross-country Ship Winging Pilot and Wife Out for Search

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 6. (AP)—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, en route to Winslow, Ariz., to aid in the search for the missing Transcontinental Air Transport's air liner City of San Francisco, landed at Lambert-St. Louis Field at 7:55 o'clock tonight. He planned to stop overnight and take off at dawn tomorrow. His flying time from New York was six hours and forty-five minutes.

Col. Lindbergh was accompanied by Mrs. Lindbergh. Commenting on the search for the missing plane, he said:

"Everything is being done that possibly can be. We're going down there to offer any aid they may want."

He added he expects to take his plane with the other flyers seeking the ship.

The field was enveloped in fog when Col. Lindbergh landed and he circled thre times before he brought to earth the Lockheed-Vega plane, which carried Capt. Frank Hawks to new transcontinental records recently.

Officials from the general offices of the T.A.T. were at the field to greet him. The Lindberghs were expected to be guests of Maj. William B. Robertson, one of his trans-Atlantic flight backers, over night.

PAIR TAKE OFF FROM ROOSEVELT FIELD

ROOSEVELT FIELD (N. Y.) Sept. 6. (AP)—In the fastest plane that ever flew nonstop from coast to coast, Col. Charles A. Lindbergh took off today to lend his aid in the search for seven men and a woman who disappeared last Tuesday in a plane of the Transcontinental Air Transport.

In the mechanic's seat was Mrs. Lindbergh, daughter of the American Ambassador to Mexico, who has shared in the flying colonel's exploits in the air ever since their marriage.

Climbing into the speed plane, with parachutes strapped in place, the Lindberghs shot into the air at 3:05 p.m., banked steeply and streaked off into the west.

The plane the colonel flew was borrowed from Capt. Frank Hawks, holder of the nonstop transcontinental record in both directions.

Col. Lindbergh knows the country well in which the search for the missing plane, which disappeared last Tuesday, is being conducted, and his presence was expected to be of the greatest assistance. Col. Lindbergh is technical adviser of the T.A.T. and he was in charge of selecting the route across the country.

He himself piloted the first passenger-carrying planes over that part of the system where the plane disappeared. On July 8 he piloted the first eastbound plane from Los Angeles to Albuquerque and the next day the first westbound plane from Albuquerque to Los Angeles.

He had much to do with selection and preparation of emergency landing fields along the route, such as the one at Waliji, about twenty-five miles from the place were the four men were reported seen in the desert today.

Shortly before it was learned that Col. Lindbergh was planning to borrow a fast plane to join the search the New York office of T.A.T. announced that Mr. and Mrs. George Canfield had offered a $5000 reward to anyone finding their son Maynard. Maynard Canfield was graduated from Harvard last year and since the Transcontinental plane-train service has been in operation

Will Rogers Remarks:

BEVERLY HILLS, Sept. 6.

[To the Editor of The Times:] This world court is up again. Some think it's great and some think it's terrible and I am just one of the 90 per cent of our population who don't know what it is. The more I read about both sides the less I know about the middle.

Each nation that goes into it has it understood with a reservation that anything the court does shall be binding, except in cases pertaining to them. But everybody is agreed on one thing and that is if we ratify it it would be a crowning achievement to finish out the great career of Mr. Elihu Root, a great man, and splendid statesman. Others think we could pay him our obligation in a cheaper way.

Yours,
WILL ROGERS.

CLEW TO T.A.T. AIRPLANE LEADS HUNT INTO MEXICO

Large Ship in Distress Reported Far Way South Over Columbus; Many Rumors Disproved

EL PASO (Tex.) Sept. 6. (AP)—Acting on the report of Flay Peterson, a rancher living near Columbus, N. M., tonight that he saw a large trimotored plane in distress flying south Tuesday, the day the missing airliner City of San Francisco disappeared, a civilian searching party from El Paso is proceeding south into Mexico from Columbus by automobile.

The party left in a plane but had to abandon it because of darkness and the roughness of the terrain.

Peterson said the ship he saw was flying low, apparently seeking a place to land, but flew out of sight to the south.

A check of planes in and near El Paso failed to reveal any craft that had flown over the country south of Hachita, N. M. Hachita is about thirty-five miles west of Columbus.

The locality at which this would place the plane is at least 300 miles south and east of Navajo, N. M., where it last was reported before it disappeared. The plane was bound for Los Angeles and would have traveled almost due west had it held its mapped course.

HOST OF RUMORS PROVE TO BE FALSE

WINSLOW (Ariz.) Sept. 6. (AP)—Shades of night fell over the bad lands of Arizona and New Mexico with the secret of the missing Transcontinental Air Transport plane City of San Francisco and its human cargo of eight persons, a woman and seven men, still locked in the silent grasp of the Wild West's desolate wilderness. Rumor after rumor of the finding of the missing skyriders, alive and dead, emerged from the bad lands, only to be exploded before nightfall, with the mystery as complete and baffling as on the first day of the monoplane's disappearance last Tuesday.

Fifty thousand square miles of the most sparsely populated wilderness of the continental United States were the scene of the most unusual and most spectacular hunt the Wild West ever has seen. Indian runners and scouts, riflemen from the Zuni, Apache, Navajo and Hopi reservations afoot and aboard, prospectors and motorists, were trekking into all sections of Arizona and Western New Mexico.

PLANES DRONE ON

In the skies, as low as the desolate rocky regions would permit, airplanes of all sorts, from the United States Army, Navy and Marine Corps, a number of transport companies and private ships, droned in ceaseless vigilant search for wreckage of the all-metal, trimotor monoplane, one of the newest in the air transport service, which dropped from sight some time after noon Tuesday. It had left Albuquerque, N. M., that morning, expecting to reach Los Angeles in the afternoon with five passengers, one of whom was a woman, and three men in the crew.

The western strategic center of the search here was electrified into high hopes this morning when Lieut. D. W. Tomlinson, Maddux line executive and former naval flyer, flew in from the north shortly after 10 o'clock. Tomlinson reported that a hundred miles to the north, in the center of the Hopi Indian Reservation, four persons emerged from an Indian hut and frantically waved white cloths which he interpreted as distress signals.

REPORTS REFUTED

All available planes took off with Lieut. Tomlinson feeling certain that rescue of survivors of the City of San Francisco was but a matter of hours. Some five hours later Charles Goldrap, Scenic Airways pilot, dropped into Winslow and reported that he had zoomed down low over the hut, and four Indians, two men and two women, dashed from the hut and waved white cloths and laughed and cheered at the unusual sight of an airplane.

Just as this hopeful report came to naught, the southeastern sector of the search was startled by a report that wreckage of the big transport was found near the Celestial mine, south of Hachita, in the southeastern corner of New Mexico. This report said the woman passenger who was Mrs. George B. Raymond of Glendale, was alive but the seven men were dead.

Within less than an hour direct reports from the Hachita region indicated this to be without foundation.

PILOTS TELL OF PRANK BY LIGHTNING

Pair's Experience Leads to Belief Bolts No Peril for Planes Above Ground

Mere conjectures that lightning has destroyed airplanes do not convince C. W. Gilpin or Warren Wright, pilots for Pickwick Airways.

A plane which Gilpin and Wright were piloting was struck by lightning as it flew over the airport at Nogales, Ariz., and no damage whatsoever was done, they report.

Mr. Wright states: "I never have talked to a pilot who has actually had lightning strike his ship, therefore, I feel that our experience was very illustrative.

"We were flying over the Nogales airport in a thunderstorm," Mr. Wright continued, "when lightning flashed from the nose motor of our trimotored Bach. There was a terrific noise, and streaks of electricity jumped around the motor. However, the plane was not jarred, and the motor did not falter. We landed immediately, but found that there was no damage done whatsoever.

"Spectators informed us that they saw a bolt of lightning pass through the plane, and were astonished that we were unhurt and the plane undamaged."

Many veteran pilots advance the theory that airplanes cannot furnish a ground for lightning, and for that reason, there is no danger from that source.

Postal Clerks Petition Young in Mooney Case

NEW YORK, Sept. 6. (AP)—A resolution urging Gov. Young of California to review the Mooney-Billings case immediately and grant the two former labor leaders pardons if he finds that they were convicted on doubtful or perjured testimony was adopted today by the National Federation of Postoffice Clerks, gathered in sixteenth biennial convention here.

"There appears to have been a miscarriage of justice in convicting them," the resolution said in part, and "if the evidence rendered is found to be of a doubtful nature or given by persons found to have been perjured, Thomas Mooney and Warren K. Billings must be granted full and unconditional pardons."

Mooney and Billings were convicted of setting off a bomb during a Preparedness Day parade in San Francisco in 1916 which cost several lives.

Young Heflin's Bond Forfeited

PHENIX CITY (Ala.) Sept. 6. (AP) Tom Heflin, Jr., son of the senior United States Senator from Alabama, and B. M. Haines, failed to appear in Recorder's Court today to answer to charges of drunkenness and violating the State prohibition law.

Their bonds were forfeited.

GOVERNMENT EDIFICE IN PRUSSIA BOMBED

LUNEBURG (Prussia) Sept. 6. (AP) A bomb exploded during the night in the government building, greatly damaging it. No one was injured. Police connect the explosion with a series of recent outrages in Germany believed to have been committed by political opponents of the republic.

SKY HUNT WITHOUT CLEWS

More Than 100 Flyers from Here Search for Trace of T.A.T. Liner But Find Nothing

While more than 100 airplanes and pilots from the Los Angeles area sought vainly from the sky for a trace of the missing airliner, City of San Francisco, and its eight occupants, local officials of the company yesterday reluctantly abandoned hope that any of those on board are still alive.

H. W. Beck, western traffic manager of the Transcontinental Air Transport, Inc., until then had held to his faith in the ability of the two pilots aboard the ship to bring it to a safe landing somewhere in the wilderness despite the storm. Although no statement was made by the officials they agreed that had any of those aboard the ship escaped alive in all probability they would have signaled the circling fleet of airships above them with a fire by night or smoke in the day time.

It also was admitted at the local offices that it is customary only to carry a supply of sandwiches and a jug of water sufficient to last passengers and crew during flights between stopping stations.

Investigation of a report that the plane had come down near Hachita, N. M., was investigated by the T.A.T. officials yesterday and two pilots were sent to the locality. The report came from Floyd Burnham, who telephoned the information to Marion McKean, a pilot at Mines Field. Burnham is asserted to own a mine in the locality of Hachita. McKean did not get Burnham's Los Angeles address and Traffic Manager Beck of the T.A.T. is anxious to obtain further information.

The only direct word received in Los Angeles from the area where

The official copy of the President's ...emarks follows:

"I have been much interested in ...he disclosures in respect to the ...elations of a naval expert who ...over a month ago filed a complaint ...in the New York courts against ...three important naval shipbuilding ...corporations for services described ...in the complaint, in which he ...acknowledges having received over ...$80,000 on account. This propa...andist has during the past few ...years, organized serious support for ...increased armament and has been ...a severe critic of all efforts of our ...government to secure international ...agreement for the reduction of ...naval arms, which include activi...ties at the Geneva conference, and ...opposition to the movement which ...have initiated in the past three ...months. A part of this propaganda ...has been directed to create inter...national distrust and hate.

"I cannot believe that the re...sponsible directors of these ship...building corporations have been ...a party to these transactions as ...presented in this lawsuit but ...their statement of the case is need...ed. It is due to the public, it is ...due to the government and it is ...due to the corporations themselves.

ACTION ORDERED

"In the meantime I have directed ...the Attorney-General to consider ...what action we can take. Unless ...the companies can show an entire...ly different situation from that ...which is purported in this suit we ...are compelled to consider what ...measures can be proposed to free ...the country of such influences.

"Every American has the right ...to express his opinion and to en...gage in open propaganda if he ...wishes, but it is obviously against ...public interest for those who have ...financial interest in or may be en...gaged in contracts for the con...struction of naval vessels to secret...ly attempt to influence public opin...ion or public officials by propa...ganda in favor of larger armaments ...and attempt to defeat the efforts ...of the government in world limi...tation of such armaments or to em...ploy persons for such purposes.

"I am making this statement pub...licly so that there can be no mis...apprehension of my determination ...that our present international ne...gotiations shall not be interfered ...with from such sources and through ...such methods."

The President's statement electri...fied Washington. The news reached ...the Capital within fifteen minutes ...and immediately the tariff and ...other controversial subjects were ...forgotten, and the opinion was gen...eral that when the Senate reas...sembled on Monday the Republican ...leaders will find the greatest diffi...culty in preventing the naval situ...ation from usurping the right of ...way which has been given to the ...tariff bill.

Senator Borah, who had been all ...prepared to press the issue, wore ...a smile of satisfaction, seeing in the ...incident complete justification for ...the course he pursued last winter ...when he fought the cruiser bill. ...Senator Hale was out on the golf ...links, but the comments of other ...members of the naval committee ...left no doubt that Shearer will be ...haled before that body without ...delay and compelled to disclose his ...relations with all manufacturers of ...armaments. The prospects are that ...Charles M. Schwab and other cap...tains of industry also will be put on ...the Senatorial grill. In fine, Wash...ington is in for another investiga...tion and this promises more fire...works than the town has known ...since Teapot Dome.

FEW SO OUTSPOKEN

Washington was trying to recall ...tonight when a President had been ...so outspoken as Herbert Hoover was ...today. Back in 1915 when Theodore ...Roosevelt, Leonard Wood and others ...were launching their preparedness ...movement, Woodrow Wilson made a ...few sarcastic references to the ...financial connections with munitions ...manufacturers and the several "de...fense societies" of that era. But at ...that time America was woefully un...prepared to embark on any military ...adventure, a condition which justi...fied the movement for a larger Army ...and Navy.

Today President Hoover believes ...that America is prepared, that there ...is no occasion for increasing our ...armed strength, and because he is ...personally engrossed in his own ...plans to advance the cause of world ...peace his indignation at the Shear...er episode has provoked him to ...throw aside his reserve.

The chances are that he was ...moved more by this spirit of indig...nation than by any consideration ...of the political effects of his action. ...Yet it must be obvious that he has ...delivered a master stroke. He has ...solidified all friends of world peace ...and he has dampened the enthu...siasm of many earnest men and ...women who have conscientiously ...differed with him in his plan to ...hold up the construction of the new ...cruisers. If there is any further ...attempt to provoke a "vote of con...fidence" in the Senate, the outlook ...is that the President will win over...whelmingly.

ACTIVITIES RECALLED

In the light of today's develop...ments, some of Shearer's activities ...in recent years seem almost ludi...crous. He was one of the most vo...cal of all critics of the Washington ...treaties of 1922, particularly those ...under which America agreed to ...scrap certain battleships. At that ...time Shearer even went to the courts ...in an attempt to prevent the de...struction of the dreadnaught Wash...ington, but the courts threw the ...case out for lack of jurisdiction.

He bobbed up again in 1924, when ...Congress was debating the bill for ...eight new light cruisers and he took ...on himself considerable credit for ...the passage of that legislation. ...When President Coolidge delayed ...the construction from time to time ...Shearer protested volubly. It is a ...peculiar coincidence that this storm ...breaks just as two of those new ...cruisers are being dispatched down ...the ways.

In 1927 Shearer turned up at ...Geneva, where the American and ...British delegates were squabbling ...over comparative cruiser strength. ...Although he probably had nothing ...to do with the collapse of that con...ference, which was due to the lack ...of something equivalent to the ..."Hoover yard stick" Shearer pious...ly rejoiced in the outcome, and said: ..."My fight is for national defense. ...I expected no reward except the ...consciousness that I am helping my ...country." Apparently he has ...changed his mind since, for he now ...asks a "reward" of $250,000.

SHIP'S LOSS NOT LAID TO STORMS

No Unusual Weather Faced by T.A.T. Plane

Rules Call for Avoidance of Air Hazards

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 6. (AP)—Government and private weather reports showed no unusually bad weather conditions in the path of the westbound air liner, City of San Francisco, when or after it left Albuquerque, N. M., Tuesday, it was stated at the Transcontinental Air Transport's general offices here today.

"We do not yet know that bad weather had anything to do with the difficulty," J. V. Magee, vice-president and general manager, said. "The pilot of the eastbound plane passing through the same region at about the same time made no report showing any unusual condition."

NO EMERGENCY

The government Weather Bureau report obtained by Pilot Stowe at Albuquerque was supplemented by reports sent by the Santa Fe Railroad and T.A.T. observers from points ahead. These reports, in code, are on file at the office here. Magee said none of them showed any unusual weather conditions. It is possible to inform the pilot, in the air, of any anticipated weather difficulty, through connection with the assistant pilot by voice radio. No emergency radio bulletin as to weather conditions was sent to Stowe, as there was no such information to send.

FLYING RULES

The field manager at Albuquerque reported that the pilot said, after reading the government report, that there might be bad weather conditions to the south and that he probably would fly somewhat to the north of the route which follows the Santa Fe Railroad tracks.

"Our pilots," said Magee, "are under instructions to return to their starting point and put their passengers on a train if there is any question about getting through. Pilots are not criticised for turning back in case of bad weather."

Col. Charles A. Lindbergh has charge of the selection of pilots, Magee said.

FLYERS SEARCH FOR AIR LINER

the lost ship was last seen came from Capt. Burrell Smith of the Aero Corporation of California. Capt. Smith was the pilot who located the body of Maj. John Wood, whose plane was struck by lightning over the desert twenty-five miles north of Needles early Monday.

In a telegram to officials of his company at 1 p.m., yesterday, Smith stated he had flown over the Arizona mountains since 6 a.m., without observing a trace of the lost ship. His message stated he intended to refuel and fly over the mountains near Zuni.

FEDERAL PLANES DELAYED

A fleet of more than twenty-five additional Los Angeles flyers took off from four different fields yesterday morning under the direction of T.A.T. officials. These flyers had been selected from several scores of pilots who volunteered their aid. As the local flyers began taking off word was received that the ten navy planes and three marine planes at San Diego had been delayed in their contemplated early-morning start.

The delay was the result of adverse weather reports from the section east of San Diego, where it was stated visibility was restricted to 200 feet. It also was the desire of government officials to equip three ships with medical supplies. Four of the government planes are equipped with radio-receiving and sending sets and operators.

REFUELING PLANS

Lieutenant-Commander George S. Gillespie is in command of the navy planes and Capt. Creighton C. Jerome commands the marine flyers. The government planes left in battle formation at 1:45 p.m. and expected to arrive several hours before nightfall at Winslow.

Reports received at the Metropolitan Airport stated that special refueling and overhauling facilities had been established at Winslow and Albuquerque to take care of all the flyers engaging in the search. Smaller towns and Indian settlements are expected to prepare emergency landing places, according to the airport officials.

NEW YORK, Sept. 6. (Exclusive) The residuary estate of Rhinelander Stewart, banker and philanthropist, composing by far the greater portion of his fortune, is bequeathed to his daughter, the Princess Anita De Braganza, and his son, William Rhinelander Stewart, Jr., under the terms of a will filed for probate in surrogate's court today.

The princess, widow of Prince Miguel De Braganza of Portugal, is left two-thirds of the residuary estate. The remaining third goes to her brother. The will did not reveal the total of Stewart's fortune, merely saying that "it is more than $20,000." It is estimated at several millions.

The Metropolitan Museum of Art receives a bequest of $10,000, a contemporary painting of King Louis XVI of France, and any specimen from Stewart's collection of Chinese porcelains that may be selected by its curator of oriental art. Grace Church receives $50,000 and St. James Church $10,000.

William Rhinelander Stewart, Jr., and Spotswood D. Bowers of New York are named executors. The younger Stewart, in addition to his share in the residuary estate, receives $50,000 and his father's pew in Grace Church.

GENEVA PICKS WORLD'S BANK

J. P. Morgan's House Choice of Nation's League

Reparations Depository May Help Curb Wars

Root Protocol Soon to Go to President

gates had this in mind as one of the bank's many acts when it framed it and examined the various spheres in which it could operate.

It was pointed out here that the Morgan superbank is the sole institution susceptible of being utilized by the League for loans to members threatened with war, and once the League Assembly and Council approved financial assistance for any threatened state it would recommend that the superbank float a loan and advance the funds.

Through its connections, official and unofficial, the superbank would control the entire world credit, money and gold market, so that the state against whom a ruling is given by the League would find it impossible to raise fiscal help anywhere on the globe.

RESOLUTION SUBMITTED

This development of the superbank is explained as another reason why certain great powers strongly favored establishing the bank in Switzerland—Zurich, Berne of Basle—if the United States objects to Geneva, because the League headquarters are located here. It is agreed, however, that a superbank placed in The Hague might be advantageous since the World Court is located there and the United States now is pledged to join, since Sir Eric Drummond secured the special conference that President Hoover promised to adhere if the Root protocol was accepted without modification.

Mr. Henderson continued the British campaign for a revision of the League covenant, stressing how certain articles are a direct contradiction to the Paris pact which renounces war. The right to a private war remains legitimate under certain circumstances, according to the covenant. Under the Kellogg peace pact nations give up the freedom to make war definitely.

Mr. Henderson submitted a resolution for modifying Articles XII and XV of the covenant to make them conform to the Kellogg pact.

ROOT PROTOCOL GOES TO HOOVER SOON

GENEVA, Sept. 6. (AP)—The League of Nations tonight received a cablegram from American Secretary of State Stimson indicating his intention to submit to President Hoover for signature the special protocol providing for adhesion by the United States to the World Court of Justice.

The message explains that the protocol later will be sent to the American Senate for ratification. It was adopted here two days ago, by the delegates of forty countries belonging to the court. Approval by the Assembly of the League of Nations is expected as a formality.

The protocol was prepared by the famous American jurist, Elihu Root, to overcome the objections contained in the fifth American representation, which demanded American veto privileges on the right to ask for advisory opinions. Mr. Root's formula provides for negotiations between the United States and the Council of the League in every case when the United States has any opposition to the proposal to ask for an advisory opinion.

Sympathetic interest by the American government has been assumed from the first and official information was given in Washington that the protocol is satisfactory to the government.

Mr. Henderson today also pledged his country's efforts to the fulfillment of its mandate over Palestine and the restoration and maintenance of peace in the territory which has been torn by racial and religious strife during the last two weeks.

Mr. Henderson made his statement before the Council of the League, which devoted a full hour to the discussion of the Palestine situation. How profoundly shocked the world has been over the tragic events in the Holy Land was evident during the discussion. Speakers expressed deep sympathy for the victims of the outrages, also confidence that Great Britain as the mandatory power will both maintain order and carry out an impartial investigation.

The British Foreign Secretary's words left no doubt in the minds of the members of the Council of British determination to control the situation. He said Great Britain has no intention of abandoning the mandate for Palestine. One of the basic principles of British policy in the country is the famous Balfour Declaration of 1917 in which the venerable statesman who then was Foreign Secretary called for the establishment of a national home for Jews in Palestine.

The general tenor of the discussions emphasized the "sacred responsibility" of the League of Nations in connection with the proper conduct in the mandated territory. Henderson supported this when he said the British government regardes the mandate as a trusteeship and profoundly regrets "the grave and unfortunate incidents."

MRS. PRATT GETS POLITICAL PLUM

New York Congresswoman on G.O.P. Committee

Choice Held Significant of Overturn in Party

Opposing Candidate Backed by Coolidge Aide

NEW YORK, Sept. 6. (Exclusive) The Hoover political machine clinched its grip on the Republican organization in New York State and at the same time revealed its full power today, when it nominated Mrs. Ruth Pratt, member of Congress, as the State's National Committeewoman to succeed Mrs. Charles H. Sabin.

Sponsored and enthusiastically supported by President Hoover's selected and responsible lieutenants in this State, Mrs. Pratt was chosen for the national committee over a contesting candidate, Mrs. Marion Schindler of Albany, at a meeting of the Republican State Committee at the National Republican Club. The victory of the Hoover forces was overwhelming. The opposition was utterly routed. The vote was 233 for Mrs. Pratt to 33 for Mrs. Schlinder.

The inescapable significance of the election of Mrs. Pratt and the rejection of Mrs. Schindler covers a situation far wider than the mere representation of the State in the national committee. It signifies the signal triumph of the new and rampantly confident Hoover organization over the last vestiges of the one-time Hoover organization led by Charles E. Hilles. It signifies the eclipse of Mr. Hilles in all probability as the first power in Republican councils for New York.

Owing to the fact that this State has no Republican Senator the prized prerogative of distributing patronage has been for some years in the hands of the silvery-haired urbane gentleman who stood so close to Calvin Coolidge and the former national administration. Mr. Hoover had scarcely taken his oath of office when his advisory council changed all that, or sought to change it, by appointing a triumvirate of whom William Hill was perhaps the dominant figure.

It is scarcely to be doubted that Mrs. Pratt, as the woman representative of New York in the Republican National Committee, will receive a part and probably a large part of the prerogatives that formerly were exclusively in the hands of Mr. Hilles.

Will of Chicago Man Who Died Here Attacked

CHICAGO, Sept. 6. (AP)—The $2,000,000 estate of Albert W. Longley, retired Chicago merchant, who died in Pasadena a year ago, became the subject of litigation today with the filing of a bill contesting the will.

The contest is directed against the widow, Mrs. Mary Catherine Longley, third wife of Mr. Longley, who now is at her winter home in Pasadena. George Longley, who asserts he is a son, is plaintiff. He was bequeathed only a $600 yearly income and in the will was described as "George Adair Greene, a brother of Mr. Longley's first wife." He is said to have been reared by grandparents on a farm near Janesville, Wis., taking the name of Greene from them.

The will, he charges, is not genuine, and he also says Mr. Longley, who was 80 years of age, when he died, was of unsound mind and susceptible to undue influence. He further charges that the will was executed by Longley against his own reasoning.

ORIGINS OF BLUSHING

The origins of blushing were traced to fear in primitive men by Dr. J. T. MacCurdy of Cambridge, Eng. The early ancestors of the human race probably blushed when eating, because they were in some degree more exposed to danger of attack while occupied in a meal.

Dr. MacCurdy said that perhaps primitive man blushed whenever he was doing anything which put him temporarily in a defenseless position. Love-making was probably a great distraction of attention from the business of self-defense, rooting the blushing habit deeply in courtship relations.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6. (AP)—The Senate Agriculture Committee decided today to call the members of the Federal Farm Board to examine their qualifications for office at open hearings.

Chairman McNary of the committee sent word to the board members to appear at their convenience, probably late next week.

There have been signs of opposition to several of the board members. Several of the Senators from the Northwest are displeased over the policy announced by Chairman Legge that the farmers and co-operatives must exhaust other means of credit before applying to the board for loans.

A provision in the bill to require such a policy was stricken out in the Senate and therefore some Senators feel that Legge and the board are going contrary to the expressed will of Congress.

Corporations Dominating Government, He Says

Proposed Drill Steel Levy Brings Accusations

Treasury May be Asked for Profit-Loss Figures

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6. (AP)—Evidence that the administration is being dominated by "giant corporations" in the evolution of the new tariff bill was seen today by Senator Wheeler, Democrat Montana, in the proposed high levy on hollow drill steel.

He contended the Crucible Steel Company would be given "an equal or greater dole" under the increased duty than other steel companies would receive by placing manganese on the free list.

Like the proposed free listing of manganese, Wheeler said in a statement issued by the Democratic National Committee, the provision to increase from 1.7 to 3 cents a pound the duty on hollow drill steel used in the manufacture of rock drills involved the "robbery of the public in general and the mining men in particular for the special benefit of the steel trust."

COMPANY LETTER CITED

The Montanan cited a letter sent out by one of the Crucible directors recently saying the company is in an "excellent position" to realize great profits and is in the best condition since its organization.

"It would be rather difficult to fit the crucible into President Hoover's classification of industries suffering a depression because of foreign competition resulting in unemployment," he said.

Wheeler's attack was the only outstanding development in the tariff situation during the day. The Republican independents, who have reached an understanding with the Democrats to defer any moves looking to a limitation of the revision of agriculture until the bill has been debated awhile, held another conference in the office of Senator Borah of Idaho, but it was said only a general discussion took place.

TREASURY FIGURES SOUGHT

Borah announced his group will support the motion that will be made Monday by Senator Simmons of North Carolina, ranking Democrat on the Finance Committee, to SALONIKA (Greece) Sept. 6. Relics of the ancient Greek civilization that flourished before the birth of Christ have been discovered at Dion where Prof. Soteriades of the University of Athens has been carrying on excavations.

Dion was an important point on the road from Macedonia into Thessaly, and was captured by the Stolians in 352 B.C. Nearly half a century later it was fortified and "well fortified and adorned with public buildings and a multitude of statues."

CENTER OF CULTURE

It became a famous center. Colonia Julia Dionia, in the first century after Christ, and remained for many decades as a center of politics and culture. The ancient theater where Euripides was said to present his tragedies still exists.

The city was mentioned as recently as 340 A.D. when Bishop Palladius signed the decrees of the ecclesiastical synod held in the ancient Bulgarian capital, Sofia.

NOTABLE FINDS

Prof. Soteriades's finds include the lips of the ancient theater, which are ten feet thick, and are in fine intact northern gate, a wide straight road, numerous temples and tombs, leads to the ancient entrances.

He also has discovered inscriptions mentioning the names of Tiberius and Trajan, and a second century, an early Christian church with a fine mosaic floor decorated with crosses, busts of saints of Hellenistic and Roman times, and the head of a Macedonian king and a small Greek temple in a well preserved Roman tomb.

Then Cook Drowned and Officers Beaten Because Food Was Not to Their Liking

SHANGHAI, Sept. 6. (AP)—The old fable about beggars not being choosers went by the boards recently when a mob of half-starved Chinese soldiers crowded the decks of the Kiangteh, a Yangtsze River steamer, invaded the cook's galley, ate everything in sight and then threw the cook overboard because the chow hadn't suited them.

This was only one of the many similar incidents that have occurred on the Yangtsze in recent months. A week seldom passes but what disbanded and starving soldiers of either the government or some rebel generals' forces force their way aboard a river steamer, man-handle the passengers and devour all the food they can lay their hands on.

THEY REFUSE TO PAY

The Kiangteh, latest victim of such an episode, was owned and officered by Chinese. It was boarded on its way to Hankow by 100 disbanded soldiers. They refused to pay for their passage and demanded food.

They made a rush for the galley, gobbled up all that the cook set in front of them and then said the food was not good enough. As balm for their wounded dignities and damaged stomachs they said payment of $500 would be "just about right."

Their demands for money were laughed at and in the scene that followed the cook was callously thrown overboard. The chief officer attempted to throw over a line but the soldiers held him.

After watching the cook drown the soldiers gave the chief officer a severe thrashing for daring to delay the ship. They also beat the captain because he sounded the whistle. On arrival at Kiukiang the soldiers quit the boat.

SIMILAR TROUBLE

Two British steamers, the Poyang and the Siangwo, met with similar trouble a short time previous to the Kiangteh episode. The Poyang was boarded by 1300 soldiers at a port called Shasi. They compelled the captain to take them to Hankow. To add insult to injury a detachment of government troops farther down the river opened fire on the rebels, which event transformed a peaceful British river steamer into a rebel troopship.

The Siangwo ran into trouble at Shasi. Two hundred soldiers boarded the vessel and the captain was forced to take them to Hankow. They demanded the best of everything in the way of food and the captain let them have their way.

ask the Treasury for profits and losses as disclosed in income tax returns of taxpayers who would benefit under the pending bill.

The Idahoan thought the western farm State group also would line up with the minority in its effort to repeal the flexible provisions under which the President is authorized to readjust tariff rates up or down as much as 50 per cent. He said the independents had not discussed this angle thus far, but that as far as he personally is concerned not only the proposed enlarged powers but the pending law on the subject should be repealed and the sole authority placed in Congress.

Borah did not know how his group will vote on the proposal to have the Tariff Commission translate all ad valorem rates in the bill to the basis of United States instead of foreign value, and report to Congress by January 1, 1932. This is one of the principal targets set up by the minority for their opposition campaign.

REPUBLICANS QUIET

Once the income tax proposal is out of the way Senator Simmons is expected to open the Democratic drive on the administrative provisions, to be followed by Senator Harrison of Mississippi, second ranking Democrat on the Finance Committee. The Republican regulars have yet to announce their initial debating team.

It was definitely announced by the independents that a motion to recommit the bill with instructions to report an exclusive agricultural rate revision will not be made Monday, but that they will await developments or what they believed is the "strategic" moment before launching the move.

In this connection a telegram was received at the Capitol during the day from Senator Johnson, Republican, California, requesting that he be paired against any motion to recommit. Johnson voted against the Borah resolution of last June to confine the revision to farm commodities, which lost by one vote.

Young Quakers Departing from Ways of Elders

OSKALOOSA (Iowa) Sept. 6. (AP)—A threatened rebellion of young Quakerism against the conservative methods of their elders loomed today following the pronouncement at yesterday's sessions of the All-American Friends' Conference that old Quaker practices are obsolete and inefficient.

Two young men from the Pacific Coast, leaders in the annual meetings in their States, stood together in the assertion that "young Friends are clamoring for a change in methods." They were Frank W. Dell, Whittier, Cal., and Edward Mott of Oregon.

Dr. Raymond Binford, president of the Guilford (N. C.) College made a plea for a change in Quaker educational methods, and introduced the personal element into its teaching.

Arizona Holds Fruit Fly Peril, Curbed, Graver

PHOENIX, Sept. 6. (AP)—Florida's Mediterranean fruit fly menace, curbed through various means until only one infestion has been discovered since August 14, actually presents today a graver danger than existed when the widespread infestation first was discovered.

This is the opinion of M. E. Bemis, agricultural secretary of the Phoenix Chamber of Commerce, expressed in a report to the board of directors of the chamber today.

Bemis's conclusion was reached following a visit to Florida to study conditions at first hand and to Washington to obtain all available governmental data on the fruit fly menace.

GRAPE-MARKET FORECAST JUICY

Department of Agriculture Sees Short Crop

Report Predicts 20 Per Cent Drop in Production

Light Yield in Other Fruits Should Help Prices

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6. (Exclusive)—Improved conditions among grape growers, largely the result of lessened production of grapes and other fruits as compared with crops of the last few years, are forecast by the Department of Agriculture in a special report today on the grape-market situation.

According to the Department present prospects are that the total production of grapes this year will be approximately one-fifth less than in either 1928 or 1927 and nearly 100,000 tons below the average of the last five years.

CALIFORNIA SHORT

The condition of the crop as of August 1, last, indicated, the report states that the 1929 crop of grapes will be about 2,060,778 tons for the entire country, with California yielding the smallest production since 1924. Factors contributing to the situation in California were a 2 per cent decrease in bearing acreage, deficiency in rainfall last winter, early spring frosts and severe heat in June and early July.

The Department makes no mention of beneficial results to the grape industry expected from the $9,000,000 loan recently arranged through the National Farm Board.

IN OTHER STATES

"In States other than California," the report says, "the prospects early in August pointed to a crop about one-tenth less than last season. Michigan, New York and Pennsylvania report the grapes generally of good quality. In the Ozark region considerable damage was caused by hail and black rot.

"The 1929 grape season opened about the middle of June, a week or so later than last season, with two cars moving from Southern California and two from Florida. Shipments to August 17 were only 2522 cars, as compared with 4430 to the same time last season.

PRICE OUTLOOK GOOD

"The market outlook for table grapes seems comparatively good in view of the fact that it is a light year for most other fruits. The combined condition reports for twelve fruit crops, August 1, averaged about 24 per cent below the corresponding reports of last year and about 19 per cent below the ten-year average.

"According to estimates for August there will be about one-fifth less apples and pears than last year and one-third less peaches. Decline in competition from other fruits may be partly offset by decrease in the demand for certain types and varieties of juice grapes."

REDS START CONTINUOUS WORK WEEK

Sunday as Regular Day of Rest Abolished in Order to Speed Up Production

MOSCOW, Sept. 6. (AP)—The soviet government today abolished Sunday as a regular day of rest by inaugurating in scores of soviet trades and other institutions what is known as "The continuous production week." The move is calculated to quicken the pace of industry, increase the productivity of labor and relieve unemployment.

Each employee will be required to work the usual number of hours which now range from thirty-nine to forty-six. All, however, will have a day of rest after every five or six days of labor.

DORAN GETS AID OF GRAPE MEN

California Growers Promise to Assist Drys

Attempt Will be Made to Thwart Bootleggers

Illegal Manufacturing of Wine to be Checked

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6. (AP)—Prohibition Commissioner Doran announced today that California grape-producing interests have agreed to attempt to regulate their eastern markets to prevent grapes going into bootleg wine channels.

Doran said the grape growers have agreed to place watchers in New York in their effort to prevent the diversion of grapes into illegal channels and declared he expects the action to lower appreciably the illicit wine supply in the East.

The prohibition commissioner, who returned today from a month's trip to California, said the California grape growers have met him more than halfway in arriving at the agreement.

He added that the action is looked upon as the first co-operative effort between the producers and the bureau to block illegal manufacture of wine.

Plans are now under way, he continued, to concentrate the legal wine supply in outlying points of the States in government warehouses in large centers. One of the problems the wine producers face, he said, is the disposition of wine in warehouses, which has become unfit for use. He said that a survey of the spoiled wines now is being made to determine how much of it is usable.

CHAIN GANG TO GET RUM PURVEYORS

Old Law in Illinois Dug Up to Provide Hard Work for Bootleg Peddlers

CHICAGO, Sept. 6. (Exclusive)—Jail sentences at hard labor under a forgotten law more than a half-century old will be imposed by Judge Allen in the Kane County Court at Geneva to curb bootlegging. The statute, passed in 1875, provides that bootleggers and others purveying intoxicants may be made to work out fines at the rate of $1.50 a day in the custody of keepers who are privileged "to attach balls and chains to them" to prevent their escape.

Judge Allen in announcing his decision said that fines imposed on bootleggers have little effect in stopping liquor sales in Kane county, and because of the good food and comfortable quarters at the Geneva Jail the ordinary jails are little better as a deterrent.

All second offenders will be given jail sentences, the judge said, and in flagrant cases the offenders will be sentenced under the old law.

WALKOUT DUE TO TIME DISPUTE

Fourteen Men Leave Work on Union Pipe Line

Company to Pay Full Wages for Extra Hours Asked

Disgruntled Ones, However, Demand Time and Half

BAKERSFIELD, Sept. 6.—Dispute over working hours caused a minor walkout on the Union Oil pipe line being constructed between Kern station and Poso Creek field, it was learned here today. Asked to report for work an hour earlier and leave an hour later, receiving pay for ten hours instead of eight, fourteen men laid down their tools and walked off the job.

According to the stories of the men who quit, the eight-hour day had been in effect on the pipe-line job until Tuesday night.

Then they were told to report for thirty breakfast in preparation for starting work an hour earlier. They were told also, one of the men said, that they could work just eight hours if they preferred, but they would have to stay on the job for two more hours in order to get transportation back home.

The fourteen who were dissatisfied with the order held a conference and announced they would work if the company paid them time and a half for the extra two hours. This was refused and they quit.

Between eighty and 100 men are employed on the pipe line, so construction was not seriously hampered.

Supt. Lafe Todd, who is in charge of the work, said that no orders had been issued for the men to work ten hours. He said the men have been traveling to and from the work on company time, and that in order to put in the full eight hours on the job, instructions were issued to start an hour earlier, and that two hours' extra pay was allowed to cover the time spent in going to and from work.

The company is anxious to complete the line, he appointed out, and merely wanted the men to put in a full eight hours on the job.

YEARN FOR WIFE WINS TROUBLE

Innocent Mail-Order Bride Like Texas Tornado, So Mate Asks Divorce

CHICAGO, Sept. 6. (Exclusive)—Victor Von Gorheard was lonely in search of love and, incidentally, of a woman who was handy with the needle and who could frame up a good meal. So he answered the advertisement in a matrimonial paper of Miss Elizabeth Hopkins of Port Arthur, Tex., who described herself as "white, innocent and 20."

Came, then, correspondence and a wedding, but the innocent little girl from Texas proved to be a snuff dipper with dope mixed in the snuff, Von Gorheard declares. She likewise packed a hefty gun and a wallop, he says. Unable to make things interesting for her, she left him in July, but wrote him threatening letters. Then she jumped off a bridge into the river and was rescued by police. Victor's neighbors kidded so much about this that today he applied for a divorce.

"COT" MEN APPEAL TO GOVERNOR

Fruit Growers at Hanford Claim Refund from Canneries

HANFORD, Sept. 6.—Championed by James C. Griswold, county sealer of weights and measures, local apricot growers have wired a formal protest to Gov. Young and are demanding a refund of one pound on the weight of lug boxes used by the Pacific Coast canneries and Libby McNeil & Libby in handling crops from their ranches.

Ray Swanson, Jr., C. C. Rice, John Dawson, C. D. Dimmick and Fred Smith are the principal protestants, but there are said to be many others who would join the lists in the claim for a refund.

It is contended that lug boxes were weighed in the humid Oakland district and shipped here for use in handling the deliveries of apricots. After their arrival, in the dry valley climate the lug boxes, it is claimed, shrank in weight one pound each. The growers assert that notwithstanding the shrinkage, the Oakland weight of the lug boxes was deducted from their deliveries and that it amounted to an over deduction of one pound for each box. The five growers thus far joined in the controversy claim a refund of between $2000 and $3000 representing about 100,000 pounds of apricots delivered to the two companies this season.

It is said that the State Division of Weights and Measures is ready to stand behind the grower to the extent of one-half pound to the lug box but that it refuses to enter into a fight for a refund of one pound per box. Some growers are said to be willing to compromise on a half-pound refund.

LIQUOR CASE ARRESTS IN KERN MANY

Federal Men Make One for Every Forty-eight Hours in Last Six Months

BAKERSFIELD, Sept. 6.—Every time the clock clipped forty-eight hours off the pages of time during the past six months one person was arrested, arraigned, fined, dismissed or jailed for illegal possession of liquors or materials for the manufacture of same, according to Federal Prohibition Chief Walter A. Patterson, head of the Federal squad operating in this district. Patterson took over this office on February 20 of this year, and since that time has made a record of ninety arrests, together with the collection of thousands of dollars in fines and the destruction of vast quantities of mash and accessories.

Patterson, with his one assistant, holds the distinction of "knocking over" the largest moonshine distillery ever discovered in Kern county—the Mojave Desert manufacturing plant. The equipment alone was valued at more than $10,000, and was capable of manufacturing hundreds of gallons of liquor daily. In this raid more than 30,000 pounds of sugar were destroyed on the spot, due to lack of transportation facilities.

SUN-MAID BONDS MAY BE RETIRED

Farm Board Considering an Additional Loan

Chairman Legge Announces Decision Not Definite

Sanction for More Advance to Muscat Men Lauded

FRESNO, Sept. 6.—Special dispatches from Washington to a Fresno paper today quoted Chairman Legge of the Federal Farm Board as saying that the Farm Board is considering an additional loan to the Sun-Maid raisin growers for the retirement of the co-operative's $4,600,000 bond issue, as a return to the growers.

Chairman Legge said the board has done nothing definite on the proposition.

Application of Associated Fruit Products, Inc., the $30,000,000 merger of grape products concerns involved in the grape stabilization program, probably will not be acted upon by the Farm Board for a month, the Washington advices said. The Farm Board has demanded an appraisal of the properties of the products corporation, and it is now under way and will not be completed for some time.

The Sun-Maid bond issue was floated through Dillon, Read & Co. of New York during the administration of Ralph P. Merritt as president of the co-operative, and bears 6½ per cent interest. Most of the money from the bond issue was used in a refinancing program, which involved the retirement of most of the 7 per cent preferred stock of Sun-Maid, a large portion of which was held by the bankrupt Sun-Maid Corporation, which was then in process of liquidation.

PROGRAM GIVEN MOMENTUM

The stabilization, which is being administered through Sun-Maid was given added momentum today with the announcement from Washington that the growers of muscat raisins will receive an additional cent per pound as an advance payment upon delivery of the fruit to the Sun-Maid receiving stations. This will make the base advance payment on this variety 4 cents per pound as compared with 3 cents for Thompsons and Sultanas.

The additional 1 cent per pound will be paid here by the Federal Fruit Stabilization Corporation, through which the raisin plan was launched, and with funds provided by the Federal Farm Board.

Approval by the Farm Board of the payment of the additional advance price to Muscat growers is considered one of he most important steps thus far taken in the stabilization program, in that it will tend to put more of this variety on the drying trays and take them out of the fresh market, in which Muscats have always been a discordant factor, and which have frequently been the cause of serious breaks in prices of all varieties of fresh grapes.

MARKET WILL BE STEADIED

Once the Muscat raisins are under the control of the stabilization organization, they can be fed into the markets or by-products channels as required, thereby giving the raisin market a steadier tone.

Lloyd S. Tenny, president of the stabilization corporation, is to come to Fresno on Monday to perfect plans for administration of the additional sum of Federal funds necessary to handle the Muscat movement, it was announced today.

Most Ambitious Program, Plan of Kern Boy Scouts

BAKERSFIELD, Sept. 6.—Plans for the most ambitious fall and winter program in the history of Kern county Boy Scouts, beginning with a pretentious exhibit at the fair which starts next Wednesday and including inauguration of a five-year leadership training course, rehabilitation of the weekend Scout camp on Kern River, a two-day Boy Scout show, a winter "snow camp" during the Christmas holidays and the annual father and son banquet during anniversary week in February were announced today by Ernest E. # Trail Blasted to Top of U. S.

SEQUOIA NATIONAL PARK, Sept. 6. — The "top of the United States" will be reached on horseback within a few days, according to report received at Sequoia National Park headquarters from Foreman Banks, who is constructing the High Sierra Trail to Mt. Whitney. A week ago it was stated that another seven days of blasting would break through the last pinnacles, and that three of four days' work would clear the way to the summit.

After reaching the top of Mt. Whitney, Foreman Banks will repair the old Smithsonian stone cabin on the summit. He will leave gasoline and coal oil heaters in one of the rooms with a supply of fuel. This precaution is being taken for the benefit of adventurous parties who might be caught on the summit in a storm.

Completion of the new trail will make it possible to ascend from Lone Pine in Inyo county in from six to eight hours, as compared to the two or three days' trip by way of Cottonwood or Army pasture and Crabtree Meadows and the lakes.

Imperial Valley's Showing of Progress Amazing

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 6. (Exclusive)—Members of the County Boards of Supervisors of California today descended upon the Diamond Jubilee State Fair and Western States Exposition to inspect with satisfaction and pride the handsome exhibits that were set up with funds so lavishly appropriated by them.

The county dads also took advantage of the opportunity to inspect the live stock, sheep, hogs, poultry and other products and displays that mean so much to the individual counties and to the State as a whole.

During the morning the Supervisors dedicated the trees that were planted on the fair grounds last year. Each of twenty counties planted a tree symbolic of soil quality or some historic event. The trees represent these counties: Yolo, Sacramento, Tehama, Siskiyou, Santa Barbara, San Diego, Alameda, Lassen, Imperial, Solano, San Bernardino, Orange, Stanislaus, Santa Cruz, Amador, Tuolumne, Contra Costa, Riverside, Placer and San Luis Obispo.

SOUTH SWEEPS CITRUS

Southern California counties made a sweep of the citrus fruit awards that were judged on quality, quantity, variety and education value. Orange county won first prize, San Diego second and San Bernardino third.

Ventura county was awarded first prize for walnuts and second for avocados. Santa Barbara won the blue ribbon for avocados and third for walnuts. Santa Barbara also was first in beans. Orange county won third prize for avocados.

Eldorado county was first in pears and San Joaquin was first in peaches and grapes and tied with Stanislaus for first on melons. Napa county got the prize award for apples. Solano county was first in plums, prunes, almonds, dried fruits and grain.

COMPETITION KEEN

Santa Clara county won the apricot sweepstakes with Contra Costa and San Joaquin tied for second. Contra Costa was third in apples. Santa Clara was second in walnuts, apples and pears and tied with Yolo for third on dried fruits.

Monterey county was awarded first prize for plant and root vegetables. Representatives of the western States and Republic of Mexico that have exhibits at the fair were entertained at a luncheon given by the fair directors. Robert A. Condee, president of the board, presided.

In addition to the designated Supervisors' Day the day was set apart for the commercial secretaries of the coast counties and of the State of Utah. Kiwanis and civic clubs held banquets at the fair grounds tonight in keeping with the annual custom.

SIX DAYS IN ONE

Tomorrow will be San Joaquin Valley Day, San Francisco, Oakland and Bay Counties Day, Santa Clara County Day and Oregon Day.

Sunday will be Southern California Day and an automobile caravan of southern boosters is expected to remain over for Admission Day, which will close the fair.

The romance of Imperial county's development within a period of twenty-five years from a desert to one of the garden spots of California is related in her exhibit. The story is told by a series of paintings, one of which is a picture of Imperial Desert twenty-five years ago, another the county at present with its productive farms, gardens, orchards and groves and in the center is a replica of the Boulder Dam project. In the foreground is a miniature model of typical farms with tiny houses, barns and so on.

SHORTAGE OF WATER IN MANILA

Flow Ceases as Result of Damage to Mains Caused by Typhoon

MANILA, Sept. 6. (AP)—An acute water shortage, occasioning a number of disorders, developed in Manila today when service from the regular mains, impaired by the recent typhoon, ceased.

This left the city with only twenty artesian wells from which to draw water. The wells were wholly inadequate and long lines of residents carrying all sorts of containers flocked to them throughout the day.

Among the disorders was the serious stabbing of one man.

The water main from Montalban which was broken during the typhoon still was unrepaired. An emergency flume was built from Novaliches Dam, twelve miles north of the city, and through this the authorities hope to restore the supply tomorrow.

An official death list today contained the names of seventy-eight persons who perished in the typhoon. Revised figures show nineteen dead in Albay Province, twenty in Bulacan, three in Camarines Sur, eleven in Laguna and seven in Rizal. There are eighteen known dead as the result of the sinking of the steamer Mayon in the Ragay Gulf and twelve still missing. Twenty-two were rescued.

JUDGES NAMED FOR NEW COURT

Two Southerners Selected by Gov. Young

Fourth District Appeals Tribunal Bench Filled

Appointees Given Praise by Chief Executive

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 6. (AP)—Gov. Young today announced the appointment of the three justices for the newly created Fourth District Court of Appeal. They are Presiding Justice W. A. Sloane of San Diego, former Supreme Court justice; Superior Judge Charles R. Barnard of Fresno, and Superior Judge Emerson J. Marks of Santa Ana.

Gov. Young also announced appointment of the Superior Court judges, T. R. Thomson, Fresno attorney, to sit on the bench in that county, and George K. Scovel, Santa Ana attorney, to be judge in Orange county to succeed Judges Barnard and Marks, respectively.

SIZE OF DISTRICT

The newly created appellate district embraces the counties of Fresno, Kern, Riverside, Orange, San Diego, San Bernardino, Inyo and Imperial.

Sessions of the court are to be held in Fresno, San Bernardino and San Diego.

Gov. Young said he had exercised considerable care in selecting justices for the new court and that he is confident the men he named will make "as able and well-rounded a group as could possibly have been chosen."

Concerning his appointees the Governor said:

"Justice Sloane is widely known as one of the ablest and most experienced judges in California. Aside from nearly ten years' service as Superior Judge in San Diego county he also has served as appellate justice of the second district and associate justice of the State Supreme Court, holding the latter office from 1920 to 1923.

LONG AT FRESNO

"Judge Charles R. Barnard of Fresno has practiced law in Fresno for eighteen years, is the past president of the Fresno County Bar Association and former president of the Fresno City Board of Education. He has served as Superior judge since 1925, having been re-elected without opposition. He also has served as a pro tempore justice of the Appellate Court with marked success."

The Governor said that selection of the third man presented real difficulties, since three counties of the district each put forward for consideration one of their ablest men. He said he finally decided upon Judge Marks. "Judge Marks is an Orange county product," the Governor said, "having been graduated from the Santa Ana High School and, after receiving his legal education, practiced law in the city of Fullerton more than twenty years until his appointment as Superior judge."

Los Angeles Matron Makes Parachute Drop

SPRINGFIELD (O.) Sept. 6. (AP) A near tragedy was turned into a happy reunion for Mr. and Mrs. Hayne H. Fisher of Los Angeles after they had been caught in a blinding storm while flying over Springfield today.

Unable to see to guide the plane and believing a crash was inevitable, Fisher told his wife to jump. Clinging to a wing, preparing to make a parachute leap, Mrs. Fisher was blown from the plane by the force of the wind. Her parachute opened, however, and she landed safely. It was her first parachute jump. Meanwhile, her husband managed to bring the plane to a safe landing on a farm about two miles distant.

Mr. and Mrs. Fisher were flying from New York to Indianapolis when they ran into the storm. Fisher is connected with the Emsco Aircraft Corporation and the Arrow Aircraft Corporation, both of California.

YOUNG BACKS HOOVER PLEA

Statement Indorses Appeal for Law Enforcement

Southland Given Credit for Loyalty Move

Next Week Set as Period of Public Meetings

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 6. (Exclusive)—Gov. Young today issued a statement heartily indorsing the movement that has been launched in California to support President Hoover in his plan to arouse the public to a keener responsibility for law observance and enforcement.

The statement follows:

"There is a movement originating largely in the southern portion of the State having for its purpose the support of President Hoover in his endeavors to arouse a keener sense of personal responsibility on the part of all our citizens, with respect to their attitude on the vitally important question of law observance. It is needless to say that I am in entire sympathy with this movement and that I feel the supreme importance of backing up the President in helping to solve what he obviously regards as one of our country's most serious problems.

"With this support of the President in mind the Citizens' Loyalty Alliance representing a hundred or more civic, patriotic, fraternal and religious bodies, has designated as Loyalty Week, the eight days beginning Sunday, the 8th inst., and ending with Sunday, the 15th inst. It is proposed during this period to hold meetings in various portions of the State at which may be discussed the general consideration of law, its observance and enforcement.

"Whatever may be the personal opinion of our citizens as to any specific law, I am certain that there is very little difference of opinion as to the necessity of sternly repressing anything which makes for lawlessness or disregard of law. This is President Hoover's home State; and now as the commission he has appointed on this problem is beginning to function, I feel that the citizens of this State will respond to the appeal in which he urged the people of America to give their support to "the one force that holds our civilization together—law."

CHEST PRINCIPAL WEIGHT INDEX

So States Columbia Research Worker in Tipping off Those Who Guess

NEW YORK, Sept. 6. (AP)—In guessing at a person's weight consider the chest most of all. A chart prepared by Dr. Mary Louise Bollin, research worker at Columbia, rates the determining factors as follows: Shoulder width, 9 per cent; height, 16; width of hips, 20; width of chest, 23; depth of chest, 32.

In their separate report they say:

"Generally speaking, the civilized world does now possess, or is rapidly coming to possess, a calendar enjoying substantial uniformity. The infliction of a new calendar having radical departures from the present would mean annoyance to millions of people, would bring discomfiture to sects which view the present calendar with religious loyalty and would offer nothing of substantial value to any single business which that business cannot enjoy now, if it will.

SNAP JUDGMENT

"The daily use of the calendar vitally concerns the intimate habits and views of vast millions of people in this country. The proposal to agitate a reform in the calendar as presented has no popular backing worth mentioning. A large group has been circularized and, as often happens with catchy ideas, a great many people, many of them of business prominence, are giving this proposal their indorsement without deep thinking.

"However enthusiastic the proponents of the proposed change may seem to be, general business has little interest. Those who wish to use a system of accounting other than that based upon the present months are now doing so. Business, as such, should be careful not to intrude upon matters peculiarly of private concern as well as being interwoven with custom of long standing, unless a change is of transcending importance to business itself. The Chamber of Commerce can well avoid taking any step to commit itself in this matter."

FLYING DEMONS READY FOR RACE

Million to See Sky Bullets Cleave Space Today

Six British and Italian Crafts After Cup

Pilots Hope to Beat Record of 319 Miles an Hour

EYDE, ISLAND OF WIGHT (Eng.) Sept. 6. (Exclusive)—The human urge for more speed for machines, which will hurtle a man through space at a fantastic rate not dreamed of a few years ago likely is to be satisfied before 1,000,000 spectators and the world in general here tomorow when six little bullet like seaplanes representing the genius of Italian and British engineering will race over the 218 mile course for the Schneider Cup.

They are not freak machines. Today they had to withstand stiff navigability tests. They had to taxi through the choppy waters between Southampton and Spithead and rise and land again and then repeat the process and finally remain moored to a buoy for six hours to insure their seaworthiness.

After almost superhuman efforts to get their seaplanes ready, both for navigability and seaworthiness, the tests were passed by all competing planes today. The tests were completed at 6 o'clock tonight and the machines then were taken to their hangars where mechanics and air craftsmen immediately started to work on final adjustments, but no further test nor modification of the machines is permitted.

WALES TO BE THERE

The Prince of Wales watched today's trials, having flown from London to Calshot. He will spend the night at a country house close by and will witness the contest tomorrow from the aircraft carrier Argus. Premier MacDonald, who today flew from Paris to London from the Geneva conference, also will see the contest from the Argus, together with Cabinet Ministers and members of the Diplomatic Corps, including American, French and Italian representatives.

It is stated tonight that after tomorrow's great race an attempt on the world air speed record will be made by one of the British Supermarine planes at Calshot Sunday while the Italians declare they intend an attempt at beating the record probably early next week if the weather is propitious.

Though both nations are entering a pair of new machines which represent two years of effort to improve the approximate speed of 300 miles an hour made by the old ones, it is significant that both sides also are racing their crack planes which set up the new world speed record last year. The Macchi 542, in which Maj. Mario de Bernardi achieved the world record mark of 318 miles an hour last year, is entered.

GREAT BRITAIN'S HOPE

Great Britain, while counting on its two new supermarine Rolls Royce S-6 planes, also entered as a third machine the supermarine Napier S-5 in which Flight Lieutenant Darcy Greig set up the British record of 319 miles an hour a year ago. Lieut. Greig will pilot the same machine tomorrow and Dal Molin will be in the cockpit of Maj. Bernardi's record-breaking craft.

Great Britain's two aces, Flying Officers Waghorne and Aicherley, will pilot the two supermarine Rolls Royce S-6 planes. It is no secret that they were designed by the aged Royce himself to attain a speed of six miles per minute but there is doubt expressed tonight that they will be able to stand the gruelling grind of the full 218-mile course.

The same is said about the new Macchi 67's, Italy's new machines, which will be piloted by Lieuts. Cadringher and Monti, and which are designed to reach a much greater speed than Maj. Bernardi's 318 miles an hour. The power of their engines has been increased to 1500 horsepower and engineers marvel that the frail little craft are able to withstand the wear and tear of the vibration of such a powerful motor.

DESIGNED FOR RACE

In reserve Great Britain holds two Gloucester Napier sixes. They were designed at an estimated cost of $1,000,000 especially for this race but were finished only a fortnight ago and tests in the last few days have been disappointing because of the failure of the oil feed pipe to function at high speed.

Italy's reserve plane is another Macchi 52, the Italian leaders having decided definitely not to use either the tiny Fiat, the smallest speed plane ever built, or the larger twin-engined Savoia Marchetti seaplane which is little else than a pair of flying motors with the pilot sandwiched in a maze of machinery between them.

FREE WANTS REDS CURBED AT CAPITAL

San Josean Seeks to Have Congress Enact Measure Like California Has

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6. (Exclusive)—Representative Arthur M. Free of San Jose, Cal., announced today that at the regular session in December he will ask Congress to enact legislation patterned after the California antisyndicalism law, aimed at suppressing Communistic activities in the District of Columbia and the Federal territories.

The California statute supplies an ideal model, Free said, as it has proved an effective weapon for dealing with disturbing radical elements and has been upheld by State and Federal courts, including the United States Supreme Court. The law was passed by the California Legislature in 1919.

Representative Free said the need for legislation covering Federal domain had been impressed upon him by his observations as a member of the House Immigration Committee and by the periodical Communistic demonstrations in the national capital.

CANADIANS FOIL NAKED PARADE

Leg of Doukhobor Woman Broken in Fight

Rioters Attempt to Enter Jail as Protest

Nude Marchers Found Guilty and Await Sentence

NELSON (B. C.) Sept. 6. (AP)—A Doukhobor woman sustained a broken leg late today and some of the men leaders were used roughly when about 250 men, women and children, members of the Sons of Freedom sect, marched from their camp outside the city limits into the city in an attempt to "join their brothers in jail."

What probably will go down in local history as the battle of Nelson ensued as the chanting Doukhobors reached the center of the city, where a barricade of trucks and automobiles, thrown across the street by citizens, halted the marching throng.

Leaders of the halted throng declared they would disrobe if they were not permitted to go to jail—and the battle started.

Citizens, who had gathered in great swarms, moved upon the massed Doukhobors. Police joined the melee, but an hour's scuffling, mauling and pushing was necessary before the Doukhobors were ejected from the city limits, about seven blocks away.

The fire department was called to the scene but the fire chief refused to use the hose because of the large number of children in the retreating Doukhobor crowd.

Back in their camp tonight they said they will parade again—probably minus their clothing.

Self-styled outcasts from the main Doukhobor colonies, thirty-two members of the Sons of Freedom sect, who more than a week ago participated in a nude parade, today were found guilty of indecent exposure and, like thirty-two adjudged guilty yesterday, they were remanded for sentence.

ECKENER ADMITS BEING "LOST" OVER OKLAHOMA

OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 6. (AP) Dr. Hugo Eckener, commander of the Graf Zeppelin on its history-making round-the-world flight, was "lost" when he described a huge circle over Northern Oklahoma on the way to Lakehurst, N. J., from Los Angeles, he told W. B. Estes, general manager of the State Chamber of Commerce, in a letter Estes has made public.

Estes had sent an invitation in German asking Dr. Eckener to pilot the Graf Zeppelin over Oklahoma City if possible, and Dr. Eckener's letter told why he did not pass over here.

"I was lost," Estes quoted his letter. "But then I had been lost since we left Los Angeles two hours behind. That encounter with the electric wire there damaged the rudder, and while we managed to keep in a more or less direct course to the northeast I still tried to circle far enough about El Reno, so as to see your city."

The Graf was over Perry, Okla., seventy miles north, when it described the vast circle instead of El Reno, thirty miles west of here.

TEACHER GIVEN CRASH VERDICT

Berkeley Woman Must Pay $25,000, Jury Votes

SAN RAFAEL (Cal.) Sept. 6. (AP) A Marin County Superior Court jury today awarded Margaret Ammerman, former Mendocino County school teacher, a total of $25,000 from Mrs. Gladys Camp Smith of Berkeley for damages Miss Ammerman suffered in an automobile accident Nov. 12, 1928.

Miss Ammerman also sued Mrs. Smith's father and asked for $32,995 in the suits. The jury exonerated the father. Miss Ammerman's mother was killed in the accident, and the father said he planned to sue Mrs. Smith for $50,000 on account of his wife's death.

HOPE OF SAVING MINERS WANES

Foreman Says Rescue Work for Four Too Slow

COPPEROPOLIS, Sept. 6. (Exclusive)—James Davis, underground foreman for the Calaveras Copper Mining Company, came to the surface this afternoon with the prediction that there is scant hope of finding alive four men who remain entombed from the cave-in last Wednesday. Bodies of two of the seven men trapped have been recovered. One man, Ompre Vale, found alive, is under treatment at a hospital in Stockton and is expected to recover.

Davis said new cave-ins have occurred, blocking the path the rescue workers must take. Dynamite cannot be used, he explained, which means it will take so long to reach the place where the men are believed to be they will perish if they have not already done so.

Because of the labor shortage in Belgium, manufacturers are inducing Polish and Italian workers to immigrate there.

MARINES' GOAL CHINESE SHRINE

Gen. Butler Tells American Plan of Defense

Advance of Southern Army Cause for Fear

Motor Vehicles Ready to Evacuate Refugees

(This is the fifth of eight articles in which Maj.-Gen. Butler is telling the diverting story of the bloodless conquest of China by the United States marines he took out there in 1927 to protect American lives in the country's raging civil war.)
[Copyright, 1929, by the North American Newspaper Alliance.]

BY SMEDLEY D. BUTLER,
Major-General, U.S.M.C.

Our mission in Shanghai and Central China was soon ended, for the Nationalist army was entrenched there and little possibility appeared of an outbreak in the Yangtze Valley.

GEN. SMEDLEY D. BUTLER

In Northern China, however, we feared trouble might develop when the Nationalists took over the Tient-sin - Peking area, for it seemed certain the Northern troops would evacuate as soon as the Southerners reached there. That is what actually occurred later.

So the main body of Marines moved up to Tien-tsin, seaport for Peking. Tien-tsin would have to be taken before Peking was invaded.

When we moved into Tien-tsin in July, 1927, we had the largest unit of troops in Northern China. The Japanese had the next largest.

It seemed there would be real need for our services.

INVASION "BUST"

In Shanghai during the late winter and early spring the "invasion" of China was a "bust" as far as the Marines were concerned, for there was no fighting. But Tien-tsin was different.

The Nationalist (Southern) army, victorious in the Yangtse Valley of Central China, was on the march north. Peking and Tien-tsin were the main objectives. There was not much left to sack and plunder in Peking, but it was the seat of the government, and as such highly desirable to the Southern generals.

Before Peking could be occupied, however, Tien-tsin must be taken. This, the seaport for the capital, is a city of more than 1,500,000 population with banks stocked with gold, warehouses and stores filled with provisions and merchandise, and thousands of huge homes and palaces full of valuables—an ideal city to invade and plunder.

Even at that early date is seemed certain the Southern forces would get to Tien-tsin within twelve months or so, at which time the Northern army would retreat, and that finally Peking also would fall, more or less peacefully.

TASK FOR MARINES

The task of the Marines was to protect American lives in this area during the turnover, when anything might happen, and to carry out this job in such a manner that no wounds would be left to impair our friendship with the Chinese.

We hoped and planned to talk the Chinese out of attacking or injuring our nationals in the area. Meantime, as we were really a fire-fighting force, like the fire department of any city, we prepared for the worst.

First we arranged a refuge in Tien-tsin for every American in the area. There were several thousand within reach of Tien-tsin and we provided a cot for each, with the name on it of the individual American who was to occupy it in emergency. Each billet was kept provisioned constantly and stocked with seventy-five days' rations for each American. Even food for babies was on hand. Fuel, medical supplies and other necessities for the emergency "entertainment" of expected guests was on hand.

REFUGE ORGANIZED

As it was impossible to send our troops—and we had nearly 4000 officers and men in Tien-tsin—all over the vast area of Northern China, we organized this refuge and sent word to all Americans to come in "now or when danger threatens," and "stay until the storm blows over."

To play fair with the Chinese, something we tried to do always, we made it plain to our citizens that none was to involve the United States in a row with the Chinese by selfishly or stubbornly remaining in the interior and being shot up by bandits or undisciplined troops.

That was one step for the protection of American lives.

To that time we had paid little attention to the situation in Peking, where a detachment of Marines was on guard at the United States Legation.

ARMY BREAKS THROUGH

One o'clock on a morning in October, 1927, I was awakened to be told that the American Consul-General in Tien-tsin had been informed by our legation in Peking that the Chinese Foreign Office (of the Northern government) had received word that 16,000 Shansi (Southern) troops had broken through and were only fifteen miles from Peking.

The Northern forces were then still in a position to repulse such a small invading force, but it opened our eyes to the possible danger to Americans in Peking if the Southern army should decide to circle Tien-tsin and go direct to Peking. This possible maneuver seemed out of the question because of the vast plunder in Tien-tsin and the scarcity of it in the capital, but we couldn't afford to take chances.

NO RELIEF COLUMN

At that time the administration had messaged the American Minister in Peking, John Van A. MacMurray, that it was the policy of our government that the American Legation should not be caught napping in Peking and be cut off. The American Minister was directed to formulate plans to evacuate Peking for some other safe refuge—Tien-tsin preferably—before the Legation personnel was trapped.

He was informed that it was not the intention of the administration that a relief column such as that of the Boxer days of 1900 should be necessary. Minister MacMurray was ordered to evacuate just at the proper time, not too soon and not too late. The responsibility was his alone.

The Shansi incident, however, with its sudden attack, showed how Mr. MacMurray, although faithfully seeking to carry out the instructions of the State Department, might nevertheless be caught unaware. It was the feeling of the marines that in case our people were cut off in Peking we simply could not calmly stand by, ninety miles from the scene of what might easily develop into the murder of helpless American women and children, and make no effort at rescue.

RESCUE BY ROAD

Accordingly plans were quietly prepared providing for an attempt at rescue if such measures became a necessity—a plan, incidentally, that the administration approved later.

We had studied carefully the ill-fated relief expedition of 1900, which, trusting to railroads, never reached its destination but had to be rescued by another column after more than 400 of its personnel had been killed or wounded, and then laid our own plans.

As no dependence could be placed on the railroads and as there is a wagon road between Tien-tsin and Peking which is passable for motor vehicles about 95 per cent of the time, a plan was prepared to send the rescue column by motor vehicle.

In brief the plan was to send 2000 marines to Peking, seize the Temple of Heaven, the place most susceptible of good defense in the capital, collect within it all Americans in the city, and then evacuate them to Tien-tsin and finally to the coast and aboard our American men-of-war—by means of our airplanes.

CHINESE TEMPLE GOAL

Under our plans, which included many unusual features to prevent delay and at the same time avoid skirmishes with hostile troops, we believed we could reach Peking in twelve hours after a call for help, and accomplish the withdrawal of the Americans in three days.

The Temple of Heaven, before the revolution that changed China from a monarchy to a republic, for centuries and dynasties was the citadel of religion in China. There the emperors of China worshiped. Its 737 acres are protected by a strong wall. There are a number of beautifully-colored and decorated tabernacles within. Unused since the revolution, the place was overgrown with weeds and flowers and trees abounded.

DIPLOMACY WINS

As our plans called for the landing and taking off of planes within the comparatively small inclosure, somehow we had to arrange for the clearing of the place. By commenting upon the beauty of the temple to high government officers we finally persuaded them that it would be a splendid achievement if the place were cleaned up and put into first-class shape. The Chinese agreed to do this, and unknowingly provided a splendid landing field in our "emergency fortress."

In Tien-tsin we had enough motorized transportation to carry 1000 officers and men. We obtained an option on every other available vehicle in the city. These options provided that at any hour of the day or night, at any place, regardless of circumstances, we might seize the vehicles when an emergency arose.

Two marines were assigned to each of the several hundred trucks thus acquired, and it was their duty to know the whereabouts of their vehicle at all times, and to be ready to take it over and drive it to its designated place.

As most of these were simply chassis, we designed and built a special type of wooden body, all uniform, which could be adjusted to the chassis in ten minutes. Special bodies were mounted on saw horses in the various billets; they were stocked with equipment and stores, including rations for five days, and each man had a place assigned on his particular truck. All that was necessary when the truck reached the billet was for the men to push the body onto the chassis, tighten a few bolts, jump in and leave.

PANAMA TO BE MONACO OF AMERICA

Gambling-Casino Charter Caters to Tourists Only, Residents Excluded

PANAMA, Sept. 6. (Exclusive)—The exclusion of civil employees of the Panama Canal and soldiers, sailors and citizens of Panama from the gambling-casino has been one of the conditions in granting a concession to a syndicate of New York business men interested in the development of Panama as a winter playground, according to the newspaper Diario de Panama.

J. H. Drumm, manager of the National City Bank, in addressing the Rotary Club today said:

"It is planned to establish a business consisting of a hotel, golf course and flying-field." According to the plans in question the Diario states that "only tourists will be admitted to the gambling-casino and members of the United States Army and Navy and citizens of Panama will be excluded.

Ben Grey, president of Ben Gray, Inc., representing the personal interests of numerous New York bankers and industrialists, who arrived Monday said a corporation will be organized "to make original surveys of matters of national and international scope requiring financial development, marketing and exploitation." He said he was authorized to make a survey of the local situation and possibly make a bid for the concession authorized by the last National Assembly.

Chief among the organization of the company are the late Minor C. Keith, Rudolph Spreckels, Samuel W. Reyburn, Lewis L. Clarke, Benjamin F. Yoakum, Arthur T. Vanderbilt, H. S. Charles, Henry Schatzkin and the late Otto Eidlitz.

FLORIDANS WOULD LIFT QUARANTINE

Delegation Holds Fruit Fly Menace to Texas and California Only

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6. (Exclusive)—Urging removal of all quarantine restrictions on shipment of certified fruit out of Florida, a delegation of Florida citizens that called upon officials of the Department of Agriculture today used as the basis of their argument the asserted fact that the Mediterranean fruit fly cannot survive in temperate zones where the temperature goes down to 50 deg. for a brief period or more each year.

This lack of hardiness in the pest had been discovered, they said, as the result of studies conducted by Prof. Glenn W. Herrick of Cornell University, and accordingly the fruit fly can offer no danger to fruit and vegetable crops anywhere except in the extreme southern portion of California and a part of Texas, they agreed. The delegation, headed by the two Florida Senators, asked that all restrictions save for those applying to those two sections, be removed.

After the hearing Assistant Secretary Dunlap promised to take the whole quarantine question under advisement with Dr. Marlatt, chief of the quarantine and control bureau, and announce later what modifications, if any, will be ordered.

Young, according to H. A. Spindt, past president of the Exchange Club and chairman of the combined club committee on arrangements.

The Lieutenant-Governor was obtained as a speaker through the efforts of R. E. Cady, representing the Kern county Chamber of Commerce and a member of the committee representing that organization.

Detroit Woman Murder Victim

FRANCE HOISTS COPY OF PHILADELPHIA FLAG

PARIS, Sept. 6. (AP)—A copy of the original American flag given the Paris municipality by the city of Philadelphia was hoisted today on the campanile of the Hotel De Ville beside the French Tricolor. The occasion was the commemoration at Philadelphia of the victory of the Marne and the birth of the Marquis De Lafayette.

Mexico to Get Treasure Taken by Insurrecto

PHOENIX, Sept. 6. (AP)—Stamps, cash and securities valued at $185,000, property of Mexico, will be turned over to that government shortly, Secretary of State Stinson was informed today by K. Berry Peterson, Attorney General of Arizona.

An inquiry from the State Department to Gov. Phillips was referred to the Attorney General.

The matter dates back to the days of the late rebellion, when Jose Maria Casares was Exchequer of the Treasury in Agua Calientes, Chihuahua, Mex. Casares seized the treasure and fled to this country, depositing the stamps, cash and securities in the bank of Douglas, Ariz.

Peterson advised the State Department that all the property will be returned to the Mexican government after provisions of the law have been complied with.

FUND TRANSFER PLOT THICKENS

New York Financiers at Sea on Code Forgery

Money Apparently Used for Legitimate Ends

Belief Grows in Colorado Perpetrator's Aberration

NEW YORK, Sept. 6. (Exclusive) One of the greatest searches in modern police history was on today for the key man in the new money-transfer racket by which six New York banks were defrauded of $600,000 which on receipt of forged code telegrams from Denver was placed to the credit of the Bank of Telluride, Colo., but on which, so far as has been ascertained to date, no actual cash was raised.

Private investigators, according to H. H. Hollendorf of the protective department of the American Bankers' Association, were on the trail of a man believed to be the head of the conspiracy who was in Nebraska Wednesday afternoon when the frauds were discovered and who now is reported to be in Kansas. An arrest within twenty-four hours was predicted by Hollendorf.

HUNT WAGGONER

The New York police are continuing their search for C. D. Waggoner, president of the Bank of Telluride, or the man representing himself as Waggoner, who appeared in person at the Chase and Central Hanover banks last Friday and Saturday, presented cashier's checks for the money transferred to the credit of the Telluride bank and took up several notes of the bank as well as personal notes. He departed with cashier's checks totaling $180,000.

As a direct result of the frauds and Waggoner's disappearance, the Bank of Telluride closed its doors today, according to dispatches from the Colorado mining town.

SIGNATURES GENUINE

The signatures on the cashier's checks presented by Waggoner or the man posing as Waggoner appear to be genuine, according to bank officials. The messages authorizing the transfer of the funds were in code and contained test words known only to the high officials of the several banks, thus pointing to the complicity of a man who holds or formerly held a high position in one of the banks involved.

The question of liability is being held in abeyance until some of the mystifying matters of the present situation have been solved.

Dispatches from Denver indicate that Waggoner actually left Telluride for New York ten days ago for the purpose of raising money, but a search of hotels here proved futile.

H. A. Crowe, an official of the W. J. Burns detective agency, acting for the American Bankers' Association, today predicted Waggoner's whereabouts would be known by morning and indicated operatives were on a decidedly hot trail.

MOTIVES GOOD

But evidence that Waggoner's intentions were only the highest in arranging the big credit—that the whole procedure was for the salvation of his own little bank—piled up today as the First National Bank of Pueblo, Colo., and the Continental National Bank of Salt Lake City reported just having received credits of $150,000 and $30,000, respectively for the Telluride institution.

Meanwhile reports from Denver and Telluride stated that friends there were expressing concern over Waggoner's mental condition.

WAGGONER GONE EAST, SAYS WIFE

DENVER, Sept. 6. (AP)—Mrs. C. D. Waggoner, wife of the president of the Bank of Telluride, on her arrival in Denver late today, said she had last seen her husband at Lincoln, Neb., yesterday. He put her on a train there, she said, and told her he was going east.

GOVERNMENT TO MAKE WAGGONER CHARGE

NEW YORK, Sept. 6. (AP)—The New York Times tomorrow will say Assistant United States Attorney Hastings has drawn up here a charge of grand larceny against C. D. Waggoner, president of the Bank of Telluride, Colo., whom private detectives are seeking in connection with a financial manipulation which placed to his credit $500,000 belonging to six Denver banks.

The formal complaint was made by the Harriman National Bank, one of six banks which obeyed telegraphic orders apparently coming from their correspondent banks in Denver last Friday, on which they set up a credit at the Chase National Bank subject to the order of the Bank of Telluride. The six New York banks later were informed by the Denver banks that no such orders had been sent.

Consul and Wife in Opium Plot Jailed in China

SHANGHAI, Sept. 6. (AP)—Deported from the United States after the revelation of an opium smuggling plot of huge proportions, King Kao, former Chinese vice-consul at San Francisco, and his young wife were taken into custody by Chinese authorities here today upon their arrival aboard the steamer Shinyo Maru.

They face trial by the government in connection with the plot. Instead of being jailed at Shanghai as was expected they would be, King and his wife immediately were taken to Nanking, where they were booked for trial in the Nanking courts, although the date of their trial was not officially made known.

A Tachung semiofficial news agency dispatch quoted officials of the government as having said that they are determined to make an example of the pair to all government workers who violate a public trust.

BAY CITY RAID NETS 185

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 6. (AP)—Police today arrested 185 persons in two asserted gambling establishments here. Of the lot, four were charged with being keepers of gambling games, and the remainder with visiting a gambling establishment.

OFFER OF RAIN GETS ALL WET

Denver Man's Proposition to Help New Yorkers Has Moist Reception

NEW YORK, Sept. 6. (AP)—A messenger boy dashed into the City Hall today with a telegram for Mayor Walker. The haste was made because of the rain. Water dripped from his uniform and squashed in his shoes. He delivered the following message:

"Will bring rain and reduce temperature to New York within eighty-four hours, fee $300,000. If I do not succeed within this time, all I ask is my expenses to and from New York. Telegraph reply at once." It was signed by A. J. Wisch, 2085 South Santa Fe Drive, Denver.

PROSPERITY DECLARED STATE-WIDE

Koster Reports Improved Conditions at Meeting of Chamber at Fair

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 6. (Exclusive)—Increased prosperity in practically all lines of business in California was reported by Frederick J. Koster of San Francisco at today's annual State fair meeting of the California State Chamber of Commerce held in the Hotel Senator. Twenty-seven members of the board of directors were present. William M. Garland, presided.

Koster characterised economic conditions throughout the State as "the most optimistic for some time, with a wide variety of activity being carried on." He reported only two "minor sore spots," those being lack of sufficient pasturage and lower citrus prices. However, he said a large oil production will balance the loss of income from citrus fruits.

The reports of the north coast district of the chamber, said Koster, is more satisfactory than for a long time. The San Joaquin Valley is in a healthy condition and there is no tendency, he declared, toward a car shortage. Satisfactory conditions were also reported from Southern California districts.

The State-wide water committee of the chamber met following the directors' meeting to continue its studies of the water problem, both irrigation and domestic.

RESCUERS RUSH WELL SHAFT WORK

Iowa Man Imprisoned by Cave-in Complains of Settling Rock

OTTUMWA (Iowa) Sept. 6. (AP)—Workers tonight hastened to complete a thirty-foot shaft through which they hope to rescue Wilkins Priest, 55 years of age, imprisoned since Thursday morning in a well which caved in as he was cleaning it.

After the shaft is sunk they plan to dig a horizontal tunnel to the quicksand base of the well on which Priest is standing. Unless heavy rock layers are struck, the rescue party expects to reach the man, who has been without food for thirty-six hours.

Conversation between Priest and Dr. D. L. Rater indicate he is keeping cheerful despite increasing cold in the well. Priest complained of the rocks settling about his chest.

Priest was unable to tell rescue workers whether he had been injured. He could not move any part of his body because of the pressure from the dirt and rocks.

Mrs. Du Pont in Reno for Decree

RENO, Sept. 6. (AP)—Mrs. Samuel H. Du Pont of Wilmington, Del., who was Elisabeth Ormond Wrenn of Washington, D. C., arrived here today and, according to her attorney, will reside here three months to establish a residence for divorce purposes. She would not discuss the matter.

CHICAGO, Sept. 6. (AP)—Charging that his wife deserted him in September, 1927, William C. Boyden, Jr., son of the late president of the Chicago Bar Association, today filed suit for divorce against Mrs. Mary Delafield Boyden, who now lives in Los Angeles.

CALIFORNIA RIVERS WILL BE SURVEYED

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 6. (AP)—Capt. T. J. Mather of the United States Coast and Geodetic Survey today announced his department will start work on a survey of the waters of the Sacramento and San Joaquin rivers. The surveys will start at Pittsburg, one going to Sacramento and the other to Stockton. The object is to furnish river pilots with official government charts of the two rivers. No such charts exist at the present time, he said.

WAITER HELD IN GEM THEFT

BUDAPEST (Hungary) Sept. 6. (AP)—The police today arrested a waiter who they said had jewelry worth $26,000 which had been stolen July 16 from Mrs. William Prestopi of Colorado.

REDS HURL NEW PLOT CHARGES

China Accused of Duplicity in Negotiations

American Aid Declared to be Given Nanking

Beheading of Russians Laid to Oriental Foes

MOSCOW, Sept. 6. (AP)—Serious doubts now are entertained by the soviet government as to the sincerity and genuineness of the Chinese Nationalist government's proposals for settlement of their dispute over the Chinese Eastern Railway, in the light of editorials today in the official newspapers Pravda and Isvestia.

Both journals, one of which represents the government directly and the other the Communist party, stress "hostile statements" by Chinese Minister C. C. Wu at Geneva and by J. J. Mantell, adviser to the Chinese government on railroad administration at Mukden.

Documents and figures produced by each of these speakers were declared "false and fake."

AMERICA HIT

Pravda makes vague references to "imperialistic masters" behind Dr. Wu and Mr. Mantell, obviously meaning the United States. Under the caption "The American Demon," it prints a cartoon showing a towering figure of Uncle Sam guiding the diminutive figure of a Chinese militarist as the latter prepares the Chinese government's reply to the soviet proposals.

Pravda and Isvestia again called attention today to fresh border raids of Chinese troops in Manchuria and "to repeated outrages and excesses committed against soviet citizens by Chinese authorities."

The newspapers even assert that many Russians have been beheaded and Pravda adds that "hundreds of our citizens are still in Chinese prisons where they are subjected to indignities and torture worthy only of the middle ages."

"The property of soviet citizens has become the prey of Chinese hangmen who at the same time speak of their peaceful intentions toward the soviet union," it says. "If such are the expressions of a sincere desire for peace, what then, we ask, constitutes a provocation?"

BITTER CHARGES

Declaring that these acts only show a new attempt being made by Chinese militarists to kindle the fires of war in the Far East, Pravda calls on the Russian people to be ready to meet any assaults on the soviet union.

In an interview with a representative of the Russian Tass News Agency, Maxim Litvinoff, Vice-Commissar for Foreign Affairs, declared today that the peaceful attitude of the Russian soviet government in international affairs is well represented by the example of the Sino-Russian conflict.

This dispute, he said, long ago would have resulted in war and conflagration if China had to deal not with Russia but with any other government.

THAT CRAZY MAN!

They Said He Was Crazy

Back a few years ago when he started Piggly Wiggly they called him crazy. Nobody but a crazy man would name a store Piggly Wiggly. Nobody but a crazy man would expect folks to wait on themselves in a store. That's what "they" said about Clarence Saunders, the originator of Piggly Wiggly. Then there came the big Wall Street battle over control of that "crazy" Piggly Wiggly business. Saunders lost his Piggly Wiggly stores and every nickel that he had—in bankruptcy he gave up his home and everything else. "He won't come back," said the wise boys of the financial world. "Saunders is cooked and done for," they said. But Saunders didn't mind that kind of talk. He paid no attention. Instead, he started a new store in Memphis, Tenn., just five years ago, on a capital of $12,000 for stock in his new corporation. Today the new Clarence Saunders stores number over 400, and are located in over 230 towns and cities in 19 different states. That's Saunders' answer to the sayings of the wise boys: "He won't come back."

Right here in Los Angeles 19 of these dandy up-to-date Clarence Saunders stores are ready for business. Clarence Saunders, himself, says that never in the world have you seen prettier stores—none more convenient in which it is more pleasing to wait on one's self. No turnstiles to bother with. Everything so free and so beautiful. Everything so orderly and artistic.

These are complete stores with meat markets, fresh fruits and vegetables, groceries—a wide variety of good things to eat; and the prices—they are low and right. Follow the crowd and feast your eyes on a thing of beauty. Come, bring along a friend. Music and flowers are here to make you happy and more beautiful. Come, and see how crazy this man Saunders is.

THE BEASTS OF TARZAN

By Edgar Rice Burroughs

The foremost of the charging warriors went down to quick death beneath the long, stout club of the ape-man. Now his lithe, sinewy figure was among them, striking right and left with mighty power and fury. Then over the frightful din, Tarzan lifted his voice in a series of sudden weird screams, a sound so terrible that the savages could not believe their ears.

Yet with their own eyes they had seen this white man open his mouth to pour forth his awful cry. A moment they hesitated. There came a mighty crashing in the jungle behind them. As they looked in the direction of this new peril, there broke upon their startled vision a sight that may well have frozen the blood of braver men than these black warriors.

Leaping from the tangled vegetation of the jungle's rim came a huge panther, with blazing eyes and bared fangs. And in his wake a score of ponderous, shaggy apes lurched rapidly toward them. Half erect upon their short bowed legs, their long arms reaching to the ground, the frightful hordes advanced. The beasts of Tarzan had come in answer to his call!

No wonder the Wagambi blacks scattered for their lives. Heavy spears were hurled and apes went down, never to rise. Sheeta's tearing claws ripped and tore at black hides. Akut's yellow tusks found the throat of more than one glistening savage. And Tarzan of the Apes was here, there and everywhere, urging on his fierce allies, and himself taking a heavy toll with his keen knife.

LEADERS OF BUSINESS WOMEN GATHER

California Federation Presidential Candidate Nominated

PASADENA, Sept. 6.—If married couples would give each other advice only when asked for it, there would be few divorces, according to Dr. O. P. Gifford, who addressed delegates to the annual convention of the California Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, now in session at the Hotel Huntington.

"When I married fifty years ago," said Dr. Gifford, "I said to the queen of my household, 'The home is your kingdom, the church is my work. When you want advice from me I shall gladly give it for the asking, and when I want it from you I shall say so. Otherwise, let's cultivate dumbness.' The result was fifty years of harmony."

Mrs. Anne Osborne of Stockton was awarded first prize in the beauty contest for women more than 30 years of age this afternoon. Mrs. Luella Robbins of Visalia, was second, and Madge M. Thompson of Santa Monica, third.

Mrs. Alberta Fabrick of Arcadia won first prize in the beauty contest for delegates under 30, with Juanita Stevenson of San Diego second and Ruby Eckel of Santa Ana, third.

THREE AFTER CONVENTION

Salinas, Tahoe Tavern and Sacramento have presented invitations for the 1930 convention. The acceptance of one of these bids will be decided tomorrow following the annual election.

It appeared a foregone conclusion today that the nominating committee's selection of Miss Ida M. Reed of Visalia, as candidate for State president, will be approved by unanimous vote.

"There was a time when women who worked for a living were looked down upon, but the tables are turned, and it is the woman who does nothing who is frowned upon," said Miss E. C. Clements of San Francisco, past State president, in an address today.

Protection of national parks in California, including conservation of cacti, palms and other native flora, was advocated at the morning business meeting.

The delegates voted unanimously to co-operate in preventing the spread of the dreaded Mediterranean fruit fly.

"GAY NINETIES" BANQUET

Dressed in costumes of the period, the "Gay Nineties" banquet was held tonight in the hotel ballroom. Following the banquet stunts were presented by the Anaheim, Bakersfield, Burlingame, Covina, Glendale, Laguna Beach, San Diego, San Francisco, Santa Monica and Whittier chapters.

Public Health Head and Sociological Savant Says He Envies California's Institutions for Wayward

GLENDALE, Sept. 6.—The methods and equipment of California's institutions devoted to the care of the wayward youth, the mentally incompetent and the juvenile delinquents, are the admiration and the envy of welfare workers throughout the country, Dr. L. M. Bristol, president of the Florida Public Health Association and professor of sociology at the University of Florida at Gainesville, that State, said here today.

Dr. Bristol, during his visit to California, has inspected the Preston School at Ione, the State Insane Asylum and has also attended the sessions of the juvenile department of the Los Angeles county Superior Court, gathering data to be used in his sociological studies when he returns to Florida.

Discussing the war on the Mediterranean fruit fly Dr. Bristol declared that the Florida authorities and the Federal health officials are confident that the pest's ravages will be definitely checked by November and that two or three more years of concentrated warfare will see it entirely eliminated from the State.

Foster became a Master Mason in the Ventura lodge on August 2, 1879, and served as Master from 1885 to 1886.

Young of an invitation to be present at the Los Angeles County Fair on Friday, the 20th inst., the fair board today announced that the day would be officially designated as Governor's day, and plans are already being made to make the occasion one of the outstanding features of fair week, which runs from the 7th to 22nd inst., inclusive.

Fred J. Smith was today named by Fair President Charles P. Curran to head the reception committee which will include outstanding citizens of the community, and a noon luncheon at which the Governor is expected to make a short speech. Climaxing the day, the Governor will personally award the winner of the feature "Governor's race," a huge floral horseshoe in front of the main grand stands at the half-mile race track in the afternoon.

A hall in connection will provide space for temporary art exhibit and community gatherings. Completion within 120 days is called for in the contract.

Morals Case to Hear Alienists Give Testimony

SAN DIEGO, Sept. 6. — Acting in accordance with a new State law which went into effect August 14, Judge C. N. Andrews today appointed Theodore K. Miller, State-employed alienist, and Dr. Roy Stevenson of the San Diego county General Hospital, to study the case of M. J. Wagner, veteran, who pleaded not guilty "by reason of insanity" to a morals charge. The law requires the court, when such pleas of insanity are advanced, to appoint both a State and local alienist to give testimony for benefit of the trial court.

Defense and prosecution may select as many alienists as they see fit. Prosecutor Oran N. Muir announced he expects to summon Dr. T. Coe Little, psychiatrist, to show that Wagner was sane when he committed the acts attributed to him. The case will come up Tuesday for trial, without jury.

VISITOR DIES AT BELL

BELL, Sept. 6.—Dr. George T. Klipstein, 75 years of age, formerly of Alexandria, Va., but who for the past year has been making his home with his father-in-law, "General" S. S. Simmons, of this city, died yesterday. He had made many visits to this city from his old home in Virginia, and came here a year ago for the benefit of his health. During his visits here he has invested considerable in business property both in this city and Huntington Park.

Mr. Klipstein was a member of a pioneer family in Virginia and belonged to the Episcopal Church in which George Washington and Robert E. Lee held their membership during their time. He is survived by his widow and two sisters.

The remains are to be shipped back to Virginia for burial.

Ventura School for Girls Scene of Fire; Damage Not Large, Due to Quick Work

VENTURA, Sept. 6.—Fire starting from an electric iron burned for an hour or more in a schoolroom of the Ventura School for Girls, a State institution, before it was discovered a few minutes before midnight last night.

The Ventura Fire Department hurried to the scene, but the blaze had been extinguished by the special school fireman, Charles Pratt, who broke down the door and applied the chemical extinguisher.

The iron had been left connected with the electric current and set fire to the ironing board, it was learned, and the board collapsed, allowing the iron to set fire to the floor, damaging a large section of it. Part of the furniture, including chairs and oak tables, were partially consumed and the walls blackened by smoke.

The room was tightly closed, causing the fire to smoulder for a considerable period.

Location of the fire was fortunate inasmuch as it precluded the possibility of the disaster which might have occurred had it started in the dormitory and created a panic among the students, officials of the school said today.

Pioneers' Day to be Observed at Santa Barbara

SANTA BARBARA, Sept. 6.—Honoring the sturdy pioneers of the American period, that period which lay between the Civil War and today, and who made the California of today possible, Native Sons and Daughters of the Golden West are completing plans for their fourth annual Pioneers' Day, which will be held Admission Day, next Monday, in the Santa Barbara Woman's Club in Mission Canyon.

Invitations have been sent to all the old-timers who registered in the guest book last year, but the committee in charge is extending a welcome also to all those interested. Those who have made their homes in Santa Barbara for thirty years or more are asked to sign their names in the official roster, which was begun during the first Pioneers' Day held in 1926.

Years will be turned back after the program in the afternoon, at which the pioneers will relate experiences which happened as early as the '60's, the days when Santa Barbara's streets were dusty footpaths leading toward the foothills, when only one family lived on the mesa, and a saloon blocked State street.

At the gathering will be those who came overland amid much peril with little of the luxury taken for granted by the present travelers with many means of travel at their convenience. Still others came by boat.

Only ten Americans were residents of Santa Barbara in 1865. Mrs. Jane Kimberly of 104 Chapwa street came at this time. Mrs. Kimberly, who will be 91 years of age next February, will be one of the honored guests at the reception.

Survivor of San Juan Disaster Gets Back Home

SANTA BARBARA, Sept. 6.—John Garcia, 330 West Canon Perdido street, one of the survivors of the San Juan steamship disaster of August 30, last, near San Francisco, returned home yesterday.

According to Garcia's story, he was a passenger aboard the ill-fated steamer, en route from San Francisco to Santa Barbara. He says he was on the lower deck when the crash occurred.

He grabbed a life preserver and put it on and hurried to the upper deck, where he assisted several men in launching a lifeboat. The sinking ship was listing badly and when he got into the lifeboat it was filled with water and turned over, throwing those in it into the water. He managed to swim away from the sinking ship and in a short time was picked up by a lifeboat from the tanker Dodd and taken aboard that ship. He is none the worse for his harrowing experience.

Torrance Pair in Double Funeral

TORRANCE, Sept. 6.—Double funeral services will be conducted here tomorrow afternoon for Harry D. Peebles, 55 years of age, and his wife Matilda, 50, whose deaths were but a few hours apart. Peebles died at the Sidney Torrance Memorial Hospital last Saturday afternoon following an operation. The shock of his death proved too much for his helpmate, who had been under special treatment for a heart affection for the last five years. She succumbed early Monday.

Peebles, a glass worker, and his wife, had been residents of this place for over fifteen years, coming to California twenty years ago.

A sister of Mrs. Peebles living in Newcastle, Pa., is the nearest surviving relative. She is expected here for the funeral, which will be at 2 p.m. from the Stone & Myers funeral chapel. Cremation will follow.

He was the first president of his class and with this year the last. In addition he is captain of the football eleven and a weight man on the track team.

Engineer Urges Cities to Join Water District

UPLAND, Sept. 6.—In the cycle of time the desert has always won and unless Southern California, built up in the heart of the great American desert, builds strongly now the garden spot of America will crumble back into sand dunes and sage brush.

This will happen unless the foresight of the present generation provides more water from other sources than the desert allows to be taken from its underground reservoirs, J. Hunter Clark, Los Angeles engineer, told a great gathering here last night, in urging Upland, Ontario and other Southern California communities to unite with the Metropolitan Water District. Clark said, "When I look back over historical fact I find that out of the many communities that have sprung out of a desert, not one has endured. Many have been cities, some of them great, that have flourished in the desert, but the desert has always come back.

"Southern California is a community in the heart of the great American desert. Today with our water levels fast receding the desert is making its first bid to come back and destroy that which we have created."

Clark told the gathering that in 1885 there was a total of 350 square miles of territory in Southern California that would yield plentiful artesian wells wherever a shaft was drilled. In 1925 there were but fifty square miles of such territory in the entire Southland, he said, and that area is even less now.

No action has yet been taken by Upland or Ontario regarding association with the water district.

Man Changing Tire Struck by Passing Machine

GLENDALE, Sept. 6.—Lloyd Peet, 5149 North Haskell street, La Canada, halted his car at 207 West Los Feliz Road today to change a flat tire, but before he had been working five minutes he was struck by another car driven by C. E. Marsh, 914 Arizona street, Santa Monica, and was taken to a hospital with a possible skull fracture, concussion of the brain, a broken shoulder blade, fractured ribs, besides severe cuts and bruises.

Marsh told the police that he knew nothing of the accident beyond the fact that he had taken his eyes off the road just before it occurred, when he reached out to adjust a wind wing on his car. The police took Marsh to headquarters, where he filled out a report of the accident and was released.

After being taken to the Physicians' and Surgeons' Hospital, Peet is said to have told Police Lieutenant Hamilton that he was standing in front of his car fixing his tire when he was struck.

SNAKE KILLS PONY

CHATSWORTH, Sept. 6.—Warren Graves lost his pinto pony. When he found him again the pony was on Oat Ridge and dead. Examination showed the horse had been bitten by a rattlesnake.

Asserted False Arrest Leads to Filing of Suit

LONG BEACH, Sept. 6.—Damages of $100,000 for asserted false arrest, malicious prosecution and unlawful conspiracy are sought from G. L. Buck, City Manager; Myrtelle L. Gunsul, City Auditor, and Jack Cook, investigator for the City Manager, in suit filed today by Helen M. Asbery of 422 East State street.

The civil action is an aftermath of formal charges made before the City Council recently on which action is pending in regard to the manager and investigator. The auditor is an elected officer and the Council has no control over her actions.

Mrs. Asbery charges that Myrtelle Gunsul has attempted to harass, annoy and persecute the plaintiff and members of her family for several years. The complaint recites a raid by police followed by the detention of the plaintiff, her two children and two visitors by police for an hour on July 29. This raid was conceived and planned in a conspiracy on the part of the defendants, the complaint alleges. All charges were dismissed and she was exonerated by police, Mrs. Asbery declares.

Actual damages of $50,000 for humiliation suffered and illness and worry resulting and exemplary damages for a like amount are asked in the complaint.

NORRIS NEW HEAD OF COLUMBUS KNIGHTS

The offices of secretary and lecturer are filled by appointments made by the newly elected Grand Knight and those will be announced later.

NAVA TESTIFIES IN MURDER CASE

One of Youths Accused in Kirk Killing on Stand

Prisoner Admits Blow But Says Car Caused Death

Argument to Jury to Begin on Tuesday Morning

SANTA ANA, Sept. 6.—Argument to the jury in the trial of Abel Nava and Allen Slater, Long Beach youths accused of the murder of Walter Roy Kirk of Huntington Beach, will start Tuesday morning. Both sides rested late today after Nava and Slater had each taken the stand in his own behalf.

Nava, on whom the State has concentrated its guns, declared that Kirk stopped his car after he had passed the car Nava was driving on the Coast Highway the night of July 23, came back to the car in which the boys were riding and Kirk made ready for him. Nava delivered a sharp blow to the jaw. Kirk crumpled to the pavement and a car crushed his head, Nava testified. Kirk had come up in a menacing attitude because Nava had cut in on him in the traffic, Nava testified.

Slater, who admitted that he had been drinking heavily before the highway clash, declared that he could not remember who had awakened him but when he had his senses and saw Kirk coming toward them he said to Nava, "Looks like we're going to get a licking." Nava made no answer but stepped to the running board of his car and when Kirk came, reaching out for Nava, the latter struck Kirk down. In the next moment an automobile had struck Kirk's head, said Slater.

Dist.-Atty. Z. B. West, Jr., grilled the witness regarding minute details of his story and forced an admission that Slater and Nava, after their arrest in Long Beach later that night, had said they found Kirk lying in the road.

Slater's bald admission that he had falsified to the officers was lessened in its effect by his attitude of calm unconcern, and his air of having a perfectly logical explanation for his falsehood if it should be asked of him. There was an impression that Slater had "something in reserve."

The prosecution fired its parting shot at the defense this morning when Dr. J. M. Burlew, Santa Ana, testified that the injury to Kirk's head could not have been caused by a blow from an automobile.

Bench Warrant Brings Traffic Violator to Time

VENTURA, Sept. 6.—Bench warrants are being issued for persons who have failed to appear in court to answer traffic law violation charges. The first bench warrant issued resulted in a jail sentence of sixty hours being given to James Davis, 21 years of age, of Ventura, who failed to appear to pay a fine of $25 for reckless driving. Davis answered to the charge, was given the fine and a stay of execution to allow him to get the money. At the expiration of the time allowed, Davis failed to show up. He was in the city jail today.

Immediately after the first business of traffic court was completed this morning, the remaining time was devoted to bringing forward accounts of unanswered charges. It was expected that definite action would be taken on these in the near future.

PUPILS INCREASE IN VAN NUYS SCHOOLS

VAN NUYS, Sept. 6.—The Van Nuys High School will reopen on the 10th inst. with an enrollment of more than 1000 pupils. It is estimated, against an enrollment last year of 985. Several new teachers have been added to the teaching staff since last term, it is stated by Principal J. P. Inglis. About 900 children are to enroll at the Van Nuys elementary school on Sylvan street. There are several other small elementary schools in the Van Nuys district.

TELEPHONE COMPANY SOLD

Independent Concern Enters Pomona Valley Field; Serves Claremont, La Verne, San Dimas and Chino

POMONA, Sept. 6.—The Associated Telephone Company, Ltd., today entered the Pomona Valley field with the purchase of controlling interest in the Pomona Valley Telephone and Telegraph Company, serving Pomona, Claremont, La Verne, San Dimas and Chino, and also the Ontario and Upland Telephone Company.

Carl H. Lorbeer, manager of the local concern, which was founded in 1902 by D. S. Parker, made the above announcement today, adding that no radical changes in the system were contemplated for the present, although some new extensions would no doubt be made in the near future.

With the change in ownership, no change in personnel was announced, Mr. Lorbeer continuing his present position as general manager of the local company.

The Associated Telephone Company, Ltd., Mr. Lorbeer stated, is a strictly independent company operating in Long Beach, Huntington Beach, Santa Monica, Laguna Beach, San Bernardino, Covina, Glendora and Azusa, having entered the field about two years ago by acquiring the properties of the Long Beach Independent Telephone Company. Charles F. Mason is vice-president and general manager. General offices have been opened in the Petroleum Securities Building in Los Angeles.

NEW TELEPHONE BUILDING TO BE BUILT IN LA JOLLA

SAN DIEGO, Sept. 6.—The Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company is to commence work this month on the construction of a one-story Spanish style building in La Jolla, on the southeast corner of Girard street and Torrey Pines Road, A. E. Scott, district manager, has announced. The new structure, to involve an expenditure of approximately $30,000, will be used as a central office building for La Jolla's new dial telephone system.

About three months will be required to construct the building and nearly five months to install the dial central office equipment. The dial central office equipment will be installed at an estimated expense of $150,000 and outside plant equipment will necessitate an expenditure of more than $50,000, bringing the total cost of the new La Jolla dial system to approximately $230,000. It is planned to place the new equipment in service before the middle of 1930.

WORLD'S DAWN TO BE SHOWN

Al Jolson to Star in "Kismet" for Warner Brothers; Bernice Claire and Alexander Gray in New Film; Corinne Griffith to Buy Home Near Paris

BY GRACE KINGSLEY

One catches a vision now and then then of a new and fascinating vista revealed by the unlimited possibilities of talking and sound pictures.

One of the most unique productions, opening up a whole new world to the theater-goer, is a stupendous spectacle-drama, called "Creation," to be made by the Halperin Brothers, and probably to be released by Tiffany-Stahl.

"Creation," as its name implies, will introduce countless monstrous beasts of the reptilian age. These will be mechanically moving creatures made possible by a new method of construction recently discovered and appropriated by the Halperins.

We are promised, too, that sounds of these jungle monsters will accompany the scenes of their battles, adding immeasurably to the effectiveness of the production.

The story will be a talking picture. It has a modern theme, built around the adventures of the occupants of a submarine, which is ambed through a subterranean river, eventually to arrive in an unexplored lake surrounded by all the pristine beauty and bewildering animal life of antediluvian ages.

Harry O. Hoyt, who directed "The Lost World," by Sir A. Conan Doyle, the film version of which created a sensation a few years ago, wrote the story of "Creation," and will direct the picture.

Paleontologists have already devoted months to research, in collaboration with Hoyt, and many curious facts regarding the hitherto unknown traits of preadamite animal life have just been brought to light, and blueprints are already drawn for the construction of lifesized reproductions of these reptiles and monsters, some of which will be sixty feet in height and one hundred and fifty feet long.

AL JOLSON TO PLAY IN "KISMET" TALKER

Warner Brothers, we hear, has purchased the talking rights to Edward Knoblock's "Kismet," and the drama will serve as a Vitaphone starring vehicle for Al Jolson, according to present plans.

JOLSON.

"Kismet" was given by Otis Skinner about eighteen years ago, and was a sensational success. He later appeared in a film version of the play.

Jolson has signed with United Artists, and will, we understand, go to that organization after he appears in "Kismet."

The play is to be produced on a most elaborate scale, with some color photography, and the gorgeous oriental settings will be a hundredfold more effective in colors than in black and white.

Betty Boyd in Fire

For a second time disaster threatened the occupants of Corinne Griffith's set at First National yesterday, when Betty Boyd's dress caught fire during the making of a scene in "Lilies of the Field." The other fire occurred when a large velvet curtain was partly destroyed by flames a few weeks ago, during the filming of some spectacular scenes.

BETTY BOYD

Miss Boyd was standing near one of the huge lights yesterday, when the director, Alexander Korda, exhorted everybody who was dancing to "get hot."

"I am hot," she exclaimed, "I'm on fire!"

Nobody took Betty seriously for a moment. Then they saw the flames shooting up from her wide skirts, which were edged with a metal trimming which is inflammable and which had caught fire from the big light. A score of hands

COMEDY TO START AT BELASCO

"Door Between" Promises Humor and Romance; Cast Well Chosen

Two popular male stars will support Edna Hibbard at the premiere tomorrow night of Vincent Lawrence's comedy, "The Door Between," at the Belasco Theater.

Kenneth Thompson and Richard Tucker, familiar to both the speaking stage and speaking screen, will be seen in the role of love rivals in this fun-provoking story. Thomson appeared last season with Ruth Chatterton in "The Devil's Plum Tree," and has been in a number of recent talkies. Tucker has also had important parts in talking pictures of the last few months, but he has not been on the stage here for several seasons.

Edna Hibbard is expected to receive a warm welcome, for she gathered a large following when she starred recently in "Let Us Be Gay." The role of Ethel Brooks in "The Door Between" was created by Miss Hibbard in New York. She plays the part of the young surgeon's wife, who finds it impossible to entertain his wife in the manner to which she is accustomed.

Loew's Offers Noted Master of Ceremonies

Gene Morgan, one of Fanchon and Marco's ace masters of ceremonies, walked onto the stage as a complete surprise to audiences this week at Loew's State. Mirco completed negotiations with Morgan Wednesday and there was no time to announce his return to his many friends and fans. He was greeted on the opening day of the new show, however, with a royal welcome.

GENE MORGAN

Since his last appearance at Loew's State over a year ago, Morgan, with his green hat, has been touring the now nation-wide circuit of theaters in which the Fanchon and Marco stage presentations are being offered. This week he is heading the stage idea "Drapes." The current all-dialogue screen offering is "Imagine My Embarrassment," the Fox musical-comedy version of "The Cradle Snatchers."

King to Receive First Recording of Own Efforts

Collectors of first editions among book-lovers are more or less general, but a new type of "first" collectors may develop as a result of a unique request which was recently made by Charles King, one of the stars of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's "The Broadway Melody," which starts a popular run at the Criterion Theater Wednesday.

King asked Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer executives to allow him to purchase the first recordings of the voice and music accompaniment to the new film. The musical comedy star felt that these first recordings would be a particularly valuable keepsake. Studio officials at once made inquiry, and found that the disc recordings were still intact, and a requisition was issued at once. They are to be displayed locally during the run of the film at the Criterion.

These initial discs have been run only a few times and they will be presented to King in a special container, upon which will be inscribed some of the critical comments which King's work in the film has won.

M.-G.-M. Starts Work on Film

With one of the most complicated "shots" ever devised for a picture, in which a camera moves backward and forward a dozen times in a crowded ballroom, picking hands, faces and feet of different characters, Charles Brabin yesterday started production of "The Ship From Shanghai," all talking sea drama, at the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios.

A replica of a hotel dining-room in Shanghai, with a Chinese orchestra playing American jazz, and 400 dancers on the floor was the scene in question. It is one of the few scenes on shore as the bulk of the picture will be filmed on a ship equipped with sound-recording apparatus at sea.

Fiesta Planned at Montmartre

Elaborate preparations are now under way at the Montmartre for a combined stage and screen fiesta to take place at the Hollywood cafe Wednesday evening. Nancy Welford, popular comedy artist and film star, will sponsor the event, with many prominent actors and actresses attending the event.

Eddie Brandstatter has planned a unique program for the evening, headed by Proff Moore and his orchestra. High-class vaudeville numbers will be features of the bill.

COMEDIANS IN TRAIN

Van and Schenck, noted vaudeville songsters, who began their careers on opposite ends of a Brooklyn street car, start off their talking-picture debut on a private Pullman train. At the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studio, where they began work yesterday on "Take It Big," Van and Schenck boarded a private car, equipped with sound-recording apparatus as well as incandescent lighting generators, and steamed forth in film the opening scenes in the musical-movie Jack Conway is directing.

Comedienne Essays Favorite Role

May Robson

Will be seen in "The Rejuvenation of Aunt Mary" starting tomorrow at the Hollywood Playhouse. She has appeared in this comedy for three consecutive seasons.

Grant Withers Plays Role of Star Reporter

Grant Withers, who plays the role of the star reporter in "In the Headlines," Warner Brothers Vitaphone production, now showing at Warner Brothers Theater, is right at home in that part, as he has played it many times in real life. As a youth, Grant was raised in a small town in Colorado, where his father was publisher and editor of a daily paper, and he says that his play room was amidst the presses in the print shop.

Later on, when Withers reached the age of adventure, he wandered to Los Angeles, where his first position was a police reporter on one of the local papers, a post which he held for over five years. It was through his newspaper vocation that he first entered the motion-picture circles, finally succumbing to the lure of the picture lot and starting as an extra.

In "In the Headlines," Marian Nixon has the feminine lead, and in the supporting cast are Edmund Breese, Clyde Cook, Pauline Garon, Frank Campeau and others.

Midnight Shows Scheduled by Harry Carroll

Saturday night "night-life" in Hollywood is to gain a sparkling touch of gayety, it is said, following the opening of the Harry Carroll revue, the 18th inst., at Harry Carroll's Music Box Theater.

The preopening interest created by the revue, together with the fact that it contains a type of entertainment peculiarly fitted for midnight presentation, has prompted Carroll in a decision to inaugurate the Saturday midnight matinee as a regular feature of the revue.

Screen and stage celebrities not in the Carroll cast will appear in the revue at the midnight performances in skits especially written for the occasion around some timely topic of local or national interest. The revue, whose features and sketches are to be in a constant state of flux, according to present plans, will be presented in its entirety at the midnight shows.

Actress Lauds Modern Women

"Women," says Beatrice Blinn, who is playing the feminine lead in "Kibitzer," "have always had brains. The idea that only modern women are able to think for themselves and that our foremothers were merely dutiful wives, is fallacious.

"The only new move is the strides women have made in business. Previously they kept their brains at home guiding their husbands and families. Now they are using them in their own behalf.

"It has been admitted quite generally in the past that behind each man of power was an ingenuous woman. Once in a while a Helen of Troy or a Joan of Arc flared forth. But each individual woman has carried more than a fair amount of intelligence, and if women put their minds to it and wanted to, they could defeat the men, mentally, every time."

ROMANCE AT UPTOWN

Adapted from Booth Tarkington's novel, "Magnolia," "River of Romance," starring Charles (Buddy) Rogers, is showing on the Uptown screen. "River of Romance" is one of "Buddy's" most colorful attractions to date, and presents the popular star as "the notorious Col. Blake," a dashing figure of romance and intrigue. Mary Brian, who has appeared with Rogers in other productions, plays opposite him in "River of Romance," which will continue at the Uptown until tomorrow night. Starting Monday, the feature will be "Wonder of Women."

ROGERS FILM AT WESTLAKE

Charles (Buddy) Rogers, one of Paramount's youngest and most popular film heroes, has the starring role in "River of Romance," which has its final showing at the Westlake tomorrow night. The cast of this film, which was adapted from Booth Tarkington's story, includes such celebrities as Mary Brian and Wallace Beery.

Holmes Asserts Acting Provides Writing Ability

Taylor Holmes believes that actors write the best stage comedies. He asserts that the average player knows more about stage technique than anyone else, and that he can apply it when he starts on a play, whereas the average person has only theory to support his work.

In proof of this the comedian, who is appearing as guest star in "The Sap" with the Henry Duffy Players at the President, cites the success won by playwrights of such actors as James Gleason, George Kelly, Eugene O'Neill, Frank Craven, Russell Medcraft and Edgar Selwyn.

William Grew, author of "The Sap," is a well-known Broadway actor. He began his career as an author by writing blackout skits for several of Earl Carroll's revues. At present he is represented in New York by three plays, "Nice Women," "My Girl Friday" and "Jerry for Short."

Daily Exercise in Routine of Duffy Player

Long after the other actors and actresses in "She Couldn't Say No" have left the theater, a tall figure in a bathrobe may be seen going through a series of violent exercises on the stage at El Capitan.

For many reasons Charlotte Greenwood's undeviating routine has been to take regular exercises at the close of a performance. "It keeps you physically fit and prevents you from being tired," says the noted comedienne, who is appearing as guest star with the Henry Duffy Players. "Nothing short of the theater burning down could keep me from going through my regular fifteen-minute stunt—'work out' I suppose you'd call it—after a show."

Theater Closes to Prepare for Policy Change

For the first time in eight years the Hillstreet Theater will be dark today for, with the completion of the final show last night, the Hillstreet ceased to exist. From now until Wednesday when the house reopens as the RKO Theater, it will remain closed.

Already a corps of workmen are busy redecorating and refurnishing the theater in preparation for the gala premiere of "Street Girl," Radio Picture's all-singing-dancing-talking film, which is scheduled for the inaugural offering under the new banner.

More than $50,000 will be expended in beautifying the theater which, it is claimed, will be second to none when it opens Wednesday.

SONGSTRESS TO APPEAR AT CHINESE

Carlotta King Leads Late Frolic; Basil Rathbone to Introduce Stars

Tonight's midnight matinee performance of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's "Hollywood Revue of 1929" at the Chinese Theater will be attended by many screen celebrities from the various studios, according to the management. Carlotta King will be the guest star of the evening, and this will be one of the first opportunities for her friends to hear the golden-voiced soprano this side of the footlights. Miss King, who appeared in the leading feminine role of the picture version of "The Desert Song," will offer in her repertoire many popular and classical song favorites.

CARLOTTA KING

Acting as master of ceremonies and lending his distinguished presence to the gala program, will be Basil Rathbone, eminent star of stage and screen. Rathbone's last appearance on the local stage was in "The Command to Love," and many will remember his screen appearance as leading man in "The Last of Mrs. Cheney."

ROGERS WIT WILL COME TO CIRCLE

"They Had to See Paris" Shows Noted Humorist as Sightseer

Will Rogers is perhaps the best known of America's present-day humorists. He is to make his debut in "They Had To See Paris," his first all-talking, singing and laughing comedy-romance of youth, at the Carthay Circle Theater on the 18th inst.

Both the Fox studios and West Coast Theaters are combining with the Beverly Hills Chamber of Commerce to make the Rogers gala world premiere a social and motion-picture event that will long be remembered.

His many years in vaudeville, added to his press articles, have spread his fame to all parts of the English-speaking world.

In "They Had To See Paris," Los Angeles will see and hear Will Rogers in a made-to-order story, which enables him to act himself as a democratic, plain, honest and sincere American citizen in the night life of Paris.

CHRISTIE HAS TWO FOR FALL SERIES

Al Christie will start off the fall series of two-reel talking plays for Paramount with two distinct novelties. One is an all-negro revue type of picture, based on one of the Octavus Roy Cohen stories, "The Lady Fare," but embodying an all-singing and dancing cabaret revue of the Harlem type. This is the first time a revue of this kind has been made for the talking pictures.

Another of the novelties in the early releases will be a travesty revival of an old-time western called "Faro Nell" or "In Old Californy." This is to be played by Louise Fazenda and is practically all out on desert locations in California.

BUSINESS INTERFERES

Future talking-picture assignments will prevent Robert Milton, Paramount director, from attending the world premiere of his latest play, "Sleeping Out," scheduled for London in November. Milton is concluding "Behind the Make-Up" for Famous-Players this week. One of his previous plays, "The Charm School," which was introduced in London, enjoyed a two years' run.

WRITER FINISHES

Having nearly completed the screen play and dialogue for his own original story, "The Marseillaise," which Universal will produce as one of the super-productions on its new schedule, Houston Branch, Universal staff writer, is preparing to begin work on another original opus for this studio.

SCENARIST ON JOB

J. Grubb Alexander, until recently affiliated with Warner Brothers as one of their ace scenarists and dialogue writers, has just become associated with First National in a similar capacity, and assigned his first story by Graham Baker, in charge of production.

INDUSTRY UNIT IN NEW MOVE

Diamond Electric to Act on Change in Capital

Directorate Will Consider Stock Dividends

Meeting of Directors Set for Tuesday

Directors of Diamond Electric Manufacturing Company will meet next Tuesday afternoon at which time it is understood they will consider changes in the company's capital structure and the increasing of the dividend rate on the common stock. The latter action is expected to be in the form of a stock dividend in addition to the present cash dividend of $2 annually.

Officials of the company while declining to discuss the details of the proposals to be taken up at the forthcoming meeting said yesterday that a formal announcement would probably be made after the directors meet Tuesday.

The common stock has been actively traded on the Los Angeles Curb Exchange for the last few weeks and has advanced from the year's low price of 38 to a new high of 64 3-4, which was yesterday's closing price following a turnover of 2150 shares at prices ranging from 60 to 64 3-4. The preferred stock, which is reported to be closely held, also touched a new high at 101 yesterday on a sale of thirty shares, gaining 4 points over the previous closing price. Reports were current that the proposed new set-up of the capital structure would permit the conversion of preferred into common stock.

Although the company has issued no earnings report since its semi-annual statement, the current earnings are reported to be running ahead of the first half of the year.

Net earnings for the first six months of this year after all charges, including taxes, were $67,562.88, equal after preferred dividends to $2.68 a share on 19,658 common shares outstanding, as compared with $45,251.30, or $1.38 a share on 19,492 common shares after preferred dividends in the first half of 1928.

The present capitalization of the company consists of $1,000,000 authorized preferred stock of $100 par value with $534,600, or 5346 shares outstanding, and 30,000 shares of no-par common, with 19,658 outstanding.

COTTON MARKET

NEW YORK, Sept. 6. (AP)—The heavy liquidation of yesterday was followed by a less active and rather steadier cotton market today. There was some further selling on the southwestern rain news and rather disappointing ginnings on last year's crop, however, the low private condition and crop reports had a sustaining influence and offerings were light.

The mid-afternoon market was quiet and about 3 to 7 points net higher.

FORECAST OF COTTON YIELD OUT

Crop of 1929 Placed at 14,756,000 Bales Total by Belt Newspaper

MEMPHIS (Tenn.) Sept. 6. (Exclusive)—Reports indicate that the condition of the cotton crop throughout the belt as a whole, as of the 1st inst., was 67.8 per cent of a normal, the Commercial Appeal says today.

The indicated probable production, subject to conditions, as they may be more or less unfavorable during the remainder of the season, is 14,756,000 bales, 500 pounds gross weights equivalents, exclusive of linters or repacks.

Reports indicate severe deterioration in Texas during August and general but lighter deterioration elsewhere, except in the Carolinas.

Texas deterioration is attributed in the main to prolonged drouth, which adversely affected practically all sections of the State, although change in the northwest portion of the west was small compared with most other sections.

Heaviest deterioration outside of Texas occurred over the southern two-thirds of the belt, due to excessive shedding, weevil depredations and weather conditions.

The Commercial Appeal's estimate, by States, is as follows:

| | Condition in Percentage | Indicated Bales |
|---|---|---|
| Alabama | 66 | 1,188,000 |
| Arkansas | 68 | 1,156,000 |
| Georgia | 70 | 1,764,000 |
| Louisiana | 68 | 1,156,000 |

| South Carolina | 65 | 877,000 |
| Tennessee | 72 | 1,008,000 |

SAME AIR TRAFFIC EXPECTED

Operating Officers State Recent Disaster Should Have No Effect on Trend of Business

BY EARLE E. CROWE

Operating officers of the air transport companies flying the transcontinental route are not worrying over the possible effect on traffic of the recent disaster in the Southwest. Experience tables of the older companies show that a certain percentage of travelers will go by air, regardless of accidents, the season of the year, wind, rain or snow.

Winter flying, they maintain, is just as safe as summer flying over the transcontinental routes, and the general expectation is for the maintenance of the season travel average in the coming months. So far as winter storms are concerned, the operating officers declare it is easier to fly around a snowstorm than a sudden rain burst in the summer months.

SERVICES MAINTAINED

While transcontinental flying is comparatively new, the companies operating this service have maintained schedules with only minor interruptions. Weather reports are closely followed, and the transport pilots are instructed to disregard schedules and insure the safety of passengers whenever the occasion demands. So far, however, the statistics of operation reveal very little trouble of this kind.

On its Los Angeles-to-Kansas City run, the Western Air Express records show that 98 per cent of the trips were completed on the same day since July 1, and 90 per cent were completed within thirty minutes of scheduled time. On only 5 per cent of the trips were passengers delayed to any extent by weather or mechanical troubles.

How rapidly the traveling public is taking to transcontinental transportation by air is indicated by Western Air Express figures on volume of traffic on the Los Angeles-Kansas City run. In August, the heaviest travel month in the year for any kind of transportation service, Western Air Express planes operated at 88 per cent of capacity. This compares with 38 per cent in July.

On all its established lines the Western Air traffic in August reached a new high record of 2500 passengers. This included traffic on the Los Angeles-San Francisco, Los Angeles-Kansas City, Los Angeles-Salt Lake, and several smaller lines.

TRIPS ON SCHEDULE

Between Los Angeles and San Francisco the Western Air Express has failed to complete only one trip in fifteen months of operation. As far as operating conditions are concerned experience has shown that the summer fogs on this route are more of a problem than the winter rains.

These figures of operation are typical of all the older and larger transportation companies in the air business. Some of them have been fortunate in flying without major accidents and the majority, as in any kind of transportation service, observe the ordinary rules of safety and good judgment in respect to equipment, operating personnel, conditions of travel, etc.

Financially the business of air transportation has fairly well passed through the speculative stage and investment capital is now heavily employed in the industry. Investment capital looks to the long pull development, and it is interesting to note that this capital evidently has not been disturbed by recent events, judging from the action of airplane stocks.

BUSINESS IN LOCAL FIELD HOLDS EVEN

Security First National Notes Little Change in August Over July

Most lines of business in August in Los Angeles and throughout Southern California were more active than in August, 1928, and showed little change compared with July of this year, according to the monthly summary of business conditions issued yesterday by the Security-First National Bank. The review states:

August production of the iron and steel and the petroleum industries was maintained at approximately the high level of the preceding month, and was substantially greater than in August, 1928. Activity in the furniture and automobile tire factories was greater than in August last year, although seasonally lower than in the recent months. The August operations in the building industries and in affiliated lines were carried on at lower levels than either in July, 1929, or in August, 1928.

Distribution of commodities was carried on at a satisfactory level, although advance reports indicate that some lines of trade showed a decline in volume during August compared with July, 1929, and August, 1928. Value of shipments through the Los Angeles Harbor during the month increased 8 per cent over the same month last year, and 5 per cent over the preceding month of this year.

The agricultural situation improved moderately when earlier production estimates were revised upward. Although the 1929 production of some crops will be less than in 1928, prices for many farm products are substantially higher this year than last year, thereby indicating that there will probably be little, if any, diminution in the total 1929 agricultural purchasing power.

City's Postal Receipts Gain Over Year Ago

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6. (Exclusive)—Los Angeles' postal receipts totaled $643,497.43 for August, as compared with $709,494.79 for the same month last year, according to figures given out by the Postoffice Department today.

This was an increase of $44,012.63 or 8.51 per cent.

The city remains in ninth place among the large cities of the country, ranking ahead of San Francisco, which had receipts last month of $773,083.42.

FISHER ANSWERS BABSON

Yale Professor Denies Prices Too High and Takes Issue With Prediction of Crash in Market

HARTFORD (Ct.) Sept. 6. (Exclusive)—Stock prices are not too high and Wall street will not experience anything in the nature of a crash, is the opinion of Prof. Irving Fisher of Yale University, one of the nation's leading economists and students of the market. This statement was made today by Prof. Fisher following an annoncement by Roger Babson of Boston that the market sooner or later would experience a "crash comparable to the collapse of the Florida land boom."

Prefacing his remarks by the statement that none of us in infallible, Prof. Fisher admitted that "there may be a recession of stock prices, but not anything in the nature of a crash," and proceeded to explain reasons for his views in the following manner:

TWO REASONS NAMED

"The present high levels of stock prices and corresponding low levels of dividend returns are due largely to two factors:

"One, the anticipation of larger dividend returns in the immediate future; and, two, reduction of risk to investor largely brought about through investment diversification made possible for the investor by the investment trusts.

"We are living in an age of increasing prosperity and consequent increasing earning power of corporations and individuals. This is due in large measure to mass production of inventions such as the world never before has witnessed. The rapidity with which worthwhile inventions are brought out is the result of the tremendous research laboratories of our great industrial concerns. Application of these inventions to industry means greater enhanced earning power. This is a new and tremendously powerful factor in the industrial world and one which never before existed.

"Dividend returns on stock are moving higher. This is not due to receding prices for stocks and will not be hastened by any anticipated crash, the possibility of which I fail to see. Dividend returns are increasing due to rapidly increasing earnings.

INDEX ADVANCES

"This has been clearly demonstrated recently. My index of dividend returns on leading industrial stocks a year ago was around 2½ per cent. Despite the great increase in stock values, the index now stands at more than 3 per cent.

"A few years ago people were as much afraid of common stock as they were of a red hot poker. In the popular mind there was a tremendous risk in common stocks. Why? Mainly because the average investor could afford to invest in only one common stock. Today he obtains wide and well-managed diversification of stock holdings by purchasing shares in good investment trusts. Unquestionably the risk to the individual is lessened. The margin of safety between high-grade bonds and common stocks is rapidly being equalized both in actuality and in the popular mind."

Torrid Wave Slows Trade in Wide Area

NEW YORK, Sept. 6. (AP)—Bradstreet's tomorrow will say:

Unusually hot, dry weather and the suspension of business activities at many centers over the holiday combined to retard wholesale and retail trade this week, and the turnover of goods in most lines was not better than a year ago. The heavier industrial divisions showed some slackening, although most plants were operated at higher levels than at this time last year, while the lighter branches of manufacturing generally displayed some quickening of pace.

State fairs and market weeks at many points helped to offset somewhat the handicap to trade of intense heat, while buying by country retailers was checked in certain areas by the irregular outlook for crops. "Sales" of leftover summer stocks were mentioned less frequently in trade journals and dealers appeared to have been successful in clearing their shelves for fall lines.

Weekly bank clearings, $11,832,173,000, an increase of 18.5 per cent over a year ago.

Club Aluminum Earnings Slump

CHICAGO, Sept. 6. (Exclusive)—Club Aluminum Utensil Company and subsidiaries reported today a consolidated net income of $3184 for the year closed June 30, last, equal to 1 cent a share on 271,240 no-par capital shares outstanding. This compares with $853,830, or $3.14 a share earned in the preceding year.

The cooking-utensil department earned $181,295 before Federal taxes, but this was offset by experiments and developments in new lines of business, William Burnette, president, stated. He is confident that during the current year satisfactory earnings will be shown by the three divisions.

BRITISH RUBBER ACT BOON

Stevenson Curb Saves Planters But Worked Out to Advantage of Dutch and Americans

BY JOHN F. SINCLAIR

[Copyright, 1929, by North American Newspaper Alliance.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 6. (Exclusive)—When Great Britain found the British rubber planters were facing bankruptcy, following the deflation of 1921, she passed the Stevenson Act, restricting output and prices. This was the act that caused Herbert Hoover, then Secretary of Commerce, to take as vigorous action as he could to protect American manufacturers of the finished product from paying the exorbitant prices asked by the British for the raw product.

In spite of adverse criticism, however, it really did accomplish its main purpose—that of saving the British rubber planters from bankruptcy. In fact, it worked too well, for its rigid restrictions really marked the decline of the British producers and the rise of their Dutch competitors.

Indirectly it helped the United States manufacturers in two ways—first, it placed emphasis upon the reclaiming of old rubber. From only 19 per cent in 1922, the reclaimed rubber used in the United States rose to 51 per cent in 1927. Dutch production rose 145 per cent, as against a 13 per cent British increase during the same time. No wonder the act was repealed in 1928.

In the second place, American manufacturers realized the importance to them of an unrestricted source of supply. As a result, Firestone has gone into Liberia, and Henry Ford has gone into South America.

The United States used about two-thirds of the total world consumption. In 1928, out of a total of 442,220 tons, tires and sundries took 378,693 tons; the balance went into boots and shoes, rubber flooring and insulation.

It's big business, too. For the wholesale value of manufactured rubber in the United States grew from $804,230,000 in 1922 to $1,195,420,000 in 1928.

No field has shown quite such profound changes as the electrical field since the scientific mind centered on it some forty years ago.

Every man, whether he lives on a farm or works in an office, is receiving everlasting benefits from the achievements of scientific men—those unadvertised souls, who work in the laboratories, oftentimes long hours in the night, to perfect an invention which will be of real benefit to mankind, but with no thought of personal glorification.

Take the incandescent lamp, the child of Edison's brain. If the old carbon lamp were still being used General Carty, vice-president of American Telephone & Telegraph Company, estimates that the electric light bills would have been $3,356,000,000 more during the last twenty years. Edison himself received but an infinitesimal fraction of the saving which resulted.

It was in 1781 that Scheele, the Swedish scientist, made a fundamental discovery respecting tungstic acid. He also discovered important chemical elements, now well known, such as oxygen, manganese, chlorine, barium. Think of industry trying to get along now without any of these important elements. Without manganese, the great steel industry would be fatally crippled. It is doubtful if it could exist.

What would mankind do today without the discovery of Prof. Oersted, that an electric current flowing through a wire would move a magnet. Less than 100 years ago Faraday discovered that one current of electricity would generate another one. Joseph Henry discovered the laws of current induction. Now put all three together and we have electric telegraph and telephone. Without these discoveries there would be neither dynamo nor motor. And the electrical industry would still be crawling.

Branch Pilots Named by Bank

P. E. Hatch, Long Beach's first banker, and Ellsworth Hatch have been given general supervision over the business of the Security-First National Bank in the Long Beach territory, according to an announcement yesterday of Herbert H. Smock, vice-president and cashier. With the respective titles of vice-president and manager and vice-president, the two men are officers of the Long Beach branch of the bank located at First and Pine streets.

The Security-First National has a total of eight branches in the seaside metropolis, with nearly $20,000,000 in deposits and 166 employees. At the close of business today, however, the number will be reduced to seven as the Harbor branch will be consolidated with the main branch at First and Pine streets. Manager J. W. Starr and his entire staff will be transferred to the latter bank. P. E. Hatch organized the community's first bank back in 1896.

Weekly Review Reports Prices Firm on Buying of Spotty Character

BOSTON, Sept. 6.—The Commercial Bulletin will say tomorrow:

Demand for wool continues of fair proportions, though somewhat spotty. Prices keep firm. There is little business being done at country points at the moment.

The manufacturing position appears very healthy and there is a fair demand for goods continuing, with some improvements reported in woolens.

The new season opened in Australia at Adelaide, Thursday and Friday. The selection was poor and prices about on the level predicted, at which level values here look fairly secure.

Mohair is steady with demand light.

The rail and water shipments of wool from Boston from January 1, 1929, to September 5, 1929, inclusive, were 120,581,700 pounds against 108,914,000 pounds for the same period last year. The receipts from January 1, 1929, to September 5, 1929, inclusive, were 245,910,800 pounds against 260,852,100 pounds for the same period last year.

Today's upswing, which got under way with a new peak price at 63 1-4 in the day's session. Officials of the company declined to comment other than to say that no formal announcement of a change in the rate was planned. An advance of 1 per cent in the rate was rumored. The

RICH WIDOW ARRESTED AS SLAYER

Heiress to Rum Fortune and Two Children Found in Gas-Filled Room

NEW YORK, Sept. 6. (Exclusive) A wealthy young widow, Mrs. Sadie Salit Schingler, heiress to the pre-prohibition Salit liquor fortune, was placed under arrest as the slayer by gas of her eldest child, Sylvan, 11 years of age, today, after an attempt to take her own life and the lives of the boy and a daughter, Rene, 6.

Mrs. Schlinger and Rene tonight were in a critical condition at the Methodist Episcopal Hospital, Brooklyn, where physicians planned blood transfusions in the fight to save their lives.

The widow, whose children were left $700,000 in trust by her husband who died last July, was found unconscious with the boy and girl in her Brooklyn apartment after the superintendent had traced an odor of gas to her kitchen. Policemen who broke in found the three unconscious on a mattress in the kitchen. All efforts to revive the boy were fruitless.

Mrs. Schingler told friends recently that she suffered from nervousness and thought of sending her children to boarding school while she went on a trip around the world to regain her health. She left a note to relatives, police said, but the message later was declared to have vanished mysteriously.

Ohio Girl Named Miss America in Midst of Clash

BALTIMORE, Sept. 6. (AP)—Miss Lillian Andrus, 21-year-old brunette representing Buckeye Lake, O., tonight was selected "Miss America" of 1929 by the judges at Baltimore's national beauty pageant. The contest was conducted in place of the discontinued Atlantic City beauty contest. Forty-seven girls from all parts of the United States entered the contest.

Miss Andrus took the honors under a storm of protest. One of the judges, a theatrical producer from New York, withdrew from the list of judges. After the decision of the remaining judges had been announced five sponsors of entrants announced their protests. They said second choice will be held at a downtown hotel.

NOTAS TELEGRAFICAS

Hambrientas Tropas Chinas Asaltan los Barcos

SHANGHAI, Septiembre 6.—El viejo aforismo de que "a buena hambre no hay pan duro" falló hace poco, cuando una muchedumbre de soldados chinos medio muertos de hambre invadió las cubiertas del Kiangten, vapor del río Yangtze, se coló en la cocina del barco, se comió cuanto había a la vista, y arrojó al cocinero por la borda, tan sólo por no haber encontrado de su agrado la comida.

Este ha sido uno de los numerosos incidentes análogos ocurridos en el Yangtze en estos últimos meses. Es raro que pase una semana sin que los soldados desbandados y deshambridos, ya del gobierno o de alguno de los generales rebeldes, se metan por la fuerza al puente de algún vapor de río, maltraten a los pasajeros, y devoren cuanta cosa de comer se halla a la mano.

El Kiangteh, reciente víctima de tales hasañas, es propiedad de chinos, y chinos son los que mandan a bordo. Navegando hacia Hankow, fue abordado por 100 soldados desbandados, que se negaron a pagar sus pasajes, pero exigieron de comer. Se lanzaron hacia la cocina, donde engulleron cuanto les puso enfrente el cocinero, y manifestaron luego que no estaba bueno el rancho. Como indemnización por las heridas a su dignidad y a sus estómagos, pidieron una suma de $500, que no les parecía excesiva, según indicaron.

Como causaran risa sus exigencias, echaron mano del pobre cocinero y cruelmente lo arrojaron al río. El primer oficial trató de echarle un cabo; pero los soldados se lo impidieron.

Tras haber observado friamente cómo se ahogaba el cocinero, dieron los soldados una tremenda asotiria al primer oficial por haberse atrevido a detener el buque. Le pegaron también al capitán por haber silbado con el pito. Al llegar a Kiukian abandonaron los soldados el buque.

Roban un Tren Pagador los Bandidos Mejicanos

CIUDAD DE MEJICO, Septiembre 6.—Comunican hoy mensajes de Torreón a El Universal que unos bandidos armados atacaron ayer un tren pagador de la People's Mining Company cerca de Bermejillo, y se robaron de él la suma de 26,000 pesos ($13,000). Ha sido ya enviado un aeroplano para que ayude a las tropas a dar con los bandidos.

Doran Consigue la Ayuda de los Viñadores

WASHINGTON, Septiembre 6.—El señor Doran, delegado de la Prohibición, ha anunciado hoy que las entidades cosecheras de uva de California han convenido en tratar de regularizar sus ventas en mercados del Este, con la mira de impedir que la uva sea destinada a la fabricación clandestina de vinos.

Dice Doran que los viticultores se han allanado a poner vigilantes en Nueva York para ver de estorbar el derrame de la uva por vías ilícitas, y declara el delegado tener confianza en que ese medida haga disminuir considerablemente el stock de vino ilícito en el Este.

Hoy regresó el delegado de un viaje de un mes por California, y manifiesta que los viñeros de aquel Estado se mostraron más que solícitos para llegar con él al acuerdo referido. Agrega que se cerciorará este esfuerzo como el primer acto de cooperación entre los cosecheros y el negociado de la Prohibición para atajar la fabricación ilegal del vino.

Continuó diciendo que se están preparando los planes para concentrar las existencias de v

WINTER COMES AHEAD OF TIME

Snow Falls in Five States of Mountain Region

Three to Fourteen Inches Blankets Wyoming

Colorado, Nebraska and Both Dakotas Also Hit

DENVER, Sept. 6. (AP)—From Montana on the north to the Colorado-New Mexico State line the frosty fingers of winter stretched out today over the Rocky Mountain region, leaving record low temperatures for September.

The cold wave brought a blanket of snow in parts of Wyoming and in high altitudes in Colorado.

STORM DOWNS PLANES

In one of the worst storms that Colorado has experienced in [illegible] of this season, driving rain [illegible] turned to snow at high altitudes, forced eleven navy planes on [illegible] from Colorado Springs to Denver down at Parker, Colo. They were able to continue to Denver later. Other planes were forced down at Pueblo last night and traffic [illegible] trouble over several mountain passes was characterized as the greatest today.

The Lander territory in Wyoming registered the earliest snowfall in thirty-eight years today with a blanket of from four to six inches throughout the district. Electric light lines were put out of commission during the storm when wires heavily laden with snow were broken down. Motor traffic in the country districts was demoralized and bus lines abandoned their schedules.

FOOT OF SNOW

Fourteen inches of snow fell in the Fox Park district near Laramie, Wyo., and Albany in that State was buried under a foot of snow.

The lowest temperature report in the Rocky Mountain region today was at Havre, Mont., where it was 34 deg. At Denver the temperature hovered around 39 degrees with the promise of a further drop during the night and possibly snow.

An eight-inch blanket of snow draped the summit of Pike's Peak. A snow plow cleared the road for the one train but the auto highway on the peak was forced to remain closed for the day because of heavy drifts. Low-hanging clouds partially [illegible] temperatures covered Colorado Springs.

EARLIEST WINTER IN FORTY-FIVE YEARS

OMAHA, Sept. 6. (AP)—Snow to from one to four inches deep in parts of Western Nebraska, the Black Hills region of South Dakota and Wyoming today, following a sudden change in temperature during the night. Temperatures ranged near freezing and in some places dropped below.

Hay Springs, Neb., had the lowest temperature, the mercury there registering 28 deg. Four inches of snow fell there. Almost a foot of snow fell at Gordon, Neb.

Chadron, Neb., had an inch of snow and Crawford had six inches, with a temperature of 31. At Scott's Bluff a rain of 1.65 inches turned into snow.

The earliest snow since the government weather station was established at Valentine, Neb., before five years ago, was reported at that place.

Rapid City, S. D., also reports the earliest snow in the forty-seven years weather records have been kept there.

Four inches of snow fell at Lead and Deadwood, N. D. Cheyenne and Newcastle, Wyo., reported heavy rain during the night. The storm extended as far west as Casper, Wyo.

Air Squadron of Navy Halted by Colorado Fog

DENVER, Sept. 6. (AP)—Nine fighting planes of Squadron [illegible] United States Naval Air Service, [illegible] and wind of an early autumn storm, [illegible] pioneer planes of Squadron [illegible] United States Naval Air Service are safe in Denver tonight, seven down in emergency landings and the twentieth is in Kansas [illegible] under orders to proceed direct to the west coast over the southern route.

Low ceiling forced one plane to ship down in a field ten miles east of Castle Rock, Colo., and six others to take off for Denver [illegible] throughout the district. Heavy weather permitting, early tomorrow. An amphibian was forced to [illegible] by fog at Strasburg, Colo., [illegible] miles east of here late today [illegible] pilot and mechanic came into Denver and are to return for the [illegible] tomorrow.

RAPID TRANSIT AIM DISCUSSED

Business Leaders Confer on Need of Subway

Definite Move Launched to Put Over Project

Mayor Said to Demand it for Downtown

Indications that a definite movement is under way for the establishment of a rapid transit subway system for the downtown section of the city, city property owners, business men and executives of the local and interurban railways gathered at a luncheon at the Chamber of Commerce yesterday. The meeting was called by the Municipal Affairs Committee of the chamber and was presided over by Harry A. Lord.

The meeting was voted by Dr. Miller McClintock, director of the Albert Kahn Bureau of Harvard University, who discussed the Los Angeles situation for half an hour, pointing out not only its type, but why it is ripe for the establishment of a rapid transit system."

CHIEF SUGGESTIONS

The chief facts and suggestions developed during the luncheon are the following:

That the need is justified by the growth of the Civic Center of city, county and Federal buildings and by the probability of a similar development at the Plaza;

That leading property owners of the section center already have indicated their willingness to contribute as much as $50,000 per mile and possibly stand a few assessments in addition to foster the project, according to James R. Ross.

That a bill now is before the State Legislature which will make possible the establishment of districts to include the community in the matter of creating rapid transit; that the undertaking should be a community at large, unlimited in its scope, resulting in actual benefits to all sections, as suggested by D. W. Pontius, president of the Pacific Electric Railway Company, who added as his further suggestion, that surface cars be brought to the rapid transit terminal from Seventh to Fifteenth street on Main and by extension from Main and one of approximate distance. He recommended that during streets at the maximum of congestion to the underground.

STIMULATING REMARK

Lord said, "The solution of the transit [illegible] has been held up by standing [illegible] in the establishment of a rapid transit, and I feel that this [illegible] should be solved first, the [illegible] later."

The additional members will be appointed to the subcommittee of the Municipal Affairs Committee of the chamber and a report and recommendation will be forthcoming in the near future," he said.

Members of the subcommittee are Robert Baker, Gordon Whitnall, Stephens, F. M. White, Lee Phillips, J. S. Chaffey and [illegible] Lord.

HER AUTO INJURIES PROVE NOT SERIOUS

Doris Dawson

Doris Dawson, film actress, was sent to her home, 6806 Franklin avenue, from the Hollywood Hospital yesterday when X-ray pictures revealed she did not suffer serious injuries as a result of being struck by an automobile. The accident occurred at Franklin and Wilcox avenues, Thursday night.

After receiving emergency treatment, Miss Dawson was removed to the Hollywood Hospital in the belief she suffered several fractured ribs and possible concussion. At the hospital it was reported yesterday no bones were broken and that her injuries are not serious. Police reported the driver of the car that struck Miss Dawson failed to stop after the accident. He was being sought yesterday.

SOD TURNED AT BATTERY PLANT SITE

Willard Company Holds Dedication at Scene of New $1,000,000 Factory

Manufacturing in the East is looking toward the Pacific Coast for its expansion, declared C. H. Starr, vice-president and general manager of the Willard Storage Battery Company, at the ground-breaking ceremonies for the new coast plant yesterday.

Before a crowd of civic leaders and industrial men of the city, the site for the new $1,000,000 building was dedicated at East Ninth and Gerhardt streets, in the Union Pacific industrial district.

"The rapid growth of the West has made it necessary that eastern industrial concerns look for a factory site in this section of the country," Starr continued. "For that reason we have come to Los Angeles. The decision to construct a factory in the West was followed by a wide and complete survey of the entire west coast. We have considered every angle of manufacturing and material and I am happy to say that Los Angeles has won by a large margin."

Starr then introduced the various members of his company who will be in charge of the new plant under him, and also T. A. Willard, founder and retired president of the storage battery company. Each of these men has served with the company for many years.

The new plant will cost in excess of $1,000,000, he said, and will have a daily production of more than 250 automobile storage batteries. They will employ more than 250 men and women in the first unit.

This is the third plant constructed by the Willard interests during the twenty-seven years of operation, which was started in Cleveland, O.

C. C. Hine, vice-president of the Chamber of Commerce, acted as master of ceremonies. He intro-

PANTAGES JURY AT CRASH SCENE

Spot at Serrano and Sunset Carefully Studied

Autos in Wreck Viewed and Condition Noted

Extra Sessions Opposed by Defendant's Counsel

Superior Judge Hardy, before whom Mrs. Lois Pantages is being tried on a murder charge, moved his court to the corner of Serrano avenue and Sunset Boulevard late yesterday afternoon and took with him the jury, defense and prosecution counsel and the defendant.

In fact everyone connected with the trial including newspaper reporters and cameramen went to the street intersection where the accident, which the State contends resulted in the death of Joe Rokumoto, took place.

The jury of five women and seven men viewed the spot where Mrs. Pantages driving her automobile, is charged by the State with ramming the Rokumoto family machine. They were shown the approaching streets and the condition of the pavement. They saw the spots where the two automobiles are said to have stopped after the crash.

DETAILS EXPLAINED

Heavy Hollywood traffic was blocked in every direction on Sunset Boulevard for almost an hour while the jury was led from point to point and the details of the accident explained.

From the scene of the accident the jury then adjourned to have a look at the wreckage of the Pantages and Rokumoto machines, and then back to their hotel in custody of court officers to be returned to the courtroom next Tuesday morning.

Judge Hardy moved his court to the street corner involved in the trial with Detective Jesse Winn of the District Attorney's office sworn in as "official shower," after a long and heated discussion between himself and Defense Counsel Gilbert relative to a court session today and a night session proposed for yesterday.

JUDGE SEEKS SPEED

The judge in an effort to speed up the rather slow proceedings suggested to the prosecution and defense counsel that inasmuch as the jury is under lock and key he believed the trial should be finished as soon as possible. Gilbert and other counsel agreed with Judge Hardy, but protests came thick and fast when the court then ordered a session this morning and one for last night.

Attorney Gilbert based his objection to the extra session on the ground that his client is in ill health due to injuries received in the accident which brought her into court and asserted he is able to produce a doctor's certificate that Mrs. Pantages is unable to stand the strain of more than the usual court sessions. After some debate Judge Hardy agreed to hold no extra sessions this week, but warned counsel that night court will come some time next week. Monday being a legal holiday the case will get under way again Tuesday morning.

LAWYERS IN TILT

During the jury showing trip which went from the corner of Sunset Boulevard and Serrano avenue to 1606 Sunset Boulevard, where the Pantages car is stored, and to 6417 Selma avenue, where the wreckage of the Rokumoto automobile is being held, Defense Counsel Gilbert and Prosecutor Costello engaged in several lively tilts relative to the present condition of the two cars. Costello intimated the machines had been tampered with to some extent and before the two lawyers got through Judge Hardy took a hand in the dispute and ended the matter.

Only three witnesses were heard in the courtroom yesterday. Beginning with William Rokumoto, the 15-year-old son of the dead Japanese, who identified the dead man as his father, and was excused without cross-examination, Dr. Frank Webb, assistant county au-

FLEET'S GUNS WILL ROAR

Navy to be in Full Swing During Coming Week With Fall Firing Practice

The coming week will find the battle fleet back again in the full swing of its annual fall gunnery program, with numerous outside ship movements of general interest to the fleet. The battleship divisions returned to port last night following their first week at sea for short-range battle practice runs, elementary gunnery exercise which the dreadnaught squadron will fire during the week of the 16th inst.

Tomorrow the aircraft carrier Lexington will depart for the Puget Sound navy yard, where she will undergo her long-delayed general overhaul. The 33,000-ton giant is also scheduled to have underwater hull changes, expected to give her added speed at full power.

SARATOGA TO REMAIN

Her sister, the Saratoga, flagship of Rear-Admiral Henry V. Butler, commanding the fleet aircraft squadrons, will remain on this station until the Christmas holidays.

The battleship West Virginia, flagship of the battleship division, is due home on the 11th inst. from the Puget Sound navy yard after completion of annual overhaul. Immediately after her arrival she will hoist the flag of Vice-Admiral Lucius A. Bostwick, commanding the dreadnaught squadron, who now has his flag temporarily on the U.S.S. Maryland.

BRITISH SHIP TO VISIT

The British light cruiser H.M.S. Colombo will pay her second visit within the year to the port on the 16th inst., when she comes to San Pedro for a twelve-day visit after five days at Catalina Island. She is in command of Capt. C. C. Dobson, World War hero and holder of the Victoria Cross.

The ammunition to be used by the battleship division in fall gunnery practices will arrive from Mare Island on the 22nd inst. aboard the ammunition ship Nitro. Officers and men and their families assigned to duty on the Asiatic station will depart the local base on the 26th inst. aboard the naval transport Chaumont, going to Manila via San Diego, Honolulu and Guam.

RED PARADERS ARRESTED

Radicals Attack Police Interfering With March on City Hall After Plaza Demonstration

Attacks verging on riots last night marked Communists' resistance when police halted an attempted Red march on the City Hall from an open-air demonstration in the Plaza. Eleven men and three women were arrested after many of them and their sympathizers had battled with policemen acting under orders of Detective Lieutenant William Hynes of the police intelligence section. Incendiary banners were torn from the paraders, who later were booked at Central Police Station on charges of parading without a permit and of disturbing the peace.

George Klocz, 24 years of age, teamster, 1302 West Pico street; Mack Roberts, 22, ironworker, no address; Frank Spector, 34, painter, 719 North Evergreen street; Jack Poesell, 20, musician, 3122 Dohinson street; Harry Schneiderman, 24, laborer, 421 Pickett street; Harold Siminow, 64, service-station operator, 2802 Wabash avenue; George Vomeda, 22, gardener, R.F.D. Route A.; Leo Mabille, 28, butcher, 220 North Boylston street; Martin Shapiro, 18, truck driver, 960 Soto street; Arthur Dick, 26, carpenter, no address; Fred Pierstone, 28, clothing worker, 3726 Ramona street; John Little, 26, Communist organizer, 316 Stimson Building; Mrs. Rose Spector, cashier, 32, 719 North Evergreen street; Mrs. Lillian Silverman, 25, seamstress, 229 North Boylston street; Edith Berkman, 26, clerk, 2537 East Third street, and Gussie Reed, 22, student, 2537 East Third street.

Shortly after the arrests the eleven men were taken from the City Jail to Municipal Judge Reed's night court at central police headquarters where they were arraigned and bail set at $100 each on each charge. All prisoners demanded jury trials. The trio of women are due to appear at 10 a.m. today in Municipal Court, Division 5, at the Hall of Justice.

Lieut. Hynes said Spector is facing deportation charges, following a demonstration on May Day.

FIERY LANGUAGE

The interrupted march on the City Hall followed an open-air demonstration called by the Young Communist League to celebrate International Youth Day. Circulars advertising the mass meeting contained fiery calls on the youth of the city to demonstrate against capitalist and imperialist war. The circulars attacked every other organization from the Reserve Officers' Training Corps to the American Federation of Labor and the Social party and included the Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts. Mention was made of the Gastonia labor troubles and of the Sino-Russian embroilment. These circulars urged the workers to "smash the military youth organizations of the bosses."

Approximately 750 persons gathered in the south end of the Plaza between Main and Los Angeles streets, when speakers mounted a soap box and harrangued them. Among the speakers were Spector, Arthur Dick and Yetta Stromberg, who figured in the raid on the Communist camp near San Bernardino. Youthful orators of from 8 to 14 years of age also attacked the Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts.

After a half-hour of impassioned oratory, a cry was raised for a march on the City Hall, to finish the demonstration there. Carrying revolutionary banners, the advance guard started. The olice tore down one banner on which was lettered "Turn the Imperialist War Into a Civil War." The demonstrators had no parade permit and Lieut. Hynes ordered the police to arrest the banner carriers and all who persisted in marching. As ...e officers arrested the men and women, sympathisers interfered, striking at the police. The police and crowd milled around in small riots.

MARCH BREAKS UP

A riot call summoned seventy-five more police to reinforce the twelve men of Lieut. Hynes's squad. The parade was reforming after

New Mark Set by Cantaloupe Crop in Valley

All records for Imperial Valley cantaloupe crops were broken this year when 19,858 carloads of melons moved out of the district as compared with 18,389 carloads in 1928, William C. Fitch, manager of perishable freight traffic for the Southern Pacific announced yesterday. Of this number 19,728 carloads moved by freight and 130 carloads by express.

Estimating 340 crates to a car and thirty-six melons to a crate, Fitch points out that 243,061,920 melons were shipped out of the Imperial Valley this season. If distributed throughout the United States this would average more than two melons to every man, woman and child.

The season opened May 15 this year and the peak of the shipping was reached June 29, when 510 carloads of melons moved out of the district during the twenty-four hour period. The season ended the 1st inst.

The bulk of the melon crop was shipped East, according to Fitch's report.

Chamber Exhibit Shown at Fairs Attracts Many

Los Angeles county's exhibits at the midwestern an deastern State fairs are proving among the outstanding attractions there, according to a wire received here yesterday from A. Carman Smith, director of the Chamber of Commerce.

Mr. Smith is touring the various fairs for the purpose of observing the reception given the county exhibits. The exhibits were constructed here by the exposition department of the Chamber of Commerce and this year are being seen in thirteen State fairs and the Canadian National Exposition at Toronto.

Fairs at which the exhibits have appeared include Des Moines, Milwaukee, Indianapolis, Minneapolis, Springfield and Aurora, Ill.

SPORTS INSTRUCTION OFFERED FOR WOMEN

The gymnasium and swimming department of the Young Women's Catholic Association at 941 South Figueroa street begins its fall term the 16th inst. Free swimming lessons in the newly tiled plunge will be given with all courses offered this year. The courses offered are systematic exercises, dancing and games, followed by swimming. It includes thirty lessons in gymnasium and fifteen lessons in swimming. Courses offered in dancing are natural dancing, clog dancing and social dancing, followed by swimming. The course in sport includes instruction in tennis, golf, basketball and horseback riding.

RADIO SHOW HAS SPECIAL BILL TODAY

Will Rogers Challenged to Take Part in Milking Contest at Exhibit

Scheduled to end late tonight, the seventh annual National Radio Show in the Ambassador Auditorium will be embellished today with several features calculated to impart a smart finish, according to plans laid yesterday. The affair has been in session since Monday.

A challenge is out to Will Rogers to participate in a milking contest, using the two Arden Sanitary Gold-seal cows, which the show borrowed for radio experimentation purposes.

Whether Rogers accepts or declines, it is stated Albert Peterson and Johnny Burd, former champions, respectively of the Michigan and Iowa State Fair milking contests, will engage in prize contests to determine which first can fill a quart bottle with lacteal fluid, doing the milking with one hand.

No total attendance figures are available, but it is forecast that the radio show throngs by tonight will aggregate 178,000 persons, a new record for radio exhibits in the West.

FRATERNITY TO HAVE NEXT GATHERING HERE

Largely through the efforts of John Beckman, retiring president of the National Order of the Alpha Sigma Lambda Fraternity, the 1930 national convention of that society will be held in Los Angeles, it was announced yesterday. Beckman returned yesterday aboard the Los Angeles Limited from Des Moines, where he attended this year's meeting. Armed with crates of oranges and thousands of poppies sent by the local chapter, Beckman helped the young men members of the order to decide on next year's meeting place. The convention will open Labor Day.

FIELD CLOSING TO COME FIRST

Civic Leaders Hear Plans for Fight in Courts

Santa Fe Springs Shutdown Will be Demanded

Total Depletion of This Area Declared Imminent

The need of immediate action to halt the needless waste of natural gas in the oil fields of California and the necessity of arousing the entire citizenry to the alarming situation were defined startlingly yesterday to heads of oil companies and leaders in manufacturing and industry at a Chamber of Commerce luncheon.

The shutdown o foperations in the Santa Fe Springs field as the initial move to conserve the cheap fuel, which now is being blown into the air and causing an irreparable loss to the whole people, was forecast through the impending court actions brought under the provisions of the new gas-conservation law.

The need for the severe measures to be applied and the willingness of the greater percentage of the oil companies to join with State officials and the public in stopping the wicked waste of one of the world's greatest deposits of natural gas was defined clearly by E. B. Reeser, president of the American Petroleum Institute and head of the Barnsdall Corporation.

WASTE TO BE CHARGED

In addition to Mr. Reeser, who has offices in New York and Tulsa, but has been here for several weeks studying the gas wastage and conferring with heads of oil companies and conservation officials on the practical workings of the new law, talks were made by Reid T. Bush, State gas administrator; James S. Bennett, attorney for the State Director of Natural Resources; Claud C. Brown, gas administrator for the State Railroad Commission, and Thomas A. O'Donnell, past president of the nation-wide organization of oil companies and an operator for forty years in the oil fields of Southern California.

The move in the Santa Fe Springs field will be undertaken through the filing of injunction suits next week against all operators in that area, declaring that they are guilty of "an excessive waste of gas." Legal grounds for such action are provided in sections of the new California gas waste law, according to Attorney Bennett, who announced the stringent measure and said that he firmly believes the courts will uphold the injunction. He further declared that similar injunction suits are being prepared against the fields at Ventura, Long Beach, Seal Beach and Huntington Beach, and that other sections of the State will be reached just as fast as the courts rule and the necessary legal proceedings are completed.

COMPLAINTS READY

The action of Bennett, who is charged with enforcement of the new gas law under the supervision of Fred V. Stevenot, State Director of Natural Resources, working in conjunction with the State gas and oil supervisor, is the first to be taken under the Conservation Act which became effective the 1st inst. Bennett said that the complaints to enjoin the operators for the waste in Santa Fe Springs now are completed and will be filed early next week.

Seven of the largest oil operators in California have reached an agreement on methods of co-operation in carrying into effect the provisions of the new law, it was announced by Bush, who defined the details of the mutual understanding reached by the bigger companies. Outlining his position in being charged with the enforcement of the new wastage measure, Bush said that the agreement to curtail production of oil and gas now is being signed by the companies. As soon as this is completed it will be presented to all other operators, he said.

Declaring that Los Angeles county will be short of gas within two years unless the enforcement of the wastage act is carried out, Mr. Reeser said that "if the public realized what is going on it would

SHULER TO STAND TRIAL

Pastor's Attack on Mayor Cryer in Magazine Libelous, Judge Shaw Rules

Rev. R. P. Shuler, pastor of the Trinity Methodist Episcopal Church, will have to stand trial on the two counts of criminal libel filed against him in connection with his asserted attack some months ago on former Mayor Cryer.

This was the ruling yesterday of Superior Judge Shaw who, on appeal by the City Prosecutor, reversed the decision of Municipal Judge Pope, who had sustained Shuler's demurrer to one of the counts in the complaint.

In a four-page opinion Judge Shaw ordered the demurrer overruled and ordered Shuler to comply with the court's ruling by entering a plea to the first count of the complaint.

It was reported yesterday at the Hall of Justice that Shuler probably will be arraigned today in Municipal Court.

CHARGES SET

The charges against the pastor are based on articles printed in Bob Shuler's magazine. The first count asserts Shuler caused the following remark to be printed. "Don't take bribes by the real-estate route; if you do not know what I am driving at, ask Mayor Cryer." The second count charges Shuler caused to be printed in his magazine a statement that Mayor Cryer had gone into office a poor man, but that during his eight years as Mayor had become a man of wealth.

The second count of the complaint was not involved in the appeal, as Judge Pope had held that the allegation constituted a cause of action. Judge Pope sustained Shuler's demurrer to the first charge on the ground that the statement did not constitute a violation of the libel laws.

The question principally involved in the appeal of Deputy City Prosecutor Hornaday was whether Shuler's asserted statement did or did not libel Cryer by innuendo. Shuler's attorneys argued that the statement did not directly accuse the former Mayor, but Judge Shaw agreed with the appellant's view that the state-

Leaders of Gas Conservation Program Give Details of Efforts to Halt Release of Fuel

CITIZENRY GETS STIRRING PLEA

State Officials Tell Need of Concerted Move

Oil Production Imperiled by Lower Pressure

Figures Given on Extent of Enormous Waste

The terrific waste of natural gas in California and the imperative need of arousing the people to the menace in the loss of the great natural resource, together with facts and figures covering the situation, were outlined yesterday in talks by those statesmen of the problem at the gas-conservation luncheon at the Chamber of Commerce.

Reed D. Bush, State Oil and Gas supervisor, in explaining the agreement now under way among the operators, said:

"During July, 1929, in California 250,000,000 cubic feet of gas was blown into the air daily. This amount of heat units is the equivalent of 166,000 barrels of fuel oil. This waste not only is a waste of fuel but the even more valuable one of natural gas as the principal agent in the production of oil. This gas if held in the ground and released slowly, or used for the repressuring of depleted fields, could be made to produce a much greater ultimate production of crude oil."

DETAILS GIVEN

He then told of the moves for co-operation among 85 per cent of the companies and gave comprehensive technical details of the agreement which covers operators in Santa Fe Springs, Long Beach, Seal Beach and Western fields and proposes to form an association of those operators, whereby the pro rata plan will protect the individual. The seven companies at present contributors to the mutual agreement are: Associated Oil Company, General Petroleum Corporation of California, Richfield Oil Company of California, Shell Oil Company, Standard Oil Company of California, the Texas Company and the Union Oil Company of California.

"The fundamental principle of the plan," Bush said, "is that every one shall have an equal pro rata opportunity to make physical disposition of the gas, so that no one will be obliged to blow gas into the air or curtail his oil production in disproportion to his neighbors."

SUITS DISCUSSED

In urging the earnest support of all interested in carrying out the provisions of the new gas wastage law, and announcing the imminent filing of injunction suits under its provisions, James S. Bennett, attorney for the Director of State Natural Resources, among other things, said:

"I have advised the director that the act is constitutional and that its enforcement is practical and he has instructed me to proceed to enforce the act.

"A complaint to enjoin the unreasonable waste of gas in the Santa Fe Springs oil fields is completed but will be filed the first part of the week. The State plays no favorites, and so many invitations have been issued that it has taken me time to get them all engraved. A notice of hearing before Mr. Bush, gas supervisor, is prepared ready for signature for a hearing in the Ventura field, and that will be as prompt as we can get by the commissioner in the Santa Fe Springs field. Following we will invite Long Beach, Huntington Beach and Seal Beach in their proper order to join in the pean of value that the act is being enforced.

PUBLIC OPINION

"An old law may be readily enforced, even when its usefulness is lost by the mere momentum of existing things as we are accustomed to have them, but it is impossible to enforce a new law in regard to new situations unless there is back of it an intelligent well-informed public opinion, both on the part of the industry concerned and on the part of the public which is using the product of that industry. The people of Los Angeles and surrounding country are very much interested in the proper and efficient administration of this act.

"This act can be enforced because it prohibits only unreasonable waste of natural gas on hearings before the ordinary courts of the state. The public authorities, officers of the State, and lessors on behalf of their royalties, need the intelligent, informed earnest support of the community to conserve its resource, which will otherwise be wasted."

BROWN SPEAKS

Claude O. Brown, State Gas Administrator of the Railroad Commission, presented a picture of the gas situation in California, using a map to point out gas lines now installed and those that are projected. "Natural gas in California comes from thirty-seven fields," Brown explained, "and in 1928 these fields produced 317,000,000,000 cubic feet. About 75¼ per cent was utilized and the rest blown into the air. During the first seven months of this year there has been blown into the air approximately 128,000,000,000 cubic feet, as compared with the 428 total. Two billion cubic feet per day is the present production and about 1,000,000,000 is being utilized, the remainder lost."

"It is time the people awoke to what is going on," said Thomas A. Connell, past president of the American Petroleum Institute and of forty years an oil operator in California, "and has been going on for the last ten years—a terrific waste of natural gas, one of California's greatest natural resources. They should realize, too, that the last two years has seen an alarming increase in this waste, and I want to urge the importance of the people of this State in getting behind the State officials in enforcing the new act.

ONE GREAT WASTE

"Much of California's resources both oil and natural gas is being squandered by the overproduction that has taken place. I believe that the petroleum industry as a whole has been conducted on as high a plane as any industry in this country, that all or practically all of the criticism directed against it was unjust except in the one overwhelming waste that has occurred in the production of natural gas.

"The enforcement of this law should be done in the interests of the people of California by the State officials, as soon as it is possible to do it. There is no other one thing which means as much to the future of this country, to the stability of the oil business, to the prosperity of the very men who are standing up and refusing to march in the parade.

"On its enforcement depends the very prosperity of the petroleum industry itself and everyone who owns a foot of land in California."

DOMESTIC TROUBLE CAUSE OF SUICIDE

Despondent over domestic difficulties, Efren Molena, 28 years of age, of 220 North Humphrey street, committed suicide early yesterday morning by hanging himself in a closet of his home with a belt attached to a clothes hook, according to reports on file at the Sheriff's office. Concepcion Molena, the widow, told Deputy Sheriff Hackett that her husband got up during the night and when he failed to return she went in search of him, discovering the tragedy.

rise up in a body and demand that the present practice of producing oil should cease."

Introduced by Robert Linton, an old friend, to the sixty attending the luncheon as a man who has studied the petroleum problems of the United States and has a special knowledge of the California oil situation through his position as the highest official in the nation-wide organization, Mr. Reeser was given close attention during his talk.

Expressing his pleasure at meeting with a group of industrial leaders and telling of his many visits to California since 1904, Mr. Reeser moved immediately to the urgent need for calling a halt on oil production and gas wastage.

MATTER OF FUEL

He said: "Climate and the development of citrus and other fruits has played an important part in the wonderful progress of Southern California. Something more than this was needed, however, to make a great city.

"It was a common remark not many years ago that Los Angeles could not become a large city because it did not have an industrial payroll. The pessimists did not realize that a real Chamber of Commerce was at work and that industrial plants of all kinds were being established."

"What a wonderful expansion of industrial activities has taken place. I need not dwell on this subject any longer, but I would like to ask what has made this development possible? Climate will not do it.

"There is only one element that will do it, and that is cheap fuel.

"Natural gas is nature's greatest gift to mankind. You manufacturers have had it in such abundance and for so long a time that you probably never think of it as an exhaustible product.

"Do you realize that this product which has, to at least a very large extent, brought you prosperity, is being wasted at an alarming rate, that in heating value trainloads of coal are each day being thrown into the air?

IMPORTANT MATTER

"We hear quite frequently of the waste of water power—the Federal and State governments are criticised for permitting these wastes to continue. It is right and proper to develop and save our water power, but after all, these streams, like 'Tennyson's Brook,' will continue to flow, and can be harnessed when and as required. Unlike water, every 1000 feet of gas that is wasted, is gone forever.

"How much more important it is to stop the needless waste of natural gas.

"Los Angeles county and Southern California are most fortunate in having within their boundaries one of the world's greatest deposits of natural gas. Competent engineers tell us that for every foot that is used, two feet are wasted.

"The State of California has recently passed a law prohibiting the blowing, release or escape of natural gas into the air. This law became effective on the 1st inst.

FEDERAL INTEREST

"The Federal government has taken notice of the alarming situation, and recently issued an order which conforms to the definition and provisions of California's law. President Hoover and Secretary Wilbur have shown great interest in the efforts being made to conserve this product.

"The conservation officers of this State are anxious and willing to do their part to stop the waste. If the public realized what is going on, it would rise up in a body and demand that the present practice of producing oil should cease.

"I am advised that a very large percentage of the waste is controlled by companies which are willing to observe the law. Because of the peculiar character of gas, the plan cannot be effective unless 100 per cent of each oil pool observes the law.

"If you agree that cheap fuel is necessary to your prosperity, then your organization cannot do anything as important as getting behind the conservation officers of the State and assist them in forcing the strict observance of the law.

WARNING GIVEN

"At the present rate of waste, Los Angeles county will be short of gas within two years—the supply will not be adequate to meet the demands from you manufacturers. Cheap fuel has undoubtedly given Los Angeles an advantage over other cities on the Pacific Coast. Do you wish to retain your position or will you sit idly by until after the horse has been stolen?

"Some of our optimistic friends will tell you that other fields of oil and gas will be found. It is possible but not probable that any extensive discoveries will be made in close proximity to Los Angeles, but even if other sources are found, it is only a question of time until the supply will be exhausted.

"Some of our friends will tell you that this is a fight between oil companies, and that they should be required to stop the waste.

ASSISTANCE URGED

"The petroleum industry is the most competitive of all activities. This is due to the migratory character of the product. Ninety-five per cent of the owners of the pool may agree to curtail and stop the waste of gas. If the remaining 5 per cent does not join in the movement, the whole plan will be defeated.

"It is generally admitted that by holding back the gas pressure, the ultimate recovery of petroleum will be greatly increased. The oil companies therefore should be willing—and most of them are—to bring this condition about, but the selfish motives and narrow vision of a few can prevent the voluntary observance of the law. Public sentiment should be aroused so that the State authorities may be given every kind of assistance."

Salvation Army Bids Farewell to School Group

Twelve young persons were told farewell by the Salvation Army, Los Angeles division, last night at the Army Temple, 832 West Ninth street. Brig. James C. Bell of local headquarters presided. The group will leave immediately for San Francisco to enter the Western Territorial Training College to prepare for work as officers of the organization. The college will graduate nearly 100 this year. The four colleges in the United States graduate annually some 400 to 500.

Those given the farewell by the brigadier, assisted by Adj. Mrs. Oley Pearl Brown didn't want her husband to work, according to the divorce petition of Calvin A. Brown, on file yesterday, and when he persisted in doing so she interfered with his job so he had to quit, he said. Mrs. Brown, according to her husband, kept reminding him that his parents were so wealthy he didn't have to work, and she suggested that he get money from them, and stay home and amuse her. The Browns were married in 1909, and separated a year ago, it was stated.

PANTAGES CASE TO BE SPEEDED

Judge Hardy Predicts Night Sessions of Trial

Steuer Examines Doctors on Death of Japanese

His Condition in Operation Told and Retold

topsy surgeon, who performed the autopsy, and Dr. Donald Cass, who was operating on the accident victim when he died, testified and were cross-examined.

STEUER TAKES PART

Max Steuer, the New York attorney who, with W. I. Gilbert and Joseph Ford, represent Mrs. Pantages, cross-examined both of the doctors. It was the first time that he has taken any important part in the trial, which got under way last Tuesday, and his work, according to other attorneys in the courtroom, was masterly.

Dep. Dist.-Atty. Jones, who, with Costello, is prosecuting the case, established through Dr. Webb's testimony that Rokumoto suffered a blood clot on the brain, a fractured pelvis and a dislocated left hip, together with other minor injuries, as a result of the automobile crash.

Dr. Webb testified that the Japanese had died while under an anesthetic during the course of an operation. The physician declared the operation was necessary to prevent Rokumoto from being a cripple and probably necessary as an effort to save his life. The injuries disclosed by the autopsy probably would have caused Rokumoto's death at some later date if the operation had not been attempted, Dr. Webb stated.

In the hands of Attorney Steuer under cross-examination Dr. Webb admitted the operation performed by Dr. Cass might have been performed at some later date and that the patient might have died as a result of the anesthetic or at least the anesthetic might have been a contributing cause of death.

The doctor also told the jury of a long series of ailments from which the Japanese was suffering as disclosed by the autopsy, but added that all his ailments were in an arrested condition and did not cause his death. An effort by the prosecution to have Dr. Webb demonstrate Rokumoto's injuries with a package of human bones which were taken into the courtroom was blocked by defense objections.

DR. CASS ON STAND

Dr. Donald Cass, the last witness of the day, in direct examination and cross-examination told of the condition in which he found Rokumoto shortly following the accident and his condition the day of the operation and then went into detail regarding the operation.

His testimony was hailed by both the prosecution and defense counsel as a victory.

On direct examination Dr. Cass declared the Japanese died as a result of injuries received in the automobile crash. He told of the dislocated hip, the fracture of the pelvis and the injuries to the head. Then Dr. Cass went over the same ground as Dr. Webb and told of being present at the autopsy and the findings there.

BLOOD CLOT FOUND

"We knew about Rokumoto's other ailments," declared Dr. Cass. "In fact," he continued, "we knew all about all his troubles with the exception of the blood clot on the brain. This was discovered during the autopsy."

"The operation was performed in the same manner as all other operations of the kind," declared Dr. Cass.

"We made two attempts to reduce the dislocated hip. They both failed and then our attention was called to the patient's condition. He died before we could do a great deal for him."

Dr. Cass testified that Rokumoto's condition before the operation was very good and that all tests and examinations made showed that his improvement was so great that the operation was justified.

OPERATION NECESSARY

During his direct examination in answer to questions put to him by Jones, Dr. Cass declared that while the death came during the operation and while Rokumoto was under an anesthetic both the anesthetic and the operation were necessary.

For more than an hour Dr. Cass told and retold his account of the operation under the questioning of Steuer.

Principal among the points brought out by the New York attorney were the admissions from Dr. Cass that the Japanese died very suddenly and that he was suffering from a number of serious ailments.

LAW SPECIFIES

Also Dr. Cass in answer to Steuer's questions declared in substance that Rokumoto probably would have died without the operation but how soon he didn't know. To prove even a manslaughter charge the death of the victim under the California law must take place, without intervening cause, within a year and a day from the time of the injury.

While the cross-examination of Dr. Cass was under way two X-ray pictures produced by the doctor were introduced into evidence by the defense. The pictures show the extent of Rokumoto's injuries.

In an effort to clear up the somewhat indefinite accounts of Rokumoto's death Dep. Dist.-Atty. Jones during the recross-examination of Dr. Cass asked the following questions:

"Did Rokumoto die from the effects of the anesthetic?"

"The anesthetic and the measures being taken may have contributed to his death." Thus did Dr. Cass reply to the question.

SERIOUSLY INJURED

During both the examination of Dr. Webb and Dr. Cass, however, the State had no trouble in bringing out testimony to show that Rokumoto was seriously injured in the automobile accident and that the operation which followed was one which according to good medical practice would follow injuries of the nature suffered by the Japanese.

Tuesday, according to Dep. Dist.-Atty. Costello, the first witness will be Mrs. Rokumoto, who will tell of the accident in which her husband was injured. Then witness after witness will follow to give their versions of Mrs. Pantages's conduct just before and just after the accident.

INTOXICATION CHARGED

Yesterday morning Costello opened the court proceedings with a brief statement to the jury. He announced the State intends to prove that Rokumoto died as a result of the automobile accident at Serrano avenue and Sunset Boulevard, when Mrs. Pantages rammed the Japanese family automobile at the intersection.

"We will attempt to prove," declared Mr. Costello, "that Mrs. Pantages was in an intoxicated condition at the time of the accident. We will produce witnesses to prove that the defendant was driving her automobile in such a manner that she struck other automobiles before the fatal accident. We will produce witnesses to show that when assistance was offered she cursed the persons making the offer and we will produce witnesses to testify to her conduct and language following the accident."

MYSTERY WITNESSES FOR ATTACK TRIAL

Four mystery witnesses, who are said to possess vital evidence against Alexander Pantages, facing trial on charges of attacking Eunice Pringle, 17-year-old dancer, have been found by the District-Attorney's office and will be ready to testify when the theatrical millionaire goes to trial, Robert P. Stewart, chief deputy District-Attorney, announced yesterday.

Stewart refused to disclose the names of the witnesses. He admitted, however, that sworn statements have been taken from each containing important evidence in the case.

The witnesses were found and questioned by Stewart personally, who is preparing the State's case against Pantages.

UNLUCKY BETTER LOSES HUSBAND

Wagering Kisses at Cards and Paying Losses Irk Gambler's Spouse

When a wife wagers kisses as stakes in a card game it is a humiliation for the husband and a form of cruelty that plays a part in him obtaining a divorce, according to Superior Judge Gregory, who yesterday gave George F. Jacobberger a legal separation from Mrs. Della Jacobberger.

The husband testified he was greatly humiliated when his wife bet kisses at a card party and paid when she lost and collected when she won.

Once, too, the husband asserted, his wife became intoxicated at a party and swore at him in the presence of their guests.

SHULER MUST FACE ACCUSER

ment might be interpreted by a reader intimating that Cryer had "accepted a bribe by the real-estate route."

COURT'S OPINION

Judge Shaw's opinion stated, in part:

"If the publication is to be taken in the sense ascribed to it by the innuendo, it is undoubtedly a libel within the definition of the law. The defendant, however, relies on the rule that an innuendo cannot extend the meaning of the publication beyond the import of the words used.

"The defendant's printed statement, 'If you do not know what I mean, ask Mayor Cryer,' has the appearance of being tacked on for some ulterior purpose. To one looking for this ulterior purpose, the reference to Mayor Cryer would not only suggest that he knows why it is not best to take bribes by the real estate route, but also insinuates that his knowledge has been gained from his own experience in taking such bribes.

"Taking the whole of the defendant's publication together, I am satisfied that while it may perhaps bear the interpretation contended for by him, it is also capable of another meaning by which it carries the insinuation that Mayor Cryer has accepted a bribe by the real estate route.

"A charge that a public officer has taken a bribe is, of course, libelous, and such a charge, like any other libel, may as well be made by veiled insinuation as by direct statement. This brings the case within the rule stated as to ambiguous publications; and since the complaint alleges that the words were used in their libelous sense, it is sufficient, and the trial court erred in sustaining the demurrer."

WIFE GIVEN DECREE

Two Days of Married Life Plenty So Husband Leaves

Two days of married life was enough for Frank J. Gaul, according to Mrs. Mildred M. Gaul, who appeared before Superior Judge Yankwich yesterday asking for a divorce on grounds of desertion.

"He left after two days of wedded life," the wife complained, "and I never have heard of him since."

"Decree granted," declared the judge.

The couple were married on February 24, 1925.

LIGHTS FOR OLIVE STREET

The Council yesterday directed the institution of proceedings for the installation of an ornamental lighting system on Olive street from Seventh to Twenty-third streets, the work to be done in company with the other improvements scheduled for this stretch of Olive street.

TOPETE PLOT FRUSTRATED

Scheme to Kidnap Former Governor of Sonora for Ransom Seems to Have Blown Up

Simultaneously with the disclosure yesterday that Plutarco Topete, former Governor of the State of Sonora, Mex., believed himself to be the target of a plot in which a group of bandits planned to force him to pay from $10,000 to $150,000 ransom money with the arrangement of being handed over to the Federal government to be "taken in custody" local police announced that the asserted scheme apparently has blown up.

Following an investigation to find what it was all about Acting Chief of Detectives Taylor stated he learned that on the 1st inst. Capt. of Detectives Cato, head of the police homicide squad, was visited by Topete and that a statement regarding the supposed plot was taken from him by Detective Lieutenants Torres and Dominguez.

FEARS AROUSED

Capt. Cato then left on his vacation and nothing further was said or done about the matter, Taylor stated. Torres declared that they had trailed no suspicious characters and that Topete had not asked for protection or reported further developments.

In his statement to the detectives Topete declared that a friend had told him that a lawyer had told him that a gang of bandits was scheming to kidnap him and take him to Mexico in an airplane if he failed to give them $10,000.

"And I was told," said Topete in the statement, "that once they got me in the airplane they would demand $150,000 more."

SUBJECT TO SEIZURE

Topete admitted, according to the statement, that he would be subject to a court-martial if he were to fall into the hands of the present Federal government of Mexico. He did not admit that he had led any revolutionary organization during recent civil strife, but declared he was, at the time, a member of the constitutional government.

"I left Mexico in May because of the revolution," he declared in the statement, "and have been here ever since."

Topete declared that he owns a drug store at 3671 East First street, and lives at 715 West Thirtieth street. His wife, he stated, is in Hermosillo, Son.

Werdin Concern Allowed to Bid

The City Attorney yesterday filed with the Board of Public Works the opinion that it is perfectly correct and legal for the board to sign contracts for street work with the Los Angeles Paving Company, whose president and general manager is E. R. Werdin, president of the Fire Commission.

This opinion was asked by Public Works Commissioner Hyde, Mayor Porter's recent appointee. Commissioner Werdin has not hesitated to criticise the Porter administration.

The Public Works Commissioners filed the opinion without comment.

The opinion, written by Deputy City Attorney Neal, declares that inasmuch as the street work contracts do not come before the Fire Commission, it is legal for the Board of Public Works to award them to Werdin's company.

Lid off in Grand Jury Investigation of Liquor Graft

POLICE PLEDGE CO-OPERATION

Commissioners and Jurors Confer on Protection

New Witnesses Found and Quiz Gains Impetus

Evidence Said to be Ample to Warrant Indictments

Following a conference with three members of the Los Angeles Police Commission, members of the county grand jury yesterday announced that the "lid is off" in the investigation of reported liquor graft and protection agreements between certain gangsters and bootleggers and police officers, but the quantity and nature of evidence already obtained indicates the inquiry will continue for at least two weeks more.

The conference was held in the grand jury rooms, where Commissioners Thorpe, Drake and Coe spent a half hour discussing the investigation with grand jury members. The three commissioners, invited to confer with the grand jury by Ellis Deputies, foreman, pledged full support and expressed a desire to co-operate in any manner possible.

Meanwhile it was revealed that the names of at least three other important witnesses have been obtained. Subpoenas will be issued ordering their presence before the grand jury at its next session, Tuesday.

ACTION WITHHELD

Official evidence already has been obtained to warrant the return of indictments in several instances, according to Forrest Hamilton, Deputy District Attorney in charge of grand-jury matters. No public action, however, will be taken in the matter until all the evidence has been heard by the grand jury. Ten witnesses were called to testify yesterday and as many more are called for next Wednesday.

Harry D. McDonald, charged with conspiracy to violate the Wright Act, whose asserted confession precipitated the inquiry, is being guarded by deputy sheriffs.

Co-operation with the District Attorney's office and the grand jury in investigations was assured by the Police Commission in a statement issued yesterday following a conference with Chief of Police Davis.

Chief Davis, who had returned from a vacation in the High Sierras, denied knowledge of the charges made by members of the Police Department, was included in the plan of co-operation as announced by the Police Commission. The chief, after the conference with the commission, was closeted for almost an hour with Major Porter and afterward described the report that he had been "ordered to return" by the commissioners, as reported in some quarters, as untrue.

LIQUORS DISTILLED

The chief, upon his return, was informed of the action of the commission recently in delegating to him the job of suggesting some police quarters in place of the present Police station and jail, provided by the city health officer a menace to the city's health, but in view of the commissioners the move against police officers taken by the grand jury and the chief will co-operate with the commissioners in every way possible in connection with the investigations of the McDonald charges by the District Attorney and the grand jury.

It is understood that no action will be taken toward the suspension of officers named by McDonald until their indictments be returned against them by the grand jury. Indictments will result automatically in their suspension and removal, if they are found guilty.

Raids followed by police to have been made and operated by McDonald, it is charged, liquor-aging plant was discovered by vice squad officers operating at 2217½ East Sixteenth street, two men were arrested and a large quantity of whisky confiscated.

The raid was conducted by Police Captain Crane and Rogers under the direct supervision of Deputy Chief Horrall.

PLANT IN DUGOUT

The plant was camouflaged under the appearances of an ordinary ...ranch house, Crane reported. In the garage were found two automobiles. Between the partitions of the ceiling were found fifty-one ...gallon tanks of whisky and a ...floor opening into an underground tunnel. Crawling through the tunnel the officers came to a ...room about twenty feet wide and ...forty feet in length located under the house.

In the underground chamber the officers reported finding eighteen ...seven gallon barrels of whisky in the process of aging by electric heat and empty one-gallon bottles and forty-five empty five-gallon ...cans. The electricity used to heat the liquor, was being stolen, police stated, wires having been attached behind the power meter installed by the electric company.

Ernest Amante, 36 years of age, and Joe Vanzant, 32, found in the place standing on the front of the cars were taken into custody as owners of the liquor. Both denied the charge.

Chief Crane declared that information which led to the raid disclosed the fact that the plant was run at McDonald's.

FILM STAR WILL WED NEXT WEEK

Janet Gaynor Surprises Her Friends

Lydell Peck and Actress Bride-to-Be

JANET GAYNOR, star of films, and Lydell Peck, Oakland attorney and member of a prominent northern family will be married next Wednesday, according to announcement made yesterday. The young couple filed their notice of intention yesterday at the Alameda County Courthouse in Oakland. She is 22 years of age and Peck is 30.

While the place for the wedding was not announced the following guests will attend: Mrs. Laura Gaynor, mother of the actress; James Peck, father of Peck; Miss Gaynor's aunt, Mrs. A. B. Avery, and Miss Gaynor's companion-secretary, Mrs. Harry Thompson.

The marriage will be the culmination of a romance that began more than a year ago when Peck, after seeing Miss Gaynor in "Seventh Heaven," persuaded his friend, William K. Howard, film director, to introduce him.

Miss Gaynor departed for Oakland Thursday night with her mother but failed to tell her friends of her plans for marriage, which did not become known until she and Peck appeared for the license. They have been engaged for some months.

The couple plan to sail for Honolulu on a honeymoon trip as guests of Senator Robert Shingle, president of the Hawaiian Senate and former Governor of the Territory of Hawaii. They will remain in the islands for two months. Miss Gaynor does not plan to give up her film career.

Squabble Over Untermeyer Has Another Inning

The City Council engaged in another skirmish yesterday over the employment of Samuel Untermeyer, New York lawyer, to represent this city against the Los Angeles Railway Corporation before the United States Supreme Court, October 12, in the fare rate increase, with the prospect of another squabble next Tuesday. The occasion of the discussion was the report of City Attorney Werner declaring he is quite willing to co-operate with Untermeyer in the event Council decided to hire him.

Councilmen Davis, Ingram, Webster, Burns and Cooke, in speaking on the matter, apparently concluded that the City Attorney and his staff have completed preparations of the case and are adequate to cope with the situation. Burns said if special counsel is employed so late in the day he will use that as an excuse if the city loses, while claiming all credit if the city wins.

A few weeks ago Council disposed of the Untermeyer matter by sustaining former Mayor Cryer's veto of an appropriation of $25,000 for his employment. It was revived by resolution last Tuesday. The matter eventually was referred to the Public Utilities Committee for report next Tuesday.

MOTHER OF BOY PRODIGY IS INDICTED

Sending Obscene Letters Laid to Woman Convicted in School Evasion Case

A secret indictment charging the sending of obscene letters in the mails has been returned against Mrs. Violet Barry, recently convicted in Municipal Court for refusal to send her son Jack, 9 years of age, to school, it was learned yesterday. The Federal grand jury indicted Mrs. Barry on four counts. These charge that she sent improper letters in the mails on July 23 and 29, to Municipal Judge Thompson, on August 11 to Dist.-Atty. Fitts and on August 16 to Carl Ramsdell, general supervisor of the city Board of Education. Bail was set at $3500.

Deputy United States Marshal Jones was ordered to produce Mrs. Barry before United States Commissioner Hanson today. The deputy will seek the aid of a woman deputy sheriff before going to Mrs. Barry's home at 4620½ Second avenue.

Municipal Judge Thompson, on July 12, suspended a five-day sentence on Mrs. Barry after a jury in his court had found her guilty of violating the new State school law. At that time Judge Thompson ordered the mother to send her son to school, commenting that he had acquired a superego. Mrs. Barry had combatted sending her son to school with children of his age, contending that she had educated him by a secret method since he was 18 months of age, and that, in education, he was the equal of a person of 19. The boy has delivered sixty-six lectures ranging from California history to theology, his favorite topic being astronomy.

Charley Chase Gains in Health

Charley Chase, screen comedian, has escaped the possibility of an operation for the present at least, according to announcement made yesterday at the Hal Roach Studios. Chase has been ill for several weeks at his home in Santa Monica suffering from a stomach ailment.

GANG FILM THRILLS TO STIR COURT

Judge Tappaan, Not Screen Fan, Will View Production to Aid in Piracy Decision

For more than an hour today Superior Judge Tappaan will tingle with all the hair-raising thrills that are created in the run of the gangster film, "The Carnation Kid," after which he will decide whether the story portrayed is a steal from "Dapper Dan," written by Rowland Brown, scenario writer.

Although Judge Tappaan is not a film fan, having all the refined tastes of a bookworm and collector of rare volumes in literature, when hearing of the case brought by Brown against Douglas MacLean and others, asserting piracy, came to a close yesterday, he consented to view the picture, which will be run especially for the benefit of the court at the Paramount company studio at 5451 Marathon avenue. The show will start at 2 p.m.

Attorney Harold Fendler, counsel for Brown, said he is desirous of having the judge see the picture to prove to him that it was deliberately purloined from the manuscript of "Dapper Dan," which had been submitted to the Christie Productions for sale, written especially for Douglas MacLean, motion picture actor.

Attorney Frank James, counsel for the motion-picture concern, assisted by Attorney Paul Lowenthal, also desire a running of the picture for the judge to prove that although both stories deal with gangster and underworld life, the treatment of their story differs materially with, that written by Brown.

Brown is asking for a restraining order to stop the showing of "The Carnation Kid," and for an accounting of profits made from it. After the showing of the film today Judge Tappaan will take the case under submission.

Sunday May Be Given Summons by Publication

If Billy Sunday, Jr., son of the famous evangelist, can not be located by process servers, he will be served with papers in his wife's divorce case by publication, Mrs. Julia Mae Sunday's attorney said yesterday.

Efforts to locate the defendant for a statement were unavailing yesterday, but friends said he will not contest the case. Mrs. Sunday, in her petition, charges extreme cruelty, saying her husband sent her away from home for week-end trips and himself stayed away from home for as long as two weeks without explaining his absence. Another charge is that Sunday failed to appear at dinner on numerous occasions after he had invited guests.

Sunday, who is engaged in the real-estate business, has made a property settlement with his wife, it is stated. His present marriage is the defendant's second. Mrs Millicent Sunday, his former wife, is defendant in an alienation suit for $50,000 brought by Mrs. Olive Day. The suit still is pending.

PRIESTS GO TODAY ON TOUR OF WORLD

DRUGGIST'S WIFE GRANTED DIVORCE

[P. & A. photo]

Mrs. Johnston, represented by Attorney Clyde M. Murphy, told the court that she married Johnston on October 1, 1921, and that he left her on May 15, 1928.

Murphy explained that a property settlement had been made out of court.

VALENTI-CASE JURY STILL OUT

Baby Slayer's Sanity Debated Thirty-five Hours

Deadlock Would Develop Unparalleled Instance

Panel May be Held Longer Than Noon Today

More than thirty-five hours' deliberation had failed last night in Supreior Judge McComb's court to bring a verdict from a jury considering the sanity of Mrs. Josephine Valenti, 19-year-old wife convicted last week of first-degree murder in connection with the burning to death July 8, last, of her 8-month-old son Dominich. The jury was taken to dinner at 6 p.m. and locked up for the night at 10 p.m.

Protracted discussion of the case by the eight men and four women comprising the jury indicates a deadlock without parallel in the history of the local Superior Court.

It took the same jury only two hours and twenty minutes to convict Mrs. Valenti of first-degree murder. But it appeared likely at a late hour yesterday that this jury will be unable to agree on the question of whether Mrs. Valenti was sane or insane at the time she fired the carriage in which her baby was sleeping in the yard of the Valenti home at 609½ Moulton street.

JURY SEEKS LIGHT

The sanity issue was raised by Defense Attorneys William Christensen and William Crop after Mrs. Valenti had been convicted of the murder charge. If found sane she will face life imprisonment in San Quentin under the verdict previously returned. If pronounced insane by the jury, Mrs. Valenti probably will be committed to a State institution for the insane.

The jury reported to the court only once yesterday, and then to ask that the testimony of Drs. Cecil Reynolds and Paul Bowers, alienists, be read to them.

Dr. Reynolds, who was called by the defense, although appointed as a court expert, expressed the opinion that Mrs. Valenti is insane and a "low-grade imbecile."

Dr. Bowers, however, testified that he believes Mrs. Valenti to be sane, that he had noted no reaction on her part to any examination that would indicate she was other than normal.

The disparity of opinion between the two experts seemed to be an index to the differences that had kept the jury deadlocked for two court days.

WILL KEEP JURY OUT

Judge McComb announced he will keep the jury out until noon today or longer, possibly, unless a verdict is reached. If the jury disagrees on the question of Mrs. Valenti's sanity she will be given another trial on this issue, but the verdict in the murder case will not be affected.

The State charged Mrs. Valenti set fire to her baby's carriage because she no longer desired the child and took that means to get rid of him.

Mrs. Valenti, who testified at both the murder and sanity trials in her own defense, denied knowledge of how her baby's carriage was fired. She also declared she underwent an operation two months after the baby was born and that since that time she has suffered "dizzy spells," during which she has done things for which she later could not account.

Mrs. Valenti was prosecuted by Dep. Dist.-Attys. Penney and Dennison.

Evening Schools Prepare to Open Classes Tuesday

Four Los Angeles evening high schools yesterday announced they are receiving registrations for the free courses embodied in the fall term scheduled for opening Tuesday. They are Sentous, Polytechnic, Roosevelt and Manual Arts evening high schools.

The Sentous courses include all branches of commercial work, English, Spanish, French, history, mathematics, music, civil service, home nursing, mental hygiene, polychrome art, figure drawing, business law, shop, millinery, dressmaking, flower making, art leather, physical education and aeronautics.

At Polytechnic a free law course is offered. According to Dr. Arthur Briggs, chairman of the department, the first ten students to complete the course were admitted to practice during the past year.

The curriculum at Roosevelt embraces all popular trade, commercial and other preparatory courses leading to graduation; and that at Manual Arts has been increased by the addition of a course in machine-book-keeping and billing.

COUNCIL ABANDONS LIGHT PROCEEDINGS

Proceedings for the installation of lighting appliances in the Seventy-fourth and Central avenue district were abandoned yesterday by the City Council. The hearing of protests against the improvement of Glen Arbor avenue at Buena Vista Terrace and the improvement of Union avenue between Second and Acacia streets was continued until March 13, next, and the hearing of protests against the establishment of setback lines in Oakwood avenue from New Hampshire avenue to Heliotrope Drive was continued until the 30th inst.

In Los Angeles there is a remarkable opportunity for women to make money with candies! The Liberty Candy & Supply Co. are now forming day and evening classes for chocolate-dipping, candy making, cake decorating, etc., so let me urge you to go in and see them soon, or write for an explanatory booklet. The address is 420 Grant Bldg., 326 So. Broadway. (TU. 4196.)

The old bugbear . . . what to give the schoolchild for lunch is beautifully solved for you by the Sur-Val Box Lunch Company. They have a school box lunch that it a wonder. It contains five items, all of which are most wholesome and good: for the quality of their lunches leaves nothing to be desired. Give your small son or daughter such a lunch and be relieved in a very satisfactory manner of the irksome task. The address of the Sur-Val Box Lunch Company is 609 Mateo street; phone number, FAber 1176. They prepare lunches and sandwiches for all occasions you know.

To remove ink stains from furniture (mahogany, rosewood or black walnut,) put six drops of sweet spirits of niter in a spoonful of water and touch stains with a feather wet in the mixture; as soon as stains disappear, rub with a cloth dampened with cold water or sweet oil. Alcohol will also remove ink stains.

There is absolutely no reason in the world why you should be bothered by ants with "Calpro" available, for it rids house and grounds of the small pests in an hour's time —and keeps them from coming back! Let me suggest that you write or phone the Calpro Sales Company, 3616 West Pico. (EMpire 1098.) They also have offices at 1329 Santa Monica Boulevard, Beverly Hills, and 15 East Canon Perdido, Santa Barbara.

To bait a mouse-trap, try a piece of fried bacon rind instead of cheese; pumpkin seeds are also very attractive. Scald rat or mouse traps well with strong soapsuds each time after trapping one and catch all that smell the bait.

Old-fashioned wedding rings are modernized—new wedding rings of exquisite design and modest cost—at the Peerless Platers, mes amies, so go up and see Mr. Kent the first chance you get. He repairs jewelry of all kinds and resets, recuts and polishes all kinds of precious and semi-precious stones. 229½ S. Spring is the address.

School days once more are here! How are you going to co-operate with those instructors who have the welfare of your wee lad or lassie at heart for the next nine months. You, too, must do your part by building up their little bodies: strengthening them physically by giving them nourishing food and beverages. In the latter class comes Guasti Concentrated Grape Juice, which should fill a most important part. Guasti Concentrated Grape Juice makes a very delicious—and what is even more necessary—very beneficial beverage which is mighty fine for growing children—and oh, how they love it!

So when you buy a quart or gallon (as you are certain to later on) and dilute it with three parts water, you make a drink the properties of which give just the tone and strength to growing bodies that is needed to make them robust.

Guasti Concentrated Grape Juice you buy from any good grocer. If he cannot supply you with what you desire, then phone the Italian Vineyard—MUtual 2134, and they will promptly care for your order. Their address—in case you live out of town and wish to order this splendid product—is 1240 Palmetto street.

P.S. Ask to have a copy of "Grape Drinks and Deserts" inclosed with your order.

Carpet sweepers are invaluable for the times in between vacuum cleaning, but the sweeper must be kept clean, all lint removed from the brush and the bristles wiped with a cloth dipped in kerosene occasionally. Then you will get real service from the sweeper.

You really look forward to going into the Woman's Department of the Bank of Italy National Trust and Savings Association at Seventh and Olive—so friendly is the atmosphere and so anxious are all the girls up there to show you every courtesy. Then you always have Miss Grace R. Stoermer, the gracious head of this department, to take your financial problems to. If you haven't opened an account there, do it soon!

To remove grease from carpet, rub on the spots a mixture of fuller's earth, oxgall and water; then rinse out with clear water and rub as dry as possible with dry cloth.

There is no "open season" for slip covers for they are ideal the year 'round in California—the only question wich arises is where to have them made, so it is with much pleasure that I recommend the West Coast Slip Cover Company of 1425 W. Eighth street. They do beautiful work at reasonable prices and their covers fit perfectly! They also make draperies, submitting samples and prices. Phone them for an estimate, why don't you? DRexel 6728 is the number.

Finger-marks on a piano or highly polished furniture are quickly removed by rubbing lightly with a cloth dipped in alcohol; polish with soft chamois.

There is always a place in your home for Fluff rugs, so if you have any carpets that are worn out, utilize them by having rugs made from them by the Hoffman Rug Works of 2214 W. Jefferson (EMpire 2048.) They make Colonial rugs out of rags, don't forget.

Diplomat from Mexico City on Southland Visit

Lucas de Palacio, for sixteen years a member of the Diplomatic Corps of Mexico and for the last eight years manager of the Regis Hotel of Mexico City, is a guest at the Biltmore.

"Diplomats and hotel managers are very much alike," he said yesterday. "They have the common end of establishing better relationships among the people of all nations. The Mexican government is doing its best to alter conditions which in the past have been an impediment to the nation's advancement and I believe the future will prove that present measures have been timely and to the best interests of our country.

"Much is due to America's Ambassador, Mr. Morrow, for the smoothing out of our troubles.

"I came across the border to place my son, Lucas, Jr., in the New Mexico Military Academy at Roswell, where he will take a course in hotel administration. He is to spend his vacation working as bell boy or in other apprenticeship capacities in American hotels and later is to attend Cornell University."

The possibility of a flight to San Francisco will depend upon mooring facilities in the Bay City, company officers said. Lieut. Carl Lang and Burl Campbell, pilots of the blimp, will be the only passengers from this city.

Today's Bible Text

"For where envying and strife is, there is confusion and every evil work." James iii:16.

LITTLE CROWDED

Those who went to our neighboring beaches on Labor Day will know exactly how the middle sardine in a can feels about this congestion business.

STARTING A WAR

If the women don't wear hair nets demanding a referendum on prohibition. This is about the same as talking hop. It is an easy way to start another war in which they could still be veterans.

NO MUZZLES

One of the film companies is putting out what it calls the very last word in talking pictures, but there is a suspicion that this promise is not to be fulfilled. Some actor will come along with another word.

DEATH BY ACCIDENT

During the year ending July 1 the county coroner held 4174 inquests. In 97 cases death was said to be due to natural causes, but no less than 745 were killed in traffic tragedies. This toll runs steadily on with no abatement.

MIXED PICKLES

They are making a lot of American plays in the German and other languages for the new talkies. Some of the American dramas must be frightfully impossible when done in other tongues, but in the demand for entertainment the movie magnates seem able to get away with it.

BET RESULTS

If the women don't wear hair nets any more there seems to be a use for them. The male flyers are all taking to them. They keep the hair under cover and prevent it from blowing in their eyes and gumming up their vision. The net is the best thing they can find for this purpose and even Lindy is liable to turn up with one of them to keep that tousled lock out of his glims.

THE GRAND OLD MAN

At the age of 66, but feeling as fresh as a daisy, Senator Francis E. Warren is planning his campaign for another term. He has been in the United States Senate for thirty-nine years and will hold the record for continuous service. He will have practically no opposition. No one has the likelihood to seriously contend for his seat.

HEAD OF THE HOUSE

An Oakland widower with eleven children has been giving the kids away to neighbors as Christmas and birthday presents, but now the court steps in and says that this habit is contrary to public policy. The judge is about right all the children back and make the father support them—although the visiting arrangement has worked fairly well with all parties. But the major point is that an American father is the head of his home and must bear the responsibility of and for the children.

NO REWARD PAID

When all the world itched to get its hands upon William Edward Hickman, the slayer of Marion Parker, the Los Angeles City Council voted a reward of $10,000 for the arrest of the murderer. The assassin was taken and other rewards offered by the State, county and private subscription were paid, but thus far the reward offered by the city has never been distributed—although those entitled to the money are well known. Now the opinion is given that under the city charter it could not lawfully pay the reward. So the city welches.

NO GOOD SPENDER

Jose Vasconcelos is running for president of the cactus republic on a platform of a Mexico-for-Mexicans program which is not considered friendly to Americans. He announces very frankly that he does not expect to economize in government. He figures on spending more because it will be necessary, but he hopes to give the people their money's worth. A politician in this country would not get very far on this program, although it smacks of a certain brand of honesty—such as admitting the taking of the money. There are lots of worse things in politics.

A NEW BLOW AT INDUSTRY

A new anti-injunction bill has grown out of a conference between Senator Walsh of Montana, Senators Blaine and Norris and members of the executive committee of the American Federation of Labor which is a far more radical measure than even the Shipstead bill rejected at the last session of Congress. The Senators compose a special subcommittee of the Senate Judiciary Committee.

The bill proposes to exempt from injunction the action of ceasing to work singly or in concert, paying strike benefits, the making of speeches, assembling to act, agreeing upon action and inviting others to join; it forbids courts to enforce, by injunction or otherwise, contracts binding an employee not to join a labor union; guarantees to union members, as a right, refusal to work on material produced by nonunion labor; and declarer dissolved all injunctions now in force which are not in conformity with these provisions.

The Shipstead bill, which was the federation's favorite patent medicine last year, would have forbidden the courts to protect anything but "tangible property," an absurdity in view of the fact that intangibles are frequently the most valuable assets of business. But the proposed substitute is even more unfair and inequitable, not only to employers, but to the more than 91 per cent of American workmen who prefer freedom from being dictated to by walking delegates. It is in the interests alone of the less than 9 per cent of workmen represented by labor organizations.

These proportions should be enough to settle its fate, but even they do not tell the story, since really the sole beneficiaries would be the small percentage who fall into the "labor-leader" class. It is these alone who make anything out of strikes, boycotts and other tactics and strategy of industrial warfare. The real wage earners win through peaceful production.

The unfairness of most of these provisions is visible at a glance. Efforts to forbid employers from contracting to keep union disturbers out of their plants have been made in various other ways and before many legislative bodies, but no proponent of the plan is ever able to explain why the organization that seeks to impose the closed "union shop" should deny a parallel right to the employer, that of insisting upon a closed nonunion shop. If the law interferes in the matter at all, it can only do so equitably by forbidding both kinds of closed shops and establishing the open shop.

No individual and no organization ever gained anything in the long run by seeking to take an unfair advantage, and to attempt to put an unfair advantage into the law of the land, for the supposed benefit of a particular class, especially when that class is very small, is directly contrary to the spirit of all American institutions. It is bad policy for the American Federation of Labor itself.

That there have been occasional abuses in the issuance of injunctions is hardly disputable. Neither is it disputable that the protection of life and property is the first duty of government, and that where one injunction has injured a labor organization unjustly, fifty have carried out this first duty as it could not have been carried out otherwise.

The injunction is a remedy intended to be applicable where there is no remedy at law—that is, where for one reason or another, adequate money damages are not obtainable, and there is no substitute for its protection. The function of equity courts is so important in the protection of everybody's rights that interference with their powers and jurisdiction is a very grave matter. The unions are not contending for any right anybody ought to have, whether employer or worker, and if they should win such a measure as this new proposal it would, in the long run, be as damaging to them as to industry in general.

This point was made clearly by Justice Brandeis of the United States Supreme Court when he said: "Industrial liberty, like civil liberty, must rest upon the solid foundation of law. Disregard the law in either, however good your motives, and you have anarchy. The plea of trade unions for immunity, be it from injunction or from liability for damages, is as fallacious as the plea of the lynchers. If lawless methods are pursued by trade unions, whether it be by violence, by intimidation or by the more peaceful infringement of legal rights, that lawlessness must be put down at once and at any cost."

Attributing 40 per cent of the motor accidents at controlled intersections in Baltimore to the making of left-hand turns by drivers, the Safety Council of that city is making the prohibition of such turns a public issue. In Philadelphia Traffic Director Schofield says he is going to prohibit left turns, not only at specified congested crossings, but in the entire central traffic section. The director, who seems to have almost unlimited authority in Philadelphia traffic affairs, defends his position by pointing to the great increase in crossing accidents, "due to the State rule confining all turns to the green light signal," whatever that means. A howl of protest has gone up against his proposal, but the director is firm in his intention to adopt the rule.

No such radical prohibition has been contemplated in Los Angeles. There were formerly a considerable number of crossings in the downtown district where left-hand turns were prohibited, but in recent years they have been reduced to ten and there seems to be no good reason for more.

Only a small percentage of motor accidents is attributed by our local authorities to left turns at controlled intersections. If Baltimore has 40 per cent it must have a signal system far inferior to that of Los Angeles.

A left turn is by no means hazardous when a competent driver is at the wheel, in a proper line. Still the technique of the turn is not simple when the opposing traffic is heavy. The trouble generally comes from the evolutions of the erratic driver, who shoots through each gap in the traffic, never seeming to realise that a crowded city street is the last place in the world for swift or abrupt maneuvers in a motor car.

HAPPY ISLANDERS

If the poet's dream of the happy isles is to be realised anywhere it probably is in the Malayan Archipelago. We have the word of John G. Hill, professor of theology and archeology at the University of Southern California, that he has found on Bali, just east of Java and a little below the equator, "the most fascinating island in the world," where there are no rich, no poor and all live happily and contentedly without the so-called comforts and luxuries of modern civilization. Prof. Hill says that on Bali "time turns back 4000 years."

Bali is 2168 square miles in area, or a little larger than the State of Delaware. As it probably would not afford means of subsistence for more than a million people, we cannot all go to live there, even if we all had the steamer fare.

Neither Robert Louis Stevenson nor Jack London ever saw such an island or such a people in all their voyages in the South Seas. They always found ugly pictures of island life to depict along with the pleasant ones, while Frederick O'Brien, in his "White Shadows in the South Seas," presents many a dark tragedy.

In Prof. Hill's roseate view of Bali there is no dark side of the life there. Yet few people with hardwood floors, radios, overstuffed furniture and smooth-running sedans would care to exchange their lives for those of the Balians. It is dismal enough for lively stepping people of middle age to hark back to the motorless and radioless days of their youth without going back 4000 years.

OLD STUFF

By James J. Montague

Some solemn, somber self-styled sage
Whose thoughts keep laggard pace
Says women, in a thousand years,
Will dominate the race.
He says that men are, bit by bit,
As well as day by day,
Becoming ready to submit
To woman's rule and sway.
And that she is by nature planned
To order, govern and command.
Where has this owlish person been
Who takes this curious tone?
What lands has he been dwelling in,
What woman has he known?
Had he as much as read of Troy
Or England's royal dames
He'd burn or otherwise destroy
The doctrine he proclaims.
Imagine Cleopatra's sneer
If such a notion she should hear.
A thousand years, poor doting wight,
Is quite a time away,
But women exercise the right
To boss men 'round today.
They may not fancy that she rules
Yet the sad fact remains
That men are merely toiling fools
And woman holds the reins.
She's plied the governing pursuit
Since Eve ate that forbidden fruit.

Points of especial interest to motorists:

The Receiving Hospital at Georgia street police station.

Assistant Receiving Hospital on Pasadena avenue..

General Hospital.

Other hospitals.

And that cemetery which is so attractive lots of folks are just dying to go there.

World Champs in Both

Lee: I note that after publishing the motor-license questions, The Times published the real estate-license questions. Can it be that the persons interested in those two things are comparable? I always thought you had at least twice as many realtors out here as motorists.—X. N. Yorker.

By Way of a Hint

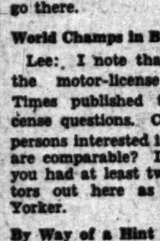
"I'm surprised you don't go in for this pyjama fad, Mr. Lytebrayne," the office manager of a downtown firm said to the ornamental young man who thinks he looks just like Ronald Colman, and goes out somewhere every night.



"Bah Jove, I have been thinking of it! But why do you suggest it?"

"Because I notice that most of the time you're half asleep here in the office."

The Sorrows of Those Who Have Too Much

We never have really known anything about the problems of the very rich; but we've been feeling a little sorry for those folks ever since our plums, our peaches, our figs and our grapes all got ripe at the same time.

That happened just at the time when we wanted to go away for a vacation. But we couldn't tear ourself away. For we knew if there was any kid in the neighborhood who was half as bad as we used to be when we were mother's little angel there wouldn't be any fruit left when we got back.

Even if the kids left the fruit alone, we thought with grief, how much would spoil on the trees and on the ground beneath the trees. So we gave up our vacation and doggedly tried to eat fruit as rapidly as the trees ripened it.

First Days the Easiest

Did you ever try to keep up with a plum, a peach (Elberta,) a fig tree and three or four grape vines?

Day after day it was our task, pleasant at first, to eat ten or more Elbertas, three quarts of plums, a dozen figs and three pounds of grapes.

Our appetite began to fall off. Somehow we didn't show much relish for our regular meals. Our wife became alarmed and called the doctor.

He told us we'd better cut fruit out of our diet for a few days.

But then we were feeling too punk to go away on that vacation.

And the children were all so colicky we couldn't think of it, anyway.

The Land of Plenty

So we tried to give the surplus fruit to the neighbors. But you know how it is in the suburbs of Los Angeles—from three to one hundred fruit trees in every yard. We were too late. More generous and experienced neighbors had beaten us to it.

So after all the greater part of our fruit fell and squashed on the ground. It had kept us prisoner for weeks, had caused us internal pains and mental worry. We never got any real pleasure out of it. And it hurt us like the dickens, at the end, to see it going to waste.

No, we don't know anything about the problems of the very rich. But we have learned that having too much of anything takes all the joy and freedom out of life.

WHAT OTHERS THINK ABOUT IT

BASEBALL—WITH BANNERS

[Baltimore Sun.]

A few years ago one of the great questions enlivening organized baseball and its devout followers was the propriety of the so-called "trick delivery." Pitchers, it was alleged, were no longer content to take a baseball in one hand or the other, spin round like a top and throw. They were not content with speed, change of pace, hooks, fadeways, knuckle and fork balls. Being a studious lot, committed to devious ways, they had, the batters said, taken to alum, emory paper, tobacco juice and various other substances in order to roughen part of the ball, or darken it, so that on its way to the plate it looked funny and acted worse.

The trick deliveries were abolished by fiat, and since then Babe Ruth has knocked hundreds of home runs, .300 percentages have turned out to be a matter of course, no pitcher has won thirty games in a season and the "lively" ball has become the apple of the batter's eye. But now the Chicago Cubs think they have discovered a new trick delivery. Mr. Arthur Vance, called Dazzy and the Dazzler, of the Brooklyn Dodgers, throws it, they say; Mr. Vance being one of baseball's premier paragons, a strikeout artist and just a cruel keeper to the Cubs. They say he wears ragged undershirt and when he moves his arm as only a great pitcher can, they are so fascinated by the pennants and streamers of macerated undershirt waving and fluttering in the air that they forget to watch the ball. So they are demanding that Dazzy Vance wear a garment that stays where it belongs and doesn't divert attention.

It's a very fine problem and we shall be interested to see what solution is found for it. The trouble with it as a problem is, of course, that it is unique. There are plenty of pitchers who can keep their shirts on while under fire. There also are a number who lose them as soon as the fire starts. But the secret of Mr. Vance's success against Chicago apparently is that the Cubs cannot tell whether he is keeping or losing his. Whether or not the Cubs' charges are made out of whole cloth we do not know. But their point is that Mr. Vance's shirt isn't.

WHAT WET FIGURES PROVE

[Kansas City Star]

It wouldn't require any deep guessing contest to determine the kind of figures in which the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment is most interested. Yet, taken at their face value, the association's figures on increased seizures of distilling apparatus, illicit liquor of all kinds and an apparently growing number of arrests for drunkenness show simply that enforcement efforts have improved through the years of prohibition.

Recent statistics would have been even more convincing. In Kansas City, for example, in other Missouri cities and in the rest of the country there probably have been more arrests for all forms of liquor law violations in the last three or four months than in any previous period since prohibition went into effect. According to the association this would show a big jump in the production, sale and consumption of liquor. What it does show is a big jump in enforcement.

BRITISH PLANS

Troops of the Allies have been in no hurry to evacuate the Rhineland, but now that the reparation settlements have been agreed upon Great Britain takes her 6000 soldiers out of the occupied territory at once. In making his stubborn fight for a higher percentage of the cut Sir Philip Snowden is supposed to have added to the prestige of the MacDonald government. Now in hurrying out of Germany they are gaining the good will of the Teutons. The Britons have changed their brand of diplomacy, but what they have may be none the less effective.

A Captious Critic

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 28.—[To th. Editor of The Times:] The articles of Mabel Willebrandt in The Times have thrown no new light on the prohibition question, as the same ground has been covered and the same arguments advanced on numerous occasions. She freely admits that prohibition does not prohibit, that the bootlegger, the hijacker and the racketeer are the natural offspring of prohibition and that the States which have no enforcement act have nullified the Eighteenth Amendment and it is impossible of enforcement in these States.

She cannot hide her resentment at not being boss of the whole works, especially judge and jury of the Jones law and taken altogether with the reflections cast on the duly constituted authorities no one except the wets will weep at Mabel fading from the picture.

Mrs. Willebrandt conclusively shows she is no student or judge of the human element and belongs to the school of thought which would have strung the Boston tea party to the yardarm and would have taken a special delight in burning witches and tethering Covenanters in the sea.

"A Plague on Both Your Houses"

CLAREMONT, Sept. 3.—[To the Editor of The Times:] It might be a debatable question which is the greatest nuisance, the radical wets or the radical drys. What are we going to do about it? We are positive it is unlawful to chloroform, drown or shoot them.

The only solution of the problem that we know of is to get them inoculated with the virus of the foot disease, as they already have the mouth disease. Then we would have a legitimate right to eradicate them.

We of the Never-Never

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 3.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Having just returned from Australia, where I had the pleasure of meeting the author of "We of the Never-Never," from which Maj. Burnham quotes so much in his interesting articles, I would like to point out that this wonderful book was not written by Aeneas Gunn, as he says, but by Mrs. Aeneas Gunn, who spent one happy year in that far-off land as the "little Missus" of the "Maluka," a big Scotchman who managed one of the immense stations of the northern territory.

The book is intensely interesting and the authoress one of the heroines of Australian pioneer life.

Bad Grammar Isn't Funny

GLENDALE, Sept. 1.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Permit me to add a few words to the discussion of Will Rogers's diction. It is supposed to be humorous, but bad grammar never is funny to an educated reader, any more than bad spelling. I never could see the humor in Josh Billings, who purposely spelled nearly every word wrong in his sketches.

We have too much "hick" stuff in our newspapers. It gives the impression that we enjoy it, which many of us, who like correct diction, do not.

Will Rogers is all right as a whimsical philosopher and satirist. He gains nothing by the use of double negatives and other abuse of English. If he knows any better than to employ such abominable diction, why in the world does he use it?

A Bouquet for Dr. McCoy

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 1.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Permit me to add my word of commendation for the instructive articles published in your paper by Dr. Frank McCoy on "Health and Diet." These articles are deserving and should be read by everyone. They have helped me and many others.

WHERE CAN I LEARN

Oil Painting?

BY LOUISE L. TEMPLE

[Prepared in co-operation with the Los Angeles evening high schools. Questions concerning free evening classes will be answered if stamped addressed envelope is inclosed. Address Louise L. Temple, care of The Times.]

Beginning September 10, the Polytechnic Evening High School, 400 West Washington Boulevard, will offer a free course in oil painting to all persons over 18 years of age. This course will include all phases of art requiring oil as a medium, including discussions of composition and color harmony. Then there will be the study of the application of oil painting to furniture decoration, textiles, tinting of photographs, outdoor sketching, mural decorations, still life and criticisms of the completed easel picture.

Students must furnish all of their own materials, but may buy them wherever they wish. There will be no other expense. This class is usually crowded and those wishing to avail themselves of its advantages will do well to register the first evening.

Poland has no talkies but it is expected that fifty theaters in large cities will be equipped for them as soon as owners can arrange for the change.

NUTTY NOTIONS

BY EUGENE BROWN

Letters of a Prodigal Nephew to His Lordly Uncle

XXXIII

Dear Uncle Sam: Won't you please slip over to the Capitol and ask them Senators what the devil they are going to do about the tariff? If necessary tell them to get a hump on themselves.

Maybe it doesn't make a dog-gone bit of difference to me whether there is a 9 per cent duty on anchors and buggy whips or not, but I hate to be left in suspense. There are a lot of folks who are all steamed up and restless about it.

They say they want to know where they stand—although you can never catch any of them standing. They are always on the go. Maybe they mean that they want to find out where they are going and what it will cost to get there. Anyhow, they are mighty flustered about something and if they think it is the tariff, why, the darn thing ought to be fixed.

You see there were a lot of us horny-handed farmers who thought there wouldn't be much of anything done to the tariff except maybe to lift the duty on grain and prunes and shrink it on diamonds and other farm necessities. This was to be a farm-relief year to the exclusion of Wall street and other classifications. For once the rancher was to catch the eye of the chair.

But the minute the legislators announced that they were working on the tariff the corridors of the Capitol filled up with clamorous hordes of fat and greasy citizens who were certain that the fate and future of American industry depended upon the immediate advance of the duties on shoe buttons, candle wicks and glass eyes.

And we are still in the doldrums.

Nobody knows exactly what has happened, or is going to happen, but everybody thinks it will be something ghastly.

That is why I am telling you to poke up the politicians and have it over with.

Let the people know the worst and when they find out that after all they may be able to pull through they will knuckle down to business and the first thing they know they will have more money than they can count.

It is the uncertainty that bites.

You see we have formed the foolish idea that the tariff is a tax. We are not sure who it is on, but we are always trying to pass it along. One slogan used to be: "Let the foreigner pay the tax" and just now most of Europe thinks we are trying to start another war with a hostile levy. Although the changes are comparatively few and meaningless the half-baked statesmen of Slovakia and other tempestuous lands are using them to advertise the belief that America is giving battle to the rest of the world. They say that we turn our alleged national idealism into gold dollars at the earliest possible moment.

This is foolish, but what are we going to do about it?

There are still a lot of Europeans who think you got up this Kellogg agreement in the effort to sidetrack their League of Nations, which has been plugging along nobly for ten years. They say you have been participating in the World Court; you have been fixing up the program for reparation; you have been calling for world disarmament and the reduction of navies—all altruistic measures, and at the same time you were building more ships, buying bigger guns and planning a tariff war against the wares and industries of the rest of the world.

Sounds idiotic, but that is the way they have been talking about you.

Maybe this is what we call practical idealism, but there are a lot of dumb-bells in other lands who are suspicious of all Samaritans—even if they wear a bell-crowned hat and a goatee. They say you have your finger in every pie and now they add that you insist on cutting the pie yourself and keeping the biggest piece.

Of course I know a darned sight better, but a stranger may have some excuse for thinking in different terms. Those oversea birds think you are too snooty and uppish to play with them on equal terms or on the Big League grounds, but you do not hesitate to tell them what to do and how to do it. You make rules for the game, but do not care to sit in.

Between you and me it is mighty important to have this tariff business settled. When those wops find that the changes we make do not really amount to much and that they are aimed at no nation or industry they will soon become placated and disposed to reason. As it is they have a feeling that you are planning a campaign to dig out what little gold filling they still have left in their back teeth.

You see they, too, have the idea that the tariff is a tax and that you are trying to shove it on the other guy.

That is one reason why I am asking you to tell the Senators to settle this business without spending the months in rambling conversation.

How about it?

Wishing you the same.

Russ Army Improving

Russia now has 900,000 trained soldiers and many more men who can fight but could not cope with a first-rate military power. Thus declares a British military man who commanded the chief Russian unit during the 1919 campaign in Russia. He says that during the last three years the Russian army has improved very considerably toward being an efficient organization.

FIRE PERIL DEMONSTRATED

Cigar and Cigarette Butts Dropped from Planes Continue to Burn, Test Discloses

One brush fire resulted from burning cigar butts and cigarette stubs dropped from an airplane in the first test of such fire hazards on record, made under the supervision of Spence D. Turner, County Fire Warden, at San Fernando Road and Osborne avenue, yesterday. It was immediately extinguished by deputy fire wardens posted for the emergency.

Of thirty lighted cigars and cigarettes dropped by county officials from the plane of the Rio Grande Oil Company, loaned for the demonstration, nine cigarettes and twelve cigars were recovered. Seven cigarettes and nine cigars still were burning, and could have started fires if conditions had been favorable, Fire Warden Turner said.

A stop watch test disclosed that a lighted cigarette burns for about seventeen minutes, as most cigarettes are treated with a chemical to prevent them from going out while being smoked. Cigars do not burn so long, but those dropped from high altitudes were found to be more actively smoldering than those dropped from 1000 feet.

"These tests are convincing proof of the fire peril caused by smoking in airplanes," Fire Warden Turner said. "And they furnish a clew to the origin of several mysterious fires that have burst out in the mountains with no apparent cause."

The fire warden said that most of the big lines equip their passenger planes with ash receivers, and have signs posted warning passengers not to drop burning tobacco overboard.

About 100 men participated in the demonstration.

ORDINANCE CALLED UP

You can follow their adventures beginning tonight on the Columbia network. You are listen in to the things they say and do. You can overhear their breakfast chatter. You can sit in on Joe's office conference. You can follow Vi's shopping trip with Joe and vicevers... And so on, far, far into the night.

But all this entertainment will be packed into a single "Graybar Hour." These radio sketches will make up a continuous history of "Mr. and Mrs.", but each episode will be self-contained, crowded full of delightful surprises and lightened with music.

Tonight, for example: Vi pilots Joe to a painfully formal wedding. Joe goes, under protest. Meanwhile he forgets this is his own wedding anniversary. And later . . . But thereby hangs the tale. Tune in yourself! P. S. Mr. Briggs himself will appear before the microphone tonight. He will say a few words about his well-beloved brain children.

ARTISTS OF KHJ IN STAGE SHOWS

Programs Given Today at Ambassador Theater

All Entertainers of Station Billed to Appear

Children Especially Invited; Admittance Free

BY DR. RALPH L. POWER

The staff artists of KHJ, the Don Lee station, will be very much in evidence at the closing day of the Radio Show this afternoon and evening.

At 1 o'clock this afternoon the Story Man will put on a ninety-minute show in the Ambassador Theater for which there is no admittance charge.

While primarily for the youngsters, I know of nothing to prohibit the attendance of grown folks. The entertainment will be in the form of a marionette show.

All the various characters of Pip, Clickity Clark, Boppo, Happy Duck, Bugler Murphy, and maybe two or three I have left out, will be seen, and heard, in the marionette performance.

This is a whiz of a performance. Take my tip and don't miss it.

THREE STAGES

On stage one, at 3:20 p.m. in the Ambassador Auditorium, where the Radio Show is being held, the KHJ programs will be broadcast through KHJ. In other words, besides the personal appearance at the show, those who are listening will hear the entertainment, too.

The stage-one program will include the Girls Trio, Dot, Claire and Mary, and the Roamers, a male quartet.

Then, on stage three, at 3:40 o'clock the studio orchestra and singers will be directed by Charles Shepherd. At 4 o'clock from stage two you will have a chance to see Charlie Wellman introduce vocal and instrumental talent.

FROLIC HOUR

Twenty minutes later, at 3:20, dash madly over to stage one to hear and see the performance continue, and at 3:40 repeat the performance over on stage three. The three twenty-minute periods will be the Chasin' the Blues Frolic and will present most of the KHJ staff artists.

At 4 o'clock, KHJ, will broadcast a twenty minute program for KELW at stage two; at 4:20, stage one, KHJ will continue its program with Nell Larson, Ralph Peterson, Elvia Allman and Wesley Tourtellotte; at 4:40, Raymond Paige and his KHJ dance band will be featured from the platform of stage three.

Then there will be a breathing spell until 7 p.m. when, stage three, Mr. Shepherd will lead the symphony and singers; at 7:20, stage two, the two boys, Don and Mart; and 7:40, stage one, Eloise Kirkpatrick, Ivan Edwards, Leslie Brigham and Eleanor Rennie, in a twenty minute vocal recital.

FINAL PROGRAM

From 8 to 9 o'clock, two thirty-minute intervals will be given from stage three and two in the order given. It will be a Night Court program with "Ukulele Ike," of film fame, and entertainers from KHJ.

KHJ at 9 o'clock will broadcast twenty minutes for KELW from stage one, and at 9:20, KHJ, will have the singers and symphonists at stage three; the Roamers and Girls Trio at 9:40 on stage two; and the final program from 10 to 10:20 on stage one, with Charlie Wellman and the dance band.

This will wind up the entertainment for the seventh annual Radio Show in Los Angeles. And, by way of emphasis, let me repeat that the Ambassador Theater program from 1 to 2:30 p.m. will not be broadcast. The rest of the entertainment will be on the air.

"JOE AND VI" WILL BROADCAST GOLF ROW

Golf widows are to have their inning when "Joe and Vi," the famous characters created by Clare Briggs, cartoonist, go over the air for the first time in a coast-to-coast network tonight. They will be heard locally for a half hour at 5 p.m. over KHJ.

"Joe and Vi" already are well known to the Southland because the characters appear in the comic section of the Sunday Times. The first episode will picture a scene familiar in the homes of thousands of golf widows. Joe must have his golf despite Vi's social duties planned for him. The action of the sketch centers around the colorful byplay resulting from the situation.

It is hinted, however, that Vi wins out, and thousands of her sister golf widows probably will be interested in the method of procedure.

IMPROVEMENTS VOTED

HEALTH and DIET ADVICE

By Dr. Frank McCoy

Author of "Tell Your Story to Nations"

Dr. McCoy will answer personal questions on health and diet, addressed to him care of the Los Angeles Times. Inclose stamped, addressed envelope for reply.

TRY COOKED CUCUMBERS

The cucumber seems to be a native of South India, but has been cultivated in Assyria and Egypt, even in the most remote historical times.

Many people are of the opinion that cucumbers are an indigestible food. This is because those who have a tendency to belch notice the taste of the cucumbers predominating over the other flavors. Usually cucumbers are eaten with a meal of indigestible combinations, and as they are served with vinegar, onions or starch, they receive the blame for the discomfort produced by the other foods simply because of their persistent flavor. There is no reason for believing that cucumbers are any more indigestible than raw cabbage, carrots or celery, and they are certainly more agreeable to most people than radishes, onions or green peppers.

Cucumbers may be secured throughout the year; although the natural crop occurs during the summer, in winter they must be raised in a hothouse. The summer varieties have a generally more acceptable and juicier texture than the hothouse varieties grown in winter, which, out of season, may sell for as high as 60 cents each.

Cucumbers are especially rich in potassium, iron, magnesium and lime, and for this reason are valuable protective foods to use in the diet. They should be eaten fresh, as they are more valuable than when consumed in the form of pickles. The old-fashioned notion that cucumbers should not be eaten until soaked in salt water is no longer accepted.

In peeling cucumbers it is a good plan to peel them from the blossom end toward the stem end, and in this way one avoids the bitter juice which is found near the surface toward the stem end. The skins are also wholesome, but a little more difficult to digest than the center.

Very few people have tried cooked cucumbers, and yet they are delicious when served in this way. The peeling may or may not be removed before they are put in the pan with a little water, cooked, mashed and served with butter. The Egyptians consider cooked cucumbers a valuable dish. Cucumbers may also be fried, but they are more difficult to digest in this form. They should never be eaten with vinegar, which has a tendency to cause flatulence, especially if eaten with any starchy foods.

A large combination salad made of fresh tomatoes, lettuce and cucumbers is often used by patients desiring to add valuable mineral salts and vitamins to the diet. This combination salad and lamb chops make a satisfactory reducing diet if no other food is used. The bulky cellulose contained in salads of this sort are beneficial to the teeth and in assisting to overcome constipation.

An unusual salad but quite appetizing can be made of chopped spinach, nasturtium leaves and blossoms, and cucumbers. Cucumbers and watercress also make a good combination.

In making a sandwich spread of vegetables for children to take on picnics or outings, grind finely three small carrots and, through a little larger grinder, one cucumber and two stalks of celery.

Try cucumbers in the right combination, and you will be pleased to find that they are quite wholesome and especially refreshing during the warm season.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Tuberculosis

Question: E. S. writes: "We have adopted a child who was born of a consumptive mother. She is 9 years of age. Has tubercular glands in her neck. Do you think there is any way of preventing consumption in this child? Will it help any to have these tubercular glands pierced? She has many of them."

Answer: Young children frequently have glandular enlargements which are not necessarily tubercular. These can be cured by diet even if they are tubercular. Lancing these glands will only make more trouble, as an added burden is thrown on the other lymphatics. Write for a special article on the cause and cure of swollen glands.

Spices

Question: Mrs. R. P. H. writes: "Please advise what you think about spices."

Answer: The main fault I have to find with spices is that they tend to overincrease the appetite which encourages one to eat more than he would otherwise. There is no doubt but what all condiments have some irritating effect upon the mucous membranes of the stomach and intestines, and therefore may be one of the causes in the development of stomach and duodenal ulcers.

Headaches

Question: M. G. R. asks: "What causes headaches on top of the head, and is tea bad for one's nerves? I always notice I am more nervous after drinking tea. Is buttermilk good for one?"

A.: Headaches in the top of the head frequently come from systitis or some form of bladder irritation. I do not consider a moderate amount of tea drinkibng bad for the nerves, but find that nervous people seem to like to drink hot drinks, as they feel more quieted just afterward. Buttermilk is a good food, but must not be considered a "drink." It should be used as a meal, and not in addition to other food.

GUIDING YOUR CHILD

POPULARITY

By Mrs. Agnes Lynn

Everyone wants to be popular. The growing girl or boy who can't get on with his classmates and neighbors is most unhappy. He is missing out in an important part of his life and he is perplexed and miserable.

What are the qualities which make for popularity? First one must have something to contribute. One must either think or do interesting things: One must be so much interested in things outside oneself that one forgets to be conceited or personally overaggressive. One must be fair-minded and independent. One must be a good sport. One must take disappointment and defeat with good grace.

These things are true of adults and they are true of children. You want your child to be happy, and to be so he must achieve a certain degree of popularity with his fellows.

His training in easy social adjustment must begin in the nursery. Help him at the start by encouraging his activities. Give him opportunity to learn to use his body well and to develop skill of hand. Train him to accept small disappointments—never let a whine or a complaint win a privilege which has been previously denied. Don't show him off. Praise not himself, but his achievements.

As he grows older see to it that he has plenty of companionship. When he gets into difficulties with his playmates, don't settle his problems for him, let him work them out for himself. The earlier the awkward corners of his personality are rubbed off, the smoother will be his social course.

Pair Cruising in Auto Held

United they stood, but divided they fell. Mrs. Esther Thomas, 29 years of age, of 348 South Union avenue, and Tom A. Rogers, 30, of 300 South New Hampshire avenue were in an automobile which was stopped by police at Pico street and Union avenue yesterday. The car had been progressing down the street in an erratic fashion, the officers said.

As the officers began to investigate Rogers jumped from the machine and ran, it was reported. The officers started in pursuit. Then Mrs. Thomas got behind the wheel and started to drive off in another direction. Both were apprehended. Rogers was held for intoxication. Mrs. Thomas was booked for driving while intoxicated.

YOUR BABY AND MINE

BY MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

Mrs. Eldred will be glad to answer all questions pertaining to babies and children, stamped and self-addressed envelope, forwarded to this office will bring a personal reply.

This department offers helpful on weaning and feeding the child from 6 weeks to 6 years, prenatal care and diet for the nursing mother, constipation, cereals, outfits for the new baby, sleeping, walking, teething, thumb-sucking, ammoniacal urine, bed wetting, training in cleanly habits, periods of turning, cod liver oil, orange juice, hives, worms, vomiting, refractory children, prune juice, lime water, rupture, stves and boils and cradle cap. Before putting a personal question about one of these subjects, it is better to send a self-addressed stamped envelope for the helpful you need. If your particular problem is not covered in the above list, Mrs. Eldred will be glad to give you a personal reply.

THE WAKEFUL BABY DISTRESSES HIS MOTHER

If one talks to young mothers (or reads their letters) one finds an almost identical complaint throughout their conversation. "Why can't the baby sleep as he used to? He was a wonder in the hospital, but now that we are home, he howls most of the night!"

It happens that most of us go through that experience the first six weeks of baby's life, and if we allow the young rascal to dominate us then we lose all our chances of making a good sleeper of him. Of course, we can't expect, even though he gets a good start at the hospital, that he will fall into perfect habits immediately. Habits have to be continued for a long time before they are fixed and unalterable and babe has many things to upset him when he first comes home from the hospital. Chief of these "things" is the condition of his mother, for she is trying to assume new household duties, and look after "Sonny" and feed him satisfactorily, and if she is a brand new mother, his wails strike terror to her heart. How can she tell when he cries if he is hungry or has a tummy ache or if he is just plain spoiled?

Let's try to answer that. If he is hungry he will eagerly swallow ounces and ounces of water right after a feeding. He will sleep an hour or so and then wake up and fuss until fed again. He will (and this is most important) fail to gain in weight and will stay stationary or else gain just a minimum amount, three or four ounces a week, litet us say.

If he is overfed he will sleep fitfully, too, but he will howl from pain, or cry with discomfort. He may nurse each time the breast is offered just because for the moment the warm milk stops the pain in his stomach. He may vomit copiously, or have a small stool in every diaper, usually a thin, watery one. His gain just at first will be enormous, six to eight or more ounces a week. Some babies gain a pound a week and then their mothers wonder what makes them cry!

If he discovers by any chance that the moment he yells some kind soul comes to cuddle and coo over him, he is very apt to cry each time he wakens, though there is nothing the matter with him. This is one of those habits that is learned overnight and difficult to uproot.

Babies do need attention when they are ill and I would be the last one to deny them this, but be sure they are ill. Watch that weight and have some idea whether it is colic that is causing their ear-splitting wails, or if they are intent on getting some attention. The baby who stops crying when picked up is spoiled.

Avoid beginning the rocking or walking habit. It does baby no good and while some mothers adore doing it, good mothers will deny themselves pleasure if they know it is for the baby's best interests to learn to go to sleep without this sensory stimulation.

If baby is made comfortable and put back in bed after each feeding, and his hours adhered to as closely as possible the first six weeks, he is going to learn the habit of sleeping, even if he has small ailments to upset him. And a better habit he can never learn.

SCHOLAR TRANSLATES TALMUD

Sixteen Years Spent on Work by Rabbi

Storehouse of Culture Available in English

Rabbi Widisky of Boston, now visitor in Los Angeles, at work on his translation of ancient Jewish book of wisdom.

THAT great storehouse of Jewish culture, the Talmud, rich with poetry, history and religious comment and decision, has been translated into English and for the first time will be available to all, according to Rabbi Jerome Widisky, Boston scholar, who is visiting in Los Angeles this week and is the guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. S. Fritkin, 615 San Benito street.

Rabbi Widisky spent sixteen years in the work of translation and, according to him, this is the first time the great book has ever been translated in full.

The Talmud is written in the ancient Aramic. The original and translation are given side by side and form a most beautiful and interesting volume. The work consists of twenty-six large-sized volumes.

Rabbi Widisky will deliver a series of lectures at the various temples in the city during his stay in Los Angeles.

Police Reclaim Stolen Auto in Two Attempts

A stolen automobile recovered once by officers was restolen while the officers visited their substation headquarters to report it recovered, and was recovered a second time only after an exciting chase of two suspected auto thieves, early yesterday morning.

The car was first found at 1930 Compton avenue by Officers Dougherty and Burns. They drove to Newton-street station to report the recovery. Sergt. Adams and Officer Slager left to bring the car in. They found it had vanished. Cruising about the neighborhood they caught sight of it at Twenty-first street and Compton avenue.

When they gave chase two youths in the machine abandoned it "on the fly." The car crashed into another one parked at the curb and came to a stop. The youths fled between dwellings and a few moments later were cornered in a chicken yard by the officers.

The suspects gave the names of Elmer Stovall, 18 years of age, and Thomas Bayman, 19, both of 969 East Tenth street. The stolen automobile belonged to William Moses of 112 Westmoreland avenue, it was stated.

DESCENDANT OF ROYALTY QUITS MATE

Mrs. De Yllesliturri Gets Divorce Decree on Story of Asserted Cruelty

Mrs. Maria Feresa De Yllesliturri, who purports to be a direct descendant of the famous Garcia family of Mexico and to have royal Spanish blood flowing in her veins, went before Superior Judge Gregory yesterday and was granted a divorce from Juventino De Yllesliturri on the grounds of cruelty. She was given a decree of divorce and awarded the custody of two minor children, Manuel, 4 years of age, and Carmen, 4 months.

Represented by Attorney David L. Sefman, Mrs. De Yllesliturri took the witness stand and pictured her husband as cruel and anything but a Spanish gentleman.

"Once he told me he would rather have his children raised by a dog than me," the wife testified through an interpreter.

Mrs. De Yllesliturri also told the court that her husband on one occasion threatened to kill her with a long knife.

The couple, according to the complaint, were married at Acaponeta Nagaret, Mex., August 13, 1924.

Before her marriage Mrs. De Yllesliturri was Senorita Maria Feresa Galills, a member of a prominent Mexican family.

Secret Service Funds Sought

The request of the Police Commission for the appropriation of "sufficient funds" to establish a secret service fund for the commission arrived before the City Council yesterday and was referred to the Finance Committee for consideration.

The idea of the secret service fund was broached by President Thorpe of the commission, who said the board should have funds to look into rumors of graft and corruption, as well as to purchase transcripts of court cases involving members of the police department.

BOOSIER GROUP TO PICNIC

More than 100 former residents of Pulaski county, Ind., are expected to attend the picnic to be given by the Pulaski Association tomorrow at Bixby Park, Long Beach. Jeanette LaFevre is secretary.

Hubby Retired for Keeps Now

Hubert Hall had a certain time to go to bed each evening, and no matter who was calling at the Hall home he carried out his routine to the letter, often to the embarrassment of his wife, Mrs. Ruth Hall, who went before Superior Judge Bishop yesterday seeking a divorce on the grounds of mental cruelty.

Mrs. Hall told the court that if her friends called when Hall's bedtime came he proceeded to pull down the wall bed and retire.

Mrs. Hall also testified that her husband was sulky in disposition and never was satisfied with their home location. One year she was compelled to move four times.

Judge Bishop granted the wife a divorce.

MISSOURIANS WILL PICNIC

Missourians of Worth county will meet in the annual picnic in Bixby Park, Long Beach, tomorrow for an all-day picnic.

JAIL VACATION ORDER ISSUED

First-Street Building Must Now be Cleared

Health Commission Gives City Ninety Days

Temporary Quarters Puzzle Given Police Heads

On motion of Commissioner Kleinberger, seconded by Commissioner Harvey, the Los Angeles Health Commission yesterday unanimously voted approval to an order by Dr. Parrish, city health officer, notifying the City Council, the Police Commission and Chief of Police Davis that the Central Jail and headquarters on First street must be vacated within ninety days in the interest of the health of the occupants and the population of the city. The notice follows:

"Pursuant to the provisions of the charter and ordinances of the City of Los Angeles and statutes of the State of California, you and each of you are hereby notified that the building used and occupied as the central police headquarters and city jail, on the south side of West First street, between Broadway and Hill streets, Los Angeles, Cal., is hereby declared to be dangerous and detrimental to life and unfit for human occupancy by reason of unsanitary, unventilated, overcrowded and vermin-infested conditions.

"You are hereby notified to vacate and abate the use of the said building for the purpose aforestated within ninety days from the date hereof."

The order, signed by Dr. Parrish, was passed following a report of the conference held in the Police Commission's quarters with members of the Health Commission and City Council on Wednesday, when the Police Commission directed that the Chief of Police be given twenty days in which to present a plan for temporary quarters which might be presented for consideration of the City Council pending the completion of some arrangements for permanent quarters in the Civic Center.

MERGER IN BOAT BUILDING PENDS

Wilmington and Yacht Sales Concerns Combine

Move Viewed as First Step to Larger Company

Capital of New Organization Set at $500,000

BY WALDO DRAKE

As the first step of a plan to consolidate all boat-building and repair facilities at the port, merger has been effected between the Wilmington Boat Works and the Yacht and Motor Sales Corporation, pending authorization of the State Corporation Commissioner to incorporate the new $500,000 organization. Plans are also under way to include in the combine practically every boat yard in the port area, together with marine insurance organizations, marine supply concerns, naval architects and allied industries.

The proposed combine, which will practically monopolize the yacht and small boat industry, will probably be headed by Tom Smith, president; and Hugh M. Angleman, vice-president, who hold these respective offices with the Wilmington Boat Works. The Wilmington Boat Works, incorporated for $250,000, is the most fully equipped and largest boat-building plant on the Pacific Coast, while the Yacht and Motor Sales Corporation, also a $250,000 concern, is the largest yacht sales and brokerage company on the Coast. It is headed by P. H. L. Wilson, Ralph Proctor and Harry Wilson. Lee A. Phillips, president of the Pacific Finance Corporation, is understood to be financial backer in the merger, while the above-mentioned executives are all men of wide experience in the yacht industry.

Representatives of several other boat yards, supply concerns, architects and insurance firms admitted yesterday that they have already been approached relative to their firms' inclusion in the combine. There are more than 700 yachts and 1400 fishing craft operating out of Los Angeles Harbor, from all of which the boat industry derives constant revenue, together with a large number of new yachts and fishermen now building or projected. The two fleets have an estimated value of $16,000,000.

COTTON WAREHOUSE NEARING COMPLETION

The port's new cotton warehouse, which the Los Angeles Compress and Warehouse Company has been constructing this summer at the Outer Harbor, will be ready for operation October 15, next, it was announced yesterday by I. E. Blohm, general manager. The new plant which, with its two compresses, represents an outlay of $750,000, will have a storage capacity of 50,000 bales in its two steel-concrete, fireproof units. New general offices have also been constructed atop the waterfront unit, in which the company staff will be located within the fortnight.

This year's cotton crop, of which Mr. Blohm estimates the local plant will compress and export a minimum of 200,000 bales, will start arriving at the port in early October. Last season's output at the local compress was 169,000 bales, the season record to date.

The Barber Line's promise of twenty-day refrigerated cargo service between Los Angeles and Manila has been made good by the line's new Norwegian liner Tai Ping, which arrived at the Philippine port at midnight of the 24th inst., she having departed Los Angeles Harbor at midnight, August 17.

Perry S. Newcomb, district agent for Dodwell & Co., Ltd., Coast agent for the Barber Line, was yesterday in receipt of a cablegram to that effect, the dispatch also advising that the 500 tons of California grapes which were shipped from this port in refrigeration aboard the Tai Ping had arrived in excellent condition.

The Tai Ping's time from New York was thirty-five days. The Tai Yang, a sister ship and fourth unit of the new fleet, will arrive here to load out for the Orient next October 15.

General offices of the Los Angeles Steamship Company at Berth 155, Wilmington, have been rebuilt and enlarged, they being opened for occupancy yesterday upon the return from Hawaii of Ralph J. Chandler, general manager of Lasco.

Ralph J. Chandler, vice president and general manager of the Los Angeles Steamship Company, returned on the Admiral line flagship H. F. Alexander yesterday from San Francisco, to which city he had returned on a Matson liner after a periodic inspection of Hawaiian terminals. The H. F. Alexander disembarked 500 travelers, including F. J. McGowan, traffic manager for the Outer Harbor Dock & Wharf Company, and Miss E. Nicholson, daughter of Port Engineer Nicholson, who visited her former home in Seattle. The liner embarked 350 travelers for her return north last night.

Maj. Richey L. Waugh, surgeon with the United States Public Health Service at the Marine hospital, San Francisco, arrived at San Pedro yesterday to have charge of the offices at the port during the absence of Maj. H. A. Spencer. The latter is expected to remain two weeks longer in Arizona, where he was called by an epidemic. Maj. Waugh was last here in 1917, when he was on the naval tender, Unalga, attached to the submarine base. The Unalga now is in the Coast Guard service.

One hundred-forty passengers were booked for the voyage on the Lasco flagship City of Los Angeles, departing at noon today for Honolulu and other Hawaiian ports. The liner also will take out citrus fruits, new automobiles, petroleum products, potash and building materials. Among the travelers will be S. G. McClure, president of the Southern California Newspapers, Associated, and Mrs. McClure of Glendale; Helen T. Follett, writer of New Haven, Ct.; Royal Chapman, university professor of St. Paul; M. McMillan of McMillan Petroleum Company; John Browne, chairman of the advertising committee of the All-Year Club. The Lasco combination freight-and-passenger carrier Diamond Head is due from Hawaii early next week with sixteen passengers and a cargo of island honey, sugar, canned pineapples, general merchandise and 3500 tons of molasses.

The O. S. K. motor liner Santos Maru disembarked nine passengers yesterday, bound westward around the world, and will embark 139 and take on 2000 tons of freight before sailing for the Orient today. Capt. Toshikuzu Nishimura, formerly on the Montevideo Maru, is in command, succeeding Capt. T. Kamiashi, who will bring out the new Buenos Aires Maru from Japan in October and due here in March. Another new sistership, the Rio de Janiero Maru, will follow.

The Dollar trans-Pacific liner President Lincoln will arrive at noon today, and sail at noon tomorrow, a day ahead of schedule, so that she may undergo annual inspection at San Francisco. She will disembark thirty passengers and drop 2000 tons of cargo including cocoanut oil and iced fish from Japan.

Loyola Grid Prospects Promising as Athletes Work Out Daily Under New Mento

DRIVER SPEEDS THROUGH TOIL

Plenty of Material Goes About Early Work

Coach Expects More Men When School Opens

Lions Face Stellar Foes in Long Schedule

With two days of preliminary work already in their system the Loyola gridders are well on their '29 season. At present there are only 35 men in suits, but Coach Driver, the Lions' new mentor, expects the roster to climb to fifty when school opens. Of the thirty-five already out sixteen are newcomers.

Facing a tough schedule along with the loss of seven regulars, Driver is speeding things up. With Joyce at center, Kwasigroch and Brown at guards, Capt. Donahue and T. Sargent at tackles, Mollenhen and W. Sargent, who is slated to fill the vacancy left by Eckenroth, at ends, the line virtually is intact. In the backfield Hoffman, quarter, is the only returning regular, but with Brubaker, Sullivan, Phegan and Bradley, halves; Reid and Mena, full; Bergman, quarter, all letter men, things should shape up nicely.

Seven more line men of last year are: Casey, Haynes, Mendiola, Lauerman, Burke, Oaks, Wells, Vegelsang, Del Valle, Sansone.

The influx of new material at the Del Rey institution has been very good. Those already registered are: Ayers, Hanford High, half; Christof, Huntington Park, tackle; Corkill, Loyola prepe, tackle; Shea, Loyola prepe, guard; Hartung, Rockhurst High, Kansas City, guard; Kieffel, Poly, tackle; Krystelak, San Pedro, guard; McEachen, Pasadena, guard; Mangas, Compton, tackle; Moore, Huntington Park, quarter; O'Melveny, Loyola prepe, quarter; Shapiro, Lewis Institute, Chicago, guard; Strutzel, Poly, half; Young, Poly, quarter; Valentine, Fullerton, full.

The Lions' '29 schedule is as follows:

September 21—Bakersfield Maryland at Loyola.
September 28—Fresno State at Fresno.
October 5—Open.
October 12—L. A. Pioneers at Wrigley Field.
October 19—San Diego Naval Training Station at Loyola.
October 26—California Aggies (night game) at Loyola.
November 2—College of Pacific at Stockton.
November 9—Open.
November 16—St. Ignatius (tentative) at San Francisco.
November 23—Santa Clara at Wrigley Field.
November 30—Temple State at Phoenix, Ariz.

corner, but Mandell continued to knock him back into it and he was there at the bell.

HUGE CROWD ATTENDS

Clyde Chastain, Dallas (Tex.) welterweight, was held to a draw by the rugged Jackie Brady of Syracuse, N. Y., in the opening ten-round bout. Chastain weighed 148½; Brady 149½.

The sharpshooting My Sullivan of St. Paul, leading middle-western welterweight, rounded out a victory over the rough Alf Ritz, Spanish welterweight in another ten-rounder. Sullivan weighed 151 pounds and Ritz 150½.

Stanislaus Loayza, Chilean lightweight, and Joey Medill of Chicago, fought a sizzling draw. They stood toe to toe and slugged for ten rounds with Medill coming from behind in the tenth to even the count. They weighed 128 pounds.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 6. (AP)—Portland recuperated today from the beating administered its team yesterday by the San Francisco Seals, and turned the tables for a win of 8 to 2. Tomlin helped the winners with a home run. The "Great Mails" permitted the visitors fifteen hits, and was held responsible for six of the eight runs made by the Ducks. Score:

SULLIVAN STOPS FOE IN SEVENTH ROUND

Charles Sullivan, of Bakersfield, topped Trip Limbaco, of Manila, in the seventh round of a scheduled ten-round main event at Venturs last night when the referee disallowed the latter's claim of a foul.

Marty Fields of Chicago won a decision in six rounds over Wendell Long of Bakersfield. Len Porter of Los Angeles defeated Dado Eades of Pasadena in the six-round special.

California Pass Nets Long Gain

BY SOL METZGER

When Georgia Tech and California met in their memorable battle at Pasadena last New Year's, a game which gave Tech the national gridiron title, this forward pass of the Golden Bears all but upset the result. It gave the Tech trouble all afternoon and probably turned a few auburn hairs grey in the locks of Coach Bill Alexander.

"Nibs" Price, California coach, is a wise football mentor. He changes his passes for each game, altering a detail here and there to make them best fit the next occasion. This one was so created for the edification of Tech.

When the ball was snapped to back No. 4, back No. 1 and the California left end boxed the Tech right tackle. They did a great job of it, too. That permitted right guard No. 6 and back No. 3, to rush off tackle into the defensive backfield. Back No. 2. He worked a hit to the rear as he ran to the left. But instead of taking the Tech right end he turned down field and let that individual go romping through unmolested in his quest for back No. 4. Just another play where the defensive end was left untouched.

Naturally this end went pell mell at No. 4, who gave ground rapidly and threatened a long forward pass downfield. Instead, he tossed a lob pass, right over the Tech end's head, into the arms of No. 8. No. 8 took it at full speed behind his interferers for a long gain.

CAVALRY POLOISTS PERFORM

Monterey Quartet Ready to Battle Uplifters in Contest Tomorrow

Determined to take the gunmint low goal leadership in Northern California, four army horsemen representing the Eleventh Cavalry post at the Presidio of Monterey, wind-up a week of practice today in preparation for the second and deciding game of a series with the Uplifters' Club. The Army riders, led by Capt. D. S. Wood, captured a 9-to-6 victory over the Uplifters last Sunday afternoon and they rule heavy favorites to repeat that triumph tomorrow. Uplifters, however, have other plans which some how or other do not check up with those the soldiers have in mind.

Will Rogers and young Scott Hackley have been rushed into the line-up in No. 1 and No. 3 position for the Uplifters. Both of these players are fine up front players and they are both splendidly mounted. Last Sunday the soldiers ran away with the game in the opening four chukkers. Uplifters declare this will not happen this week-end. Hal S. Roach and Snowy Baker will ride at No. 2 and 4, respectively for the local club.

Roach and Baker should be able to take care of the Army attack around the Uplifters' goal posts. Baker is an exceptionally fine man on defense, being a splendid horseman and a fine competitive athlete. Roach has been playing a great game this year and if he is right tomorrow should be one of the outstanding players in the tilt.

Capt. Wood, Lieut. Hines, Lieut. Thornburgh and Capt. Falck will again carry the Army colors into battle. This combination was just a little too much for the Uplifters last Sunday. Whether they can maintain the pace is something to be seen, the critics say.

The play starts at 2:30.

Tennis Event Finals on Tap

Final rounds in the annual Santa Monica municipal tennis championships will be held tomorrow at Seventh and Wilshire streets. Leonard Dworkins and Gladys Pata, recent Alhambra winners, are the men's and women's singles favorites.

Two semifinal men's singles feature the morning schedule tomorrow in which Dworkin faces Jack Wright and Frank Westsmith, seeded second, meets Orville Scholtz. Dorothy Workman of El Monte encounters the winner of the Gladys Pata-Alice Park semifinal at 11 o'clock.

Tomorrow's complete schedule:

10—Westsmith vs. Scholtz; Dworkin vs. Wright.
11—Dot Workman vs. winner Park-Pata.
1—Westsmith-Dworkin vs. Hunniston-Neville.
2—Rose Montagne vs. Virginia Beckman.
3—Winner Westsmith-Scholtz vs. Wright-Dworkin.
4—Wellington Rogers vs. Orville Scholtz.
5—Dworkin and Park vs. Williams-Workman.

"BUZZ" ARLETT STEADY

"Buzz" Arlett is one of three Coast League players who have been in the line-up every game this season. He has played in all of Oakland's 167 games. He has been to bat 604 times and has made 231 safe hits, including 121 singles, fifty-nine doubles, six triples and thirty-five home runs, a total of 407 bases. Arlett has made thirty-one less safe hits than Smead Jolley, but in total bases stands the Seal outfielder by eleven bases. Arlett has made twelve more home runs than Jolley, which accounts for his greater number of total bases.

Bobby Jones in Exhibition

PEBBLE BEACH, Sept. 6. (AP)—Bobby Jones will be the central figure in a foursome of golf notables who will play an exhibition match in San Francisco next Tuesday at a benefit for the shriners' Crippled Children's Hospital. W. H. Woodford, Jr., chairman of the golf committee of Islam Temple, announced here today the match would be played on the San Francisco Golf Club's course. Rodger Lapham, vice-president of the United States Golf Association, will be the referee.

ENGLISH PLAYERS ON WAY

Wightman Cup Stars Head West for Performance in Local Tournament

The English Wightman Cup tennis squad will be the first of the international net stars to arrive in Los Angeles for the third annual Pacific Southwest tennis championships slated for the 30th to 30th inst. at the Los Angeles club.

This was confirmed yesterday by Clifton Herd, L.A.T.C. official in charge of the visiting players, who stated that Miss Betty Nuthall, Mrs. Phoebe Watson, Mrs. E. C. Covell and Mrs. D. C. Sheppard Barron, who comprise the British team, will alight from the Daylight Limited on route from San Francisco on Monday at 7:45 o'clock the 16th inst.

This will allow the visiting women three days in which to accustom themselves to the hard cement courts of the Southland and the Los Angeles club in particular. On the 20th inst., the English troupe encounters a picked California squad of which Helen Jacobs, Edith Cross, May Sutton Bundy, Mrs. L. A. Harper and Midge Gladman are likely choices.

William Tilden, Frank Hunter, Wilmer Allison and John Van Ryn, the American Cup team; John Doeg, George Lott, Wilbur Coen, Gregory Mangin, Berkeley Bell and other Yankee aces will not arrive here until approximately the 25th inst., as will also H. W. (Bunny) Austin and James Olliff, England; Tamio Abe, Japan, and Norman Farquharson, South Africa, all of whom are participating in the national men's singles at Forest Hills, which closes on the 13th.

On top of this national or international entry must be added several coast stars in the persons of Gerald Stratford, Phil Neer, James Davies, Keith Gledhill, Ben Gorchakoff, Alan Herrington, Jack De Lara, Sidney Wood and Lester Stoefen.

Johnston to Boss Dundee

NEW YORK, Sept. 6. (AP)—Joe Dundee, former welterweight champion, announced today that he would return to the ring wars within a few weeks under new management.

The Baltimore Italian will do his fighting for the next two years under the direction of James J. Johnston. Dundee said he blamed the loss of his title on poor management. He hopes to fight his way back to the crown after a months' rest in Hot Springs, Ark.

Dundee lost the welterweight crown a few weeks ago to Jackie Fields of Los Angeles in Detroit.

LANSING (Mich.) Sept. 6. (AP)—An echo of the Jackie Fields-Joe Dundee welterweight championship boxing fiasco here last July came today with announcement by the State Boxing Commission that it expected Promoter Floyd Fitzsimmons to pay the $1000 fine assessed against Fields. Fields was awarded the decision on a foul but the commission held he had not complied with the commission's requirements to protect himself against injury.

Fitzsimmons was advised that if the fine is not paid within 48 hours his license would be revoked.

Jane Thoms in Swim Triumph

TORONTO (Ont.) Sept. 6. (AP)—Miss Jane Thoms of Terre Haute, Ind., today won a three-mile swimming race in Lake Toronto. She beat Olive Gatterdam of Toronto by twenty yards in the final sprint after Miss Gatterdam had led all the way to the last half-mile.

Miss Anna Beloit of Holyoke, Mass., finished third. Miss Thoms won first prize money of $300 and Miss Gatterdam $200. The winner's time was 1h. 37m.

Marvin Nelson of Fort Dodge, Iowa, won the three-mile men's open swimming race by 300 yards from Maurice Hume of Seattle, Wash. Nelson covered the distance in 1h. 19m. 36 2-5s. He led throughout.

WOLVERINES VICTORS OVER JAPANESE NINE

TOKIO, Sept. 6. (AP)—Michigan took advantage of a Waseda error in the fifth inning to score three runs, which enabled the Wolverines to defeat the Japanese university baseball team, 4 to 2, here today. The Waseda wild throw in the fifth was mixed with two Michigan singles. Waseda outhit Michigan by seven to five, but was unable to bunch its blows.

HESS AND MACK SIGNED FOR GO

Olympic Cinches Match for Night of 17th

Wildcat Carter Likely to Get Bout With Winner

Dado Favored to Take Nod Over Ernie Peters

BY KAY OWE

Eddie Mack and Goldie Hess were signed yesterday to box ten rounds at the Olympic the 17th inst. The bout will mark one of the best naturals made by Matchmaker Wad Wadhams in a long time.

Mack is in Denver and was ready to start for Chicago to enter Loyola University to study law. But the Olympic offer was too good to be turned down.

The Colorado boy was originally signed to box Hess before the Boxing Commission ruled that the heath boxer had to first box Wildcat Carter.

Hess, after losing nine rounds to Carter last Tuesday night, came back in the tenth and had Carter virtually helpless when Referee Benny Whitman stopped the fight and awarded the bout to Hess on a technical knockout.

Ari Hoffking yesterday announced he had bought Carter's contract for $10,000. William Neal, colored, former manager of the boy, will act as the Wildcat's trainer in the future. Carter has returned to Seattle and will take a short rest before starting again. The Olympic hopes to be able to show Carter in a return match with Billy Townsend, the boy who stopped out the negro in two rounds at Seattle just before the Hess match here. The bout is scheduled for October 1.

Wadhams has another bout in the making for October which will feature Frankie Campbell and Leo Lomski. Campbell, in two bouts at the Olympic, has scored knockouts over Clyde Colvin and Harry Beum. Lomski has not boxed here for over a year.

The Olympic is showing the flyweight semifinals between Speedy Dado and Ernie Peters next Tuesday night. They tonight a draw about four months ago.

Dado is the flyweight champion of the Pacific Coast and has lost but one bout in his entire career. Newsboy Brown was credited with a technical knockout over the flashy Filipino a year ago, when Dado's shoulder was hurt. Brown is no longer a 112-pounder.

Dado and Peters will finish training tomorrow for the bout. Peters may not be able to make 112-pounds since he has become heavier than when he boxed in Los Angeles before.

Wadhams has practically signed Frankie Genaro, who lost his title to Fidel La Barba at Ascot Park, to box Tuesday night's winner.

Genaro still remains about the best flyweight in the country and he has never become any bigger.

Buffalo Boys Annex Legion Diamond Title

LOUISVILLE (Ky.) Sept. 6. (AP)—Three cyclonic innings, in which the Buffalo boys pounded in eleven runs, today gave the team from New York State an 11-to-6 victory over the New Orleans White Sox in the third and deciding game of the American Legion's junior series.

The game was the finale of a nation-wide series of State, district and regional battles in which it was estimated 250,000 youngsters, all under the age of 17 years participated. As a result of their victory, the Buffalo boys will receive a free trip to the World Series games.

The series started here Wednesday. Buffalo won the opening game, 6 to 4. New Orleans won the second tilt, 16 to 9.

MIDGE GLADMAN IN EXHIBITION DEFEAT

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 6. (AP)—Mrs. Phoebe Watson, England, defeated Miss Marjorie Gladman, Santa Monica, Cal., 6-2, 6-4, in the first of several exhibition tennis matches being played here today by members of the English Wightman Cup team and a group of American stars.

The British players made a clean sweep of the first day's matches when Mrs. B. G. Covell teamed with Mrs. Dorothy Shepherd-Barron to defeat Miss Edith Cross of California and Miss Ruth Bailey of St. Louis, 6-0, 6-2.

DONIE BUSH AND HOWLEY IN HUDDLE

CHICAGO, Sept. 6. (AP)—Donie Bush, deposed manager of the Pittsburgh Pirates, and Dan Howley, pilot of the St. Louis Browns, went into a huddle here yesterday, but declined to tell what they talked about.

All Howley, a close friend of Bush's, cared to say was that his friend was tired and needed a rest.

Neither would discuss reports they were planning to purchase the Indianapolis club baseball franchise in the American Association.

STAKE RACES ON TAP

NEW YORK, Sept. 6. (AP)—Like a lull before the storm, thoroughbred racing on the American turf was quiet today preparing for the running of two of the sport's biggest stakes—the $25,000 Lincoln handicap at Lincoln Fields, and the Lawrence Realization at Belmont Park tomorrow.

CLUB DIRECTORS INSIST PLAY MUST BE CANCELED

SANTA BARBARA, Sept. 6.—Officials of La Cumbre Country Club are standing firm on their decision to cancel the National Professional Golfers' Association tournament, unless proof of sufficient funds is forthcoming soon, according to announcement made today by H. P. Drake, president of the club. According to Associated Press dispatches, Ben Kerr, who invited the association here on behalf of the club, is quoted as saying that officials of the local club are without authority to cancel the meet. Commenting on this Drake said yesterday:

"To say that the club directors have no power to cancel the tournament is childish. The club directors never made any agreement with the P.G.A., never had one line of correspondence with the association. All that was done by Kerr and it was not authorized. Although the reason given for the cancellation of the tourney was that the funds are insufficient, Kerr declared he had secured guarantees that virtually assured the success of the meeting."

WARNER AT STANFORD

Veteran Cardinal Coach Starts Looking for Men to Fill Places of Post and Robesky

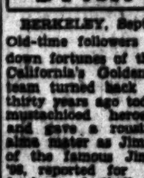
STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Sept. 6.—Glenn (Pop) Warner returned to Stanford today, ready and anxious to get back to his job of coaching Stanford's football team.

During the past few months Warner has perambulated over a lot of country, stopping now and then to fish and conduct coaching schools. One of his stopovers was at Pullman, Wash., where more than 100 men attended his football class, and another was at Dallas, Tex., where he and Knute Rockne conducted a two weeks' course attended by more than 300. Warner was accompanied on his tour by Chuck Winterburn, Stanford backfield coach, who also returned here today.



"POP" WARNER

"Pop" lost no time in sizing up the football prospects for the season. He let it be known that he feels more too good about the loss of six veterans of last year's team, and the chance that Walt Hinchman may not be able to play this fall does not add to "Pop's" peace of mind.

Warner said his biggest problems will be to find men to replace his two star guards—Post and Robesky—and to fill the gaps left by the graduation of Tiny Hallman and Bob Sims. Wilton and Hoffman also are lost to the Cards, but Warner counts on Prentrup and Simkins to fill in for these stars.

The Cards start practice the 14th inst., but Warner has not yet decided whether he will put his men through one or two daily workouts prior to the opening of the fall semester, October 1. He knows, however, that his charges will need plenty of work to prepare themselves for their contest with the West Coast Army team, which comes the 21st inst., just one week after the start of practice.

HERNANDEZ AND ISOZ TO TANGLE TONIGHT

Lee Hernandez, welterweight pride of the Mexican colony, and Al Isoz, young Rockford Swede, clash in tonight's main event at the Main Street Athletic Club. Johnny Gabuco, Filipino flyweight, and Joe Maldonado meet in the semi-windup. Four other bouts complete the card.

STRONG BEAR TEAM WILL TRY FOR STATE LAURELS

BERKELEY, Sept. 6. (Exclusive) The University of California has entered its formidable stars of the tennis court in the battle for the State championships to be waged over the Berkeley Tennis Club courts beginning Sunday morning. Leading the California delegation are Bobby Sellers, Pacific Coast singles champion, Bobby Muench and Dolf Muelhelsen. None of this trio was eligible for varsity competition at California last season. But all will be on deck for action this season.

Sellers is at present ranked as the best of the trio, but Muelhelsen has been flashing a brand of unbeatable tennis lately. Muench, the baby comes from San Diego with Muelhelsen, also is a player of undisputed talent. These three will be joined in the opening day's play by Ted Ladlow, Harry Ryde, Bill Olney, Warren Sisson and Allen Blade, a recent transfer from San Diego State College.

Sellers is to meet Bowie Dietrick in the opening round, whereas Muelhelsen has drawn a tough foe in the person of Mervyn Griffin, a veteran of the courts. In the doubles, Muelhelsen and Muench have been matched against Ray Casey and Larry Driscoll, stars from out of the Northwest. Sellers is pairing with Neil Brown for the doubles play.

With such stars as Ellsworth Vines, Keith Gledhill, Gerald Stratford, Cranston Holman, Harry Hyman, Neil Brown and Sherman Lockwood blocking their way, the California entries will have a tough time winning their way to the championship. The matches will continue until the 16th inst. Play has been scheduled in the men's singles and doubles, women's singles and doubles and junior singles and doubles.

SON OF FAMOUS BEAR GRID STAR SIGNS AT BERKELEY

BERKELEY, Sept. 6. (Exclusive) Old-time followers of the up and down fortunes of the University of California's Golden Bear football team turned back the clock some thirty years ago today, retailed the mustachioed heroes of yesterday, and gave a rousing cheer for alma mater as Jimmy Hopper, son of the famous Jimmy Hopper of '98, reported for duty with the freshman football team.

The Jimmy of '98 was some little football baby. He was quarterback of the great eleven which won all its games except for a 2-to-0 loss suffered at the hands of the Haskell Indians. Hopper figured prominently in the victories piled up that season. He was one of the illustrious personages always closely identified with such well-known names as those of Lemmon, Smith, Pete (Kangaroo) Kearney, Capt. Percy Hall, Wanzer and Erlanger.

Now James M. Hopper is a successful fiction writer with a writing desk at Carmel, where he looks out upon the quiet blue waters of the Pacific and the rugged contour of the beach for inspiration.

TEMPLE ISRAEL RITE CONDUCTED

Large Gathering Present at Dedication Service

President of Congregation Heads Ceremonies

Rabbi and Others Speak at Hollywood Church

Dedication services for Temple Israel, at 1723 Ivar street, last night packed the edifice which formerly was the Hollywood Methodist Church. The services centered in the consecration of a box to be placed in the cornerstone, memorializing the founding of the newest Jewish temple in Hollywood. Many prominent figures in the motion-picture industry were present as members of the congregation.

Sol M. Wurtzel, president of the congregation, officiated at the ceremonies, reading the prayer which was placed in the cornerstone box, together with papers pertaining to the organization of the congregation. He called the occasion a joyous one, marking the occupancy of their own edifice only three years after formation of the congregation was started.

Isidore Bernstein, historian, outlined the history of the congregation. J. E. Chadwick, chairman of the board of directors, said that it is the congregation's duty to make the Temple Israel a real community center for Hollywood. Rabbi Isidore Isaacson likened his coming to the congregation as embarking on an adventure.

Music was sung by a quartet consisting of Ida Goldberg, Genevieve Schrader, Harry Bookman and Thomas Pearson, with B. Ernest Ballard at the organ. A reception followed.

Coroner's Jury Lays Woman's Murder to Man

A Coroner's jury yesterday flatly accused Herbert Selph, 45 years of age, of the murder of Mrs. Georgia Greggens of 11748 Holmes avenue, Springdale, who was shot to death in front of her home last Tuesday. The jury returned its verdict after hearing the testimony of Andrew H. Perkins, the woman's brother, and others who testified that Selph chased Mrs. Greggens from her home and fired seven shots into her body.

Officers who investigated the case will ask a complaint from the District Attorney today charging Selph with murder, according to Capt. William J. Bright, chief of Sheriff's homicide investigation detail.

Maj. O. S. Blue Funeral Rites Will Be Today

Funeral services for the late Maj. Oscar S. Blue, who died last Monday at his home, 1418 South Oxford avenue, from an attack of heart disease, will be conducted today at 3 p.m. at the Delmar A. Smith mortuary, 731 West Washington street. Burial will be in the Soldiers' Home Cemetery at Sawtelle.

Maj. Blue was chief of the remount service in France during the World War and served in the United States Army for thirty-four years. He was 56 years of age. He first came to Los Angeles in 1892 with the Canadian Boundary Commission, of which he was a member.

Charges Filed Against Driver

Charges of failure to stop and render aid and driving while intoxicated were filed yesterday against John J. Masterson, a printer of 1297 Corinth avenue, who was arrested Thursday evening by Dist.-Atty. Fitts after an automobile accident at Laurel Canyon Road and Sunset Boulevard.

Fitts, a witness to the accident, pursued and overtook Masterson, after the latter fled the scene of the crash. Masterson, unaware of the identity of his pursuer, threatened to "bust" Fitts on the nose, whereupon he was taken in custody.

AWARD MADE IN CRASH DEATH

Death-Car Driver Shown by Testimony Wearer of Glass Eye

Persons with glass eyes may find it expensive to drive automobiles, if the damage suit against J. E. Baumbaugh of Glendale is any criterion.

Mrs. Maude Scott, widow, and her five children were awarded $55,000 damages against Baumbaugh for the death of her husband, Robert H. Scott, struck by defendant's automobile. Testimony showed that Baumbaugh has a glass eye and couldn't see on the left side. Mrs. Scott sued for $100,000.

Actor Must Pay or Roost in Jail

Unless Clarence F. Burton, motion-picture actor, pays his wife $75 a month from now on, he will have to go to jail, Superior Judge Warne announced when he suspended Burton's sentence yesterday.

Mrs. Gladys Burton, the wife, went into court and told Commissioner Doyle that her husband owed her $400. Several months ago Burton was ordered to pay $600, but on being cross-examined by Attorney Sol ReaHart, he admitted he had paid only $200, although he said he had earned $1100 since the alimony agreement was made.

Song Author in Copyright Suit

Asserting that the song, "Ramona," was sung for the pleasure of diners, who paid for their meals, at the Plantation Cafe, San Diego, Gene Buck, president of the Society of American Composers, yesterday filed suit in the United States District Court against the owners of the cafe.

The plaintiff seeks a minimum damage of $250.

WIFE GIVEN DIVORCE AND ALIMONY AWARD

Samuel Allen Vaneman, wrestler and carnival promoter, must pay his wife $100 a month alimony, and $100 a month for the support of her children, as a result of a divorce hearing in Superior Judge Gates's court yesterday. The plaintiff was granted a decree on grounds of nonsupport and cruelty. Mrs. Vaneman said her husband told her he couldn't take her to a carnival at Stockton, because there wasn't any room, but that she later learned he took two show girls with him. William F. Cooper, a witness, said members of the party were "lit up like a church" when they reached Stockton. While the defendant was spending his money on girls in the north, his wife said that her phone bills were unpaid, and service was discontinued, and the milk man and grocer were worrying her with bills.

PROGRAM ANNOUNCED FOR BREAKFAST CLUB

Ed W. Rowland, theatrical producer, is sponsoring the program that the Los Angeles Breakfast Club will present Wednesday morning on Riverside Drive.

Rowland, head of the United Amusement Enterprises, announces the following artists will appear: Belle Forbes Cutter, grand opera star; Elaine Harwood, banjo virtuoso; Mildred Costello, dancuse; Harold Hodges, baritone of radio fame; Tania Akouning, violin concert artists; Hynes Twins, singers and musicians, and La Jetta, oriental dancer.

HEARING OF ROBERTS IN BANK CASE PUT OFF

Hearing before United States Commissioner Hanson of Richard Roberts, formerly cashier of the South Pasadena branch of the Pasadena National Bank, was continued until October 1. Roberts is accused of embezzlement of $4300 of bank funds. The asserted shortage was discovered by national bank examiners. Roberts is at liberty on bail of $5000.

LAW REIGNS ONCE MORE BESIDE SAD SEA SHORE

"Times" Staff Correspondent

SANTA MONICA, Sept. 6.—A marked decrease in complaints of bathers who strip while taking sun baths on the beach was attributed by Police Chief Webb today to the constant watchfulness of officers patrolling this city's ocean front.

"Throughout the summer," he declared, "we arrested any bathers found with the "uppers" of their costumes removed from the shoulders and the reports of these raids, published in the newspapers, have warned swimmers to obey the city regulations."

Not a single arrest for infraction of the bathing-suit ordinance has been made since eight bathers were arrested early last month in a raid on the beach at the foot of Montana avenue, the Chief declared. During Labor Day and the last week-end, when all records for beach crowds were broken, hundreds of thousands of bathers enjoyed the surf and sand without violating the law. Residents along the Palisades Beach road earlier in the season kept police telephones busy with their demands for strict enforcement of the bathing ordinance. Women who stripped down to the waist were condemned in no uncertain terms.

"I guess everybody got all the tan he or she desired," the Chief said.

"We would not have to be so strict in enforcing the bathing laws were it not for a certain element in the crowd which goes far beyond all limits of decency unless definite rules are maintained.

"There have been cases in which both men and women have exposed themselves almost nude on the beach. They are of the caste element, fortunately small, which goes to impossible extremes of human conduct everywhere. A strict ruling is necessary to control this element where beach crowds congregate."

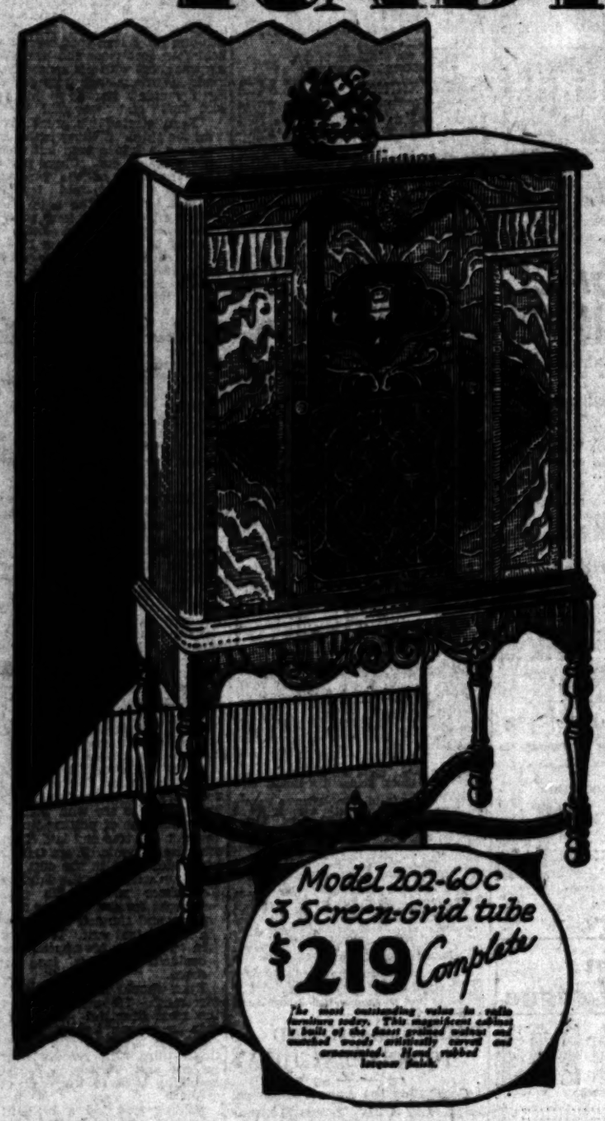
the NEW MODEL 60 3 Screen-Grid Tube

ATWATER KENT RADIO has wiped out all competition!



BY every test and comparison . . . with every type of radio . . . under all kinds of conditions and circumstances . . . the new Atwater Kent Screen-Grid has proved its right to world supremacy by a wide margin.

No other radio can equal it in any way! In power—each of its Screen-Grid tubes equals more than four of the old style!

Whistling, squealing, scratching and fuzzy reproduction are absent, because there is no feed-back in Screen-Grid tubes as in the old style. For the same reason sensitivity is tremendously increased.

Its needle-point uniform selectivity—every place on the dial (high or low) is due partly to the stability and uniformity of the tubes as well as the low-resistance grid circuit coils.

In distance, in volume, in tone—because of the nature of Screen-Grid tubes combined with other new principles, interference is negligible—signals are magnified many times more and come in without distortion—while the tone is clarified through a filtering process.

The complete shielding of the tubes, inside and out, combined with the excellent Screen-Grid circuit, eliminates all hum—while the smooth, positive, noiseless amplifying control makes this the most silent operating set known.

It is a radio as incomparable in beauty and construction as it is in performance—while its value has always been the goal others attempt to reach.
